Rampaging Soldiers Kill 44 Civilians In Congo

Fighting Breaks Out After Attack By Mob

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — Rampaging Congolese soldiers killed 44 civilians in bitter street fighting at Luluabourg, the United Nations reported today.

The troops ran wild through the town after three of their comrades had been killed and three wounded by a pro-Lumumbist mob.

The violence boiled over in the aftermath of last week's takeover of the capital of Kasai Province by Lumumbist troops from Stanleyville. These troops pulled out two days ago and left the town in a ferment.

Luluabourg, 400 miles east of Leopoldville, was the scene of tribal clashes in the days just after the Congo gained independence from Belgium last summer.

SEEK PROTECTION

The United Nations reported that after the battle yesterday some 1,000 civilians sought U.N. protection.

Luluabourg, though officially within the orbit of the Leopoldville regime, is heavily populated by ardent tribal followers of the late Patrice Lumumba.

A U.N. spokesman said the trouble started Tuesday night when a yelling mob demonstrated to demand the release of an officer called Colonel Mulumba.

Mulumba was arrested by his own troops for showing pro-Lumumba sympathies during the takeover.

THREE SOLDIERS SHOT

The mob shot three of the soldiers.

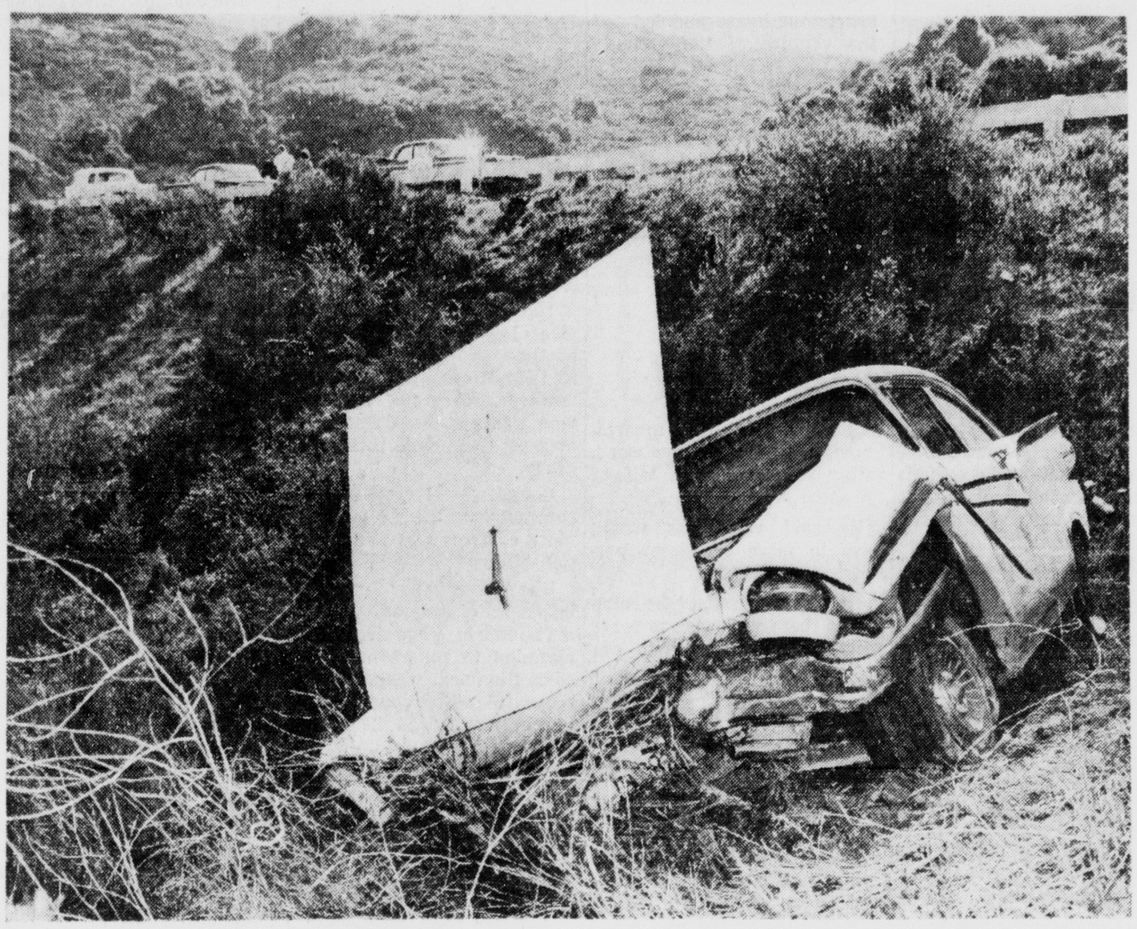
There was no immediate report of any Europeans among the dead. Figures for injured were not known at U.N. headquarters.

The fighting raged through most of yesterday but the U.N. reported that by 8 a.m. the town was quiet again.

The 1,000-strong contingent of U.N. Ghanaian troops in Luluabourg took no part in the fighting.

After the fighting in Luluabourg, Ghanaian and Congolese troops joined forces to set up roadblocks and seal off the native township of Ndesha.

Trucks passing through the checkpoints were searched for illegal arms.



IT COULD HAVE BEEN WORSE — Although 18-year-old Paul Mamalakis of Ross was seriously hurt when his car plunged off the Waldo Grade yesterday, it didn't go as far down the canyon as it might have because for 90 feet it straddled and was held by the guard rail on the east side of the highway. State To Draw Up Pact On 101 Freeway

San Rafael Expects To Receive Papers Within Two Weeks

The California Division of Highways agreed yesterday to prepare a basic freeway agreement for the City of San Rafael, but said it will have to study a half dozen of engineer Daniel Coleman's recommendations.

San Rafael city officials and division of highways representatives met in the office of J. P. Sinclair, assistant state highway engineer for District Four, in San Francisco yesterday.

Mayor John F. McInnis said the city will probably receive the basic freeway agreement within two weeks.

FURTHER STUDY

Several of Coleman's recommendations—including proposed relocation of the Linden Lane offramp—will require further study by the state, he added.

Sinclair said these points can be considered separately from a basic freeway agreement which is limited to design and construction where the freeway interferes with city traffic.

Present at the first meeting with the state since Coleman's recommendations were adopted by the city on Feb. 20, were the mayor and three councilmen (Fred Jensen was absent), the city manager, supervisor of public works, engineer and Coleman himself.

FOUR MORE LANES

The state's plan is to add four more lanes on the west side of Highway 101 from Puerto Suello Hill to the California overhead.

McInnis said the highway division agreed to the following recommendations made by Coleman:

1. Landscape entire freeway.
2. Connect Lincoln Avenue

MAN ARRESTED IN JEWELRY BURGLARY TRY

A 32-year-old burglary suspect, arrested by police in Morgan Hill, Santa Clara County, has admitted the attempted burglary of the Michael A. Gorb Credit Jeweler, 1115 Fourth Street, San Rafael, on Monday night.

San Rafael Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa said Raymond Ballard, formerly of Arbuckle, Colusa County, admitted looting every business establishment in Arbuckle except the hotel he was staying in.

Ballard was arrested as he attempted to burglarize a garage in Morgan Hill, police said. He has confessed to 20 attempted safe-crackings throughout the state.

3rd Man Held As Narcotics Case Suspect

A third man, suspected of narcotics possession and sale, was arrested in San Rafael yesterday afternoon in the wake of a noon raid on Greenbrae Boardwalk home that netted two suspects.

The third is Ronald William Mattos, 23, of 315 Prospect Drive, San Rafael.

Sheriff's Inspector Richard J. Argento and federal agents arrested Mattos at a San Rafael produce company, where he works as a truck driver. Mattos was booked on suspicion of narcotics possession and sale and freed on $2,625 bail.

The two others are Jack Edward Devaney, 27, ex-seaman, and Leo John Galli, 21, a nurseryman. They were seized at 62 Greenbrae Boardwalk, along with about $200 worth of marijuana, heroin and tranquilizers.

Inspector Argento, who had the Greenbrae cottage under surveillance for several months, set the trap for the raid Tuesday night when he arranged for purchase of $50 worth of marijuana.

Adlai Warns Soviet On Congo Peril

NEW YORK (UPI)—Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, warned Russia today that a Soviet attempt to take over the Congo will lead to war.

He appealed to the Kremlin to "stay your ambitions" in Africa and to call off its attempt to hamstring the U.N. and "thus sabotage the only institution which offers an alternative to imperialism."

Stevenson cited the power struggles which raged through the Balkans in the early 1900s and led finally to World War 1. He said Africa represents the Balkans of today and asked whether Soviet Premier Nikita Khruschev wanted it to become the "cockpit . . . of a spreading, consuming, horrifying general conflict."

Solons Call Probe Of Text Policy

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The Assembly Ways and Means Committee today called a series of public hearings into the entire state textbook operation.

Chairman Jesse M. Unruh (D-Los Angeles), set the first session for 8 p.m. Monday.

The Assembly ordered the inquiry after disclosure of the burning of 650,000 new but unused textbooks during the past four years.

Another element entered the picture yesterday. A legislator introduced a bill to stop eastern publishers from charging California an extra 5 per cent for freight on textbook purchases. (See story on page 9.)

Unruh said in a statement that California taxpayers have been losing untold amounts every year "because of the wasteful practices of the Department of Education." On the freight differential, he said:

"I have information that the department's agreement to pay a 5 per cent markup to book publishers may be costing the state nearly a million dollars a year rather than the more modest $300,000 estimate which was brought to light earlier."

PROFESSION OR BUSINESS, THE CHARGE IS STILL THE SAME

If a barber cuts your hair, is that a personal service?

Yes, said the august Mill Valley City Council two months ago. Not only that, but it is a professional service, so a barber shop can be permitted in a professional-administrative zone.

No, said a voting majority of the same Mill Valley City Council last night; barbering is just a business.

Vice Mayor George D. Blackwell proposed the change of mind. He was joined by Councilman George D. Monardo. Councilman Joseph F. Sheeks didn't vote, declaring, "I'm in a quandary." Councilman Michael Wornum voted no, asserting "this is the wrong way to go about law making." Mayor Robert D. Huber was absent.

Effect of the vote was to leave Donald Oulette, who had been given a permit for a barber shop at 198 East Blithedale Avenue, clipping hair illegally.

High School Tightens Lunch Period Rules

San Rafael High School will restrict students to the campus for part of their lunch period, starting Monday, in a move to check increased complaints about off-campus behavior.

Principal Ralph Phelps today said penalties for breaking the new regulation will be "severe."

In the past few weeks there have been so many complaints "of a serious nature" that school officials felt there must be more restrictions, Phelps said.

Under the new rules, students must remain on the campus for the first half hour of their 45-minute lunch period.

Students previously have been allowed to go off campus on foot during the lunch period, but only toward the center of town. They have not been permitted to go to the Montecito Shopping Center, north of Mission Avenue or west of the campus, nor could they leave in cars.

Hurt Boy May Owe Life To 'Monorail' Ride

A Ross student was in satisfactory condition at Marin General Hospital today, despite numerous bruises suffered when his car plunged across the guard rail of Highway 101 on the Waldo Grade yesterday.

The life of Paul S. Mamalakis, 18, of 47 Glenwood Avenue, may have been saved because the vehicle took a "monorail" trip of some 90 feet along the guard structure, then plowed into bushes and did not go over the steep embankment.

Returning from San Francisco at 12:20 p.m. yesterday in a two-door sedan owned by Dr. Charles C. Duffy of Brentwood, Contra Costa County, the youth was in a right-hand sweeping curve just south of Rodeo Avenue when he steered into the inside rail east of the highway.

California Highway Patrol investigation later indicated that the brake on a single wheel had locked. The wheel skidded 160 feet before the car hit the rail.

After leaving the rail the car stopped 42 feet from the roadway and 16 feet below road level. The driver was found unconscious and taken by Sausalito Ambulance to Marin General Hospital, where he was still unconscious on arrival.

He was reported today to be suffering from numerous bruises including head, right elbow and left leg.

Mamalakis was in his first year at the University of San Francisco. He was graduated last year from Redwood High School.

Mystery Of Missing Pup Cleared Up

The case of the missing French poodle was solved last night.

The dog, a little black female, valued at $125, was reported missing by Mrs. Gay Newman of the Gay Pet Shop, 508B Fourth Street, San Rafael, at 12:10 p.m. Some youngsters had been in the shop just before the dog disappeared, she said.

Later that afternoon a bulletin was circulated at San Rafael High School, stating that the dog was valuable and should be returned.

Still later in the day two elementary school youngsters turned up at the home of Supt. Frank L. Lucas with the dog. They reported they found her at a downtown drive-in cafe. The dog had apparently been dumped out there by the thief, Lucas surmised.

1,955 Terra Lindans Can Ballot Tuesday

A total of 1,955 Terra Lindans are eligible to vote in the annexation to San Rafael election Tuesday, County Clerk George S. Jones announced today.

Annexation requires only a simple majority of those voting to pass. If annexed, Terra Linda would become a part of San Rafael on July 1.

San Jose School Officials Favor Merging With Novato District

By ELLEN BRY

Four of the five members of the San Jose School District board and the district's superintendent went on record last night as favoring merger with the Novato Unified School district.

A public meeting at Lynwood School in the San Jose district brought out 100 persons to hear a two-hour discussion of the advantages and problems of unification and annexation. Nearly all who attended are parents in the San Jose district.

At least 90 of them, by a standing vote, affirmed that they favored a unification study of the districts.

A petition officially asking that the county committee on school district organization begin study of unification had gained the necessary five signatures by the time the meeting closed.

A requested standing vote on possible annexation of all or part of the San Jose district to Novato found everyone in the audience remaining seated.

At least 80 persons stood to signify they favored asking the San Rafael Board of Education for an interdistrict agreement with Novato which would allow high school students from San Jose District to attend Novato High.

San Jose is in the San Rafael High district; Novato is a unified district with one governing board for kindergarten through high school.

Those opposing the study of an interdistrict agreement with San Rafael numbered five lonely standees.

Supt. Phillip Schneider of the San Jose district bluntly told the group that "it oughta be unified—it's ridiculous to splinter up this community." Both districts are at least partly within the Novato city limits.

Schneider said that if it appeared that residents of the districts would attempt to annex only a part of the San Jose district, he would recommend to his board that it block the move by referring it to the county committee on school district organization.

Board members William H. Vandergriff, Alan M. Swabacker, Mrs. Clinton Ansley and Dan H. Barber backed him up.

Jury Decides Tonight On Officer Case

Marin County grand jurors will decide tonight what action, if any, they will take in the case of a sheriff's inspector, allegedly linked to the Anita Venza abortion case in Belvedere.

Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety said he expects 11 witnesses to testify tonight. Among them will be thrice-convicted abortionist Mrs. Venza; the inspector in question; Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos; Belvedere Police Chief William Woodington; Inspector Donald E. Midyett of the district attorney's office, and a woman who says she was aborted at Mrs. Venza's Belvedere home last year.

District Attorney Garety said he will merely present witnesses and tape recordings.

THE NEWEST IN AUTOMOBILES

Chrysler Corp.'s latest experimental car, the Turboflite, boasts space age propulsion and luxury. It will be powered by Chrysler's latest regenerative turbine engine. The rear struts support an air flap when brakes are applied, creating an air drag to reduce the load on the normal braking system when driving at turnpike speeds. The Turboflite will be displayed publicly for the first time next Thursday in Washington, D.C. at the Turbine Power Conference of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. (UPI Telephoto)

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Royal Visitors Cheered

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — Nearly a million Iranians turned out today to cheer Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip on their arrival in flag-draped Tehran to begin a four-day visit.

The royal couple left New Delhi today, ending a month-long state visit to India and Pakistan.

School Cut Opposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.) said yesterday he would oppose efforts by President John F. Kennedy to reduce federal aid to so-called "federally impacted" school districts.

The president has called for a 50 per cent reduction in aid to schools receiving federal payments because nearby military housing has increased enrollment. Kuchel said he opposed such cuts under the Eisenhower administration and would "object with equal vigor" to any reductions by the Kennedy administration.

Syngman Rhee Ailing

HONOLULU (UPI)—Syngman Rhee, 85, former president of South Korea, was under observation for a "possible" heart ailment today at Tripler Army Hospital here. A hospital spokesman said Rhee was in "fair" condition.

Navy Buying Rapped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) said today the Navy has bought 668 million dollars worth of unsatisfactory planes and other equipment because of the Pentagon's "antique organization structure."

In a statement prepared for delivery on the Senate floor, Symington said the Navy found that the F-7U twin jet all-weather fighter was faulty in prototype but ordered 549 planes anyway. He said 34 of them were lost in crashes after 304 had been produced. The rest of the order was canceled, but it cost 417.2 million dollars.

He said 339 T-2V trainers were ordered and 149 were produced before the rest were canceled because the plane was "inadequate for the mission assigned." That cost 139 million dollars, he said.

Missing Girl Found

NEW YORK (AP)—Donna Marie Michel, 10, who has been missing since yesterday, was found early today hiding in a laundry room of a Bronx apartment house less than 200 feet away from her residence. She apparently was in good health.

Thirty policemen had been looking for Donna, who vanished while on her way home from a parochial school. She was believed worried over a minor scrape she had gotten into at school, and feared her parents might be angry with her.

Rivers Recede Slowly

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Swollen rivers continued a slow retreat over much of south-central Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and Louisiana today, but lowland areas still reeled from the blow dealt them the past week and some sections remained threatened.

In central Mississippi, the Pearl River, 17 feet above flood stage, continued at its highest level since 1935 after forcing some 850 persons from their home. A slow fall was expected to start late today.

General's Mother Dies

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Mrs. Marie Norstad, 81, mother of Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme commander of NATO, died yesterday in San Jose.

To Leave Hospital

NEW YORK (UPI) — Actress Marilyn Monroe is expected to leave Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center tomorrow.

She has been under treatment since Feb. 11. A hospital spokesman said yesterday Miss Monroe's condition was good.

Miss Monroe entered the hospital after suffering symptoms of a nervous breakdown and undergoing observation at the Payne Whitney psychiatric Clinic here.

Castro Peace Move

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro reportedly was sounding out Venezuela today to help solve Cuban-United States differences as a fifth nation in the Americas severed relations with his revolutionary government.

The Venezuelan foreign ministry said in Caracas yesterday it had received a note from Havana asking for efforts toward a solution. Sources said the note amounted to a Cuban request for conciliation—but outside the Organization of American States.

At the same time El Salvador broke off relations with Cuba in protest against a vigorous campaign in Havana against the junta that rules the little Central American country.

Car Strikes Actor

NEW YORK (AP)—Actor John Payne was struck by a car last night as he crossed Madison Avenue.

Payne was taken to Roosevelt Hospital for treatment of a fractured left leg, multiple cuts, and possible internal injuries. His condition was listed as fair.

Algerian Rebels Agree To Talks

RABAT, Morocco (AP)—The Algerian rebels today accepted French President Charles de Gaulle's bid for peace talks to end the long and costly Algerian war. Direct negotiations appeared imminent.

The rebels insisted on their goal in the six and one-half year war: Independence from France. They softened it somewhat by saying that Morocco, Tunisia and Algeria are planning to join in a loose federation retaining friendly ties with Paris.

The rebel announcement came in a joint communique issued after talks here between the Algerian nationalist leaders and their two neighbors and supporters, Tunisia and Morocco. Rebel Premier Ferhat Abbas conferred with King Hassan II of Morocco and President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia until just before dawn.

Bourguiba had come directly from Paris bearing a new offer for talks with de Gaulle.

French Information Officer Louis Terrenoire disclosed in Paris that de Gaulle told Bourguiba France is no longer insisting that the rebels lay down their arms before negotiations take place. A cease-fire would have robbed the Algerian nationalists of their main political weapon, which is the war itself.

The two sides see the negotiations differently. The rebels want to talk only about independence. De Gaulle, Terrenoire said, wants to discuss "the conditions for self-determination."

By this he meant the de Gaulle plan for letting Algeria decide its own political future through free elections. Independence from France is one of the choices de Gaulle has outlined.

The rebel move came after weeks of delicate diplomatic maneuverings that brought Bourguiba and de Gaulle together on Monday in a session that apparently removed major differences.

Thousands Volunteer For Peace Corps Duty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The pretty daughters of an undersecretary of state and a veteran senator today led thousands of persons who have volunteered to live the hard life of President John F. Kennedy's peace corps.

Kennedy announced the establishment yesterday of a pilot model "peace corps" of trained volunteers to go overseas and help persons in underdeveloped areas.

Nancy Gore, 23-year-old daughter of Sen. Albert Gore, (D-Tenn.), and Sally Bowles, daughter of Undersecretary of State Chester Bowles, went to work immediately in the new corps headquarters.

Miss Gore said she also heard that several prominent persons, including Olympic athlete Rafer Johnson and former Iowa University football coach Forrest Evashevski, had volunteered.

"We're all very enthusiastic," Miss Gore said. She said applications and expressions of interest had been mailed to the president by the thousands even before he announced the program, which he suggested during the election campaign last fall.

Kennedy warned that "life in the peace corps will not be easy. Men and women will be expected to work and live alongside the nationals of the country in which they are stationed—doing the same work, eating the same food, talking the same language."

He said volunteers would have to serve at "great personal sacrifice."

His prediction that "the number of those who wish to serve will be far greater than our capacity to absorb them" appeared to be true. He said he hoped to have 500 to 1,000 volunteers by the end of the year, and the White House said yesterday 5,000 letters on the subject already had been received.

Recruiting plans have not yet been completed, although a spokesman said some federal agency such as the post office department might be used. Kennedy has not appointed a director of the peace corps, although his brother-in-law, R. Sargent Shriver, has been handling the program.

Among other things, the peace corps would teach people to read and write, show them how to build water pumps, drainage ditches, elementary sanitation systems and schools, and introduce improved methods of farming and teaching.

Peace corps members will not be exempt from military service, although they will be deferred during the two or three years of their overseas service.

JUST DOING HIS DUTY AS CITIZEN

NICE, France (AP)—A stray mongrel joined police chasing two suspected burglars and one of the men surrendered to the dog yelping at his feet.

The dog then went to an apartment house and led to the capture of the second man by howling outside. Then the mongrel disappeared.

Police credit the unknown dog with helping corner a gang of would-be jewel thieves.

Jobless Aid Bill Goes To Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A thumping 392-30 House vote on the billion-dollar emergency unemployment aid bill has gotten President John F. Kennedy's anti-recession program off to a good start in Congress.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) said today his finance committee will conduct a hearing on the bill next week, probably Tuesday or Wednesday.

Democrats would like to get the measure to the White House by mid-March so unemployed Americans who have exhausted jobless insurance benefits can start receiving the extra payments by April 1.

The emergency unemployment legislation has more bipartisan support than any of Kennedy's economic proposals, however. Thus its big House vote was no signal that other measures will slide through so easily.

Congressional committees continued work today on other more controversial administration bills.

The House Labor Committee began its closed-door work on minimum wage legislation, planning to report out a bill some time next week. The subcommittee which conducted the hearings approved its version Tuesday.

The unemployment aid bill breezed through the House yesterday with support of 248 Democrats and 144 Republicans. Opposing it were 28 Republicans and two Democrats.

The administration estimates as many as three million unemployed who have exhausted or will exhaust their jobless insurance benefits may receive help under the program.

They would get a maximum of 13 extra weeks of payments, and a minimum of half of the period now paid in the various states.

Road Improvement Issue Postponed

A letter from Supervisor J. Walter Blair, ill at his Mill Valley home, was read at Tuesday's meeting of the board of supervisors too late to affect further one-week continuance of the long-protracted problem of paying for improvement of Ranch Road on the Tiburon Peninsula under the Tara Hill Assessment District.

The letter said Blair had discussed how the charges were to be allocated and "believed the method fair and the assessments equitable," therefore suggested adopting the assessments as recommended by engineers from the district.

But the supervisors had already postponed action.

Brown Studies Mercy Plea Of Murderer

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown is studying the clemency plea of a killer who escaped execution through insanity 12 years ago and now faces San Quentin Prison's gas chamber anew.

Attorney John Houlihan of Oakland, who filed the appeal, said if Erwin (Machine Gun) Walker, 43, is returned for execution, he will lose his sanity again.

Walker was convicted in 1946 of the slaying of Police Officer Loren Roosevelt in Los Angeles. Hours before his execution date on April 15, 1949, Walker went insane and the execution was stopped.

Superior Court Judge Thomas Keating of Marin County ruled yesterday that 11 years of treatment in state hospitals have restored Walker's sanity, making it possible for the execution to be rescheduled.

Under the California Penal Code, Brown is the only one who can reset the execution. His clemency secretary, Cecil Poole, said the Adult Authority already is making a routine investigation of the case for the governor and the results may be ready by the end of the month when a clemency hearing will be scheduled.

Recreation Board To Talk Budget

Discussion of a preliminary 1961-62 budget will be the main item of the agenda of the Terra Linda Recreational District board when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Bernard Hoffman School.

It will be the first budget for the district which was organized as a result of a special election on Oct. 5. During their campaign, most of the five directors elected to the board agreed that the district would have to tax its full limit of 50 cents per $100 assessed valuation for at least the first year. This would mean about $26 to the tax bill of the average Terra Linda home owner.

The board will also review applications for a paid summer recreation director.

Recreation Board To Talk Budget

Discussion of a preliminary 1961-62 budget will be the main item of the agenda of the Terra Linda Recreational District board when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Bernard Hoffman School.

It will be the first budget for the district which was organized as a result of a special election on Oct. 5. During their campaign, most of the five directors elected to the board agreed that the district would have to tax its full limit of 50 cents per $100 assessed valuation for at least the first year. This would mean about $26 to the tax bill of the average Terra Linda home owner.

The board will also review applications for a paid summer recreation director.

Annexation Proposed By Services District

The Terra Linda Community Services District board last night opened the door for approximately 180 homes in Terra Linda Oaks 9 and the Knocknaboul Way development to be annexed to the services district.

"We wanted to show them that they have a sensible alternative to annexing to San Rafael," declared director Robbert Brownne.

An election to decide whether the services district, Oaks 9 and Knocknaboul Way will be annexed to San Rafael will be held Tuesday. The 160 homes in Oaks 9 and 20 homes on Knocknaboul Way are outside both the services district and the city.

The directors last night adopted a resolution indicating that they would welcome the two areas into the services district by resolution annexation rather than annexation by election.

This would require petitions signed by either a majority of the voters or owners of the majority of the area and assessed valuation of the area, according to County Counsel E. Warren McGuire.

Directors said the conditions of annextion could be worked out by discussions with the interested property owners.

The directors voted that if a majority petition were presented, they would immediately offer fire protection, street lighting and parkway beautification and maintenance to the two areas.

Auto Dealer Will Sign With Union

Leon C. Felton, owner of Volkswagen dealerships in San Rafael and Mill Valley, was ready to sign a contract with the teamsters and machinists unions for organizing his employees today after two days of picketing.

Pickets were withdrawn at 3 p.m. yesterday when Felton agreed to sign the union contract which would organize a dozen workers, most of them native Germans.

Felton said his mechanics, washers, polishers and lubrication men told O. E. McNally, business agent for Machinists Local 238, that they did not want to join the union.

"But I'll have to sign the contract forcing them to join the union or quit, because this picketing is hurting business," Felton declared.

Two placard-bearing pickets started marching in front of the Felton dealerships at 601 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, and 18 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley, on Tuesday.

Tam Valley Land Available To Club

George W. Wheelwright of the Green Gulch Ranch will offer three acres of land for a clubhouse to the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club at the club's meeting at 8:30 p.m. today.

Wheelwright's land is located between Midvale Avenue and Shoreline Highway off Smith Road. Wheelwright is a member of the club.

The present clubhouse at 409 Maple Street is 40 years old and, according to president Midge Hamburg, is inadequate. The club owns another piece of property on Bell Lane and Marin Avenue which will have to be disposed of, Mrs. Hamburg said. At the time it was purchased it seemed the most favorable piece of property available, she added.

The club will elect officers tonight.

Ike's 5-Star Rank Bill Introduced

WASHINGTON (AP)—An administration bill to restore former President Dwight D. Eisenhower to a five-star general's rank was introduced today.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) chairman of the Senate Armed Services committee, introduced the measure. It would authorize President John F. Kennedy to appoint Eisenhower to the active list of the regular Army, in the General of the Army rank Eisenhower gave up to become president.

Russell's prepared announcement said that since Eisenhower is entitled by law as a former president to draw a $25,000-a-year pension for life, the bill declares that he should not be entitled to the pay or allowance of a general of the Army.

FREEWAY

and Los Ranchitos Road as an intra-city thoroughfare.

3. Construct Grand Avenue from Third Street to Francisco Boulevard and end Francisco in a cul de sac.

4. Build—as in the state plan—on-off ramps at Mission Avenue, north-south one-way collector street between Mission Avenue and main interchange, and on-off ramps from Second Street to main interchange.

5. Construct freeway at ground level except for viaduct between Mission Avenue and main interchange.

6. Alter proposed on-off ramps at California Park overhead to provide better spacing between ramps and connect with Auburn Street.

7. Plan construction in two stages, with the first stage to be built as soon as possible to relieve traffic congestion at southern entrance to the city. (McInnis said the division of highways agreed to the two-stage plan depending on how much money is available and how soon.)

The division of highways will make further studies on Coleman's recommendations to: use existing pavement at Puerto Suello Hill to connect Villa Avenue and San Pablo Avenue; acquire property along south side of Second Street from Irwin Street to Grand Avenue and at the northwest corner of Second and Irwin Streets and southwest corner of Third and Irwin Streets for better traffic flow, and extend Second Street from Lincoln Avenue.

Highway engineers will also study the possibility of moving the proposed Linden Lane offramp north to the Puerto Suello Hill as asked by Dominican residents.

In connection with the proposed parking area under the viaduct, the highway engineers said they could lease the area to the city, payments on which would be determined by whether the city or state built the parking lot.

"A lot was accomplished," the mayor declared, "but we are still not out of the woods."

He said the next meeting with Division of Highways engineers will probably be held within a month.

MERGER

Clerk Robert R. Allen was out of town.

Schneider was referring to the possibility that other residents in the San Jose district would attempt to leave out the Loma Verde area south of Novato in any annexation consideration.

Loma Verde "no" votes blocked previous merger elections which lost by small majorities.

"Loma Verde has shown in the past that they're not with us," one spectator commented. "But they're welcome."

Mrs. Benjamin Edger, one of the organizers of the meeting, said that the Loma Verde area "is not in our plans now."

"The state is very definite about not wanting to continue to finance small, undersized, inefficient school districts," Mrs. J. B. Walace, chairman of the meeting, told the group. She is a member of the county committee on school district organization.

The meeting was organized by Mrs. Jack O. Smith. Mrs. Michael Doran an Mrs. Edger. Mrs. Doran was elected chairman at the meeting last night of a citizens' committee to study unification.

Supt. W. J. J. Smith of the Novato district declined direct comment last night and today on unification. He said he already was on record as favoring unification as a general policy.

Novato Trustee Earl Marshall, also a member of the county school district organization committee, told last night's meeting that he too, favored unification but would "listen" to annexation ideas.

School officials of both districts pointed out that even with a favorable vote on either proposal, it could not be effected until the 1962-63 school year and that some San Jose students probably would continue at San Rafael High until expansion of Novato High.

"No one can tell you if taxes will be more or less" under unification Schneider told parents. "The only thing we can assure you of is education is going to cost more every day of our lives."

SALES EVENT PLANNED IN SAN ANSELMO

San Anselmo merchants will observe townwide "Bargain Days" May 4, 5 and 6.

This decision was made last night by the Merchants Committee of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce at the city hall.

Details will be arranged at a second meeting in about two weeks, announced Mrs. Pat Mann, committee chairman.

Oil Executive Enters School Election Race

Howard L. Simon, executive assistant for Standard Oil Co. of California, today became a candidate for the San Rafael Board of Education.

He filed his nomination petition for the April 10 city election at 8:30 a.m. today with City Clerk W. L. Morgan. Simon is the third candidate to file nomination papers for the two board of education terms which expire this year.

Mrs. Bella Aaron, attorney, and Lothar Salin, printer, are the other candidates for the terms of Willard E. Vernon and Harold H. Fulkerson, both of whom announced they will not run.

A resident of Glenwood for almost four years, Simon lives at 3 Robinhood Drive, with his wife and two children. He is 36 years old.

He was the first president of the Glenwood Homeowners Assn. and last year was a member of the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Advisory Council.

SCHOOL

the school about littering by students, as well as behavior problems, Phelps said. On Tuesday night the board of education expelled two senior girls who had been found under the influence of liquor during the noon hour.

Teachers and administrators have patrolled outside the campus and will continue to do so, Phelps said.

Phelps himself and Alfred N. Thomson, administrative assistant, have been patrolling "quite thoroughly the past two or three weeks. They became convinced that it would require patrol by 20 teachers to provide adequate supervision, the principal said.

Phelps also warned that if restricting of students for part of the lunch period is not sufficient and they get into trouble in the free 15 minutes, the campus will be completely closed.

Campus restrictions have developed gradually at the school. Students at one time were completely free to leave during the lunch period. Then it became necessary to close the campus for driving. Gradually the area where students could go on foot was reduced.

Airmen's Dice Game Broken Up

Sheriff's deputies broke up a small dice game at The Meadows tavern in Ignacio early today and turned five participating airmen over to Air Police at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Sheriff's Deputy William Johansen said the airmen were sitting arount a table with one coffee cup and one dice on the table, and money in front of each man. They told officers they were playing a game called "liar's dice."

Bartender Ralph Schooley told officers the bar was crowded and he did not notice anything illegal going on.

No one was arrested.

Mill Valleyan Cleared Of Drunk Driving

A Mill Valley accountant, whose car was involved in an accident which injured a deputy sheriff, was found innocent of drunken driving last night by a municipal court jury.

Ward S. Moseley, 53, of 8 Birch Street, was arrested on Miller Avenue in Mill Valley last Dec. 9 by Deputy Sheriff Dennis Shine. The officer had parked his car behind Moseley's, when another car driven by Walter C. Phillips Jr., 47, struck the patrol car. The impact sent the patrol car into Moseley's vehicle. Deputy Shine was knocked down by the impact and suffered a whiplash injury.

Moseley, defended by former Dist. Atty. William O. Weissich, had a blood alcohol content of .201, considerably over the .150 borderline. But Weissich argued that Moseley was not intoxicated at the time he was arrested, and it was only after the passage of time that the alcohol level reached .201.

The jurors heard the case before Judge Harold J. Haley and deliberated for more than three hours before finding Moseley innocent. They were split 7 to 5, then 10 to 2 before taking the final ballot that freed Moseley.

Phillips, whose car struck the patrol car, is also accused of drunken driving. His case is still pending in court.

Lagunitas Students To Hold Science Show

A three-man team led by W. Keith MacNab of the science department at Sir Francis Drake High School will judge the student projects and award certificates to three winners in each grade.

OBITUARIES

Early Marin Resident Dies At 88

Mrs. Florita Peet Hunter, 88, a pioneer Marin County resident, died early yesterday at her home at 14 Los Cerros Drive, Greenbrae, after an illness of two years.

Funeral services will be private.

Mrs. Hunter was born in Sacramento Jan. 31, 1873, at the old Golden Eagle Hotel where her parents had stopped on their way to Niles Canyon, Alameda County, where the family raised sheep until the death of her mother in 1879.

As a young girl Mrs. Hunter lived in Hayward, and San Jose, where she attended the state normal school before marriage to Lewis C. Hunter July 4, 1898.

The Hunters came to Marin County in 1902 and built a summer home at the foot of Raymond Avenue in San Anselmo. After destruction of a San Francisco home by the earthquake and fire of 1906, they moved to San Anselmo and lived there until Hunter was transferred in 1910 to Sacramento by his firm, W. P. Fuller and Co., after which they stayed in Sacramento until 1929.

During their Sacramento period Mrs. Hunter and her husband were both active in civic affairs, while Mrs. Hunter wrote and directed many "high jinks" and extravaganzas. On Hunter's retirement they returned to Marin County, celebrating their golden wedding here in 1948.

Survivors include two daughters, Mary Lee Hunter, with whom she made her home, and Mrs. Doris Hunter Drew of Washington, D.C., as well as five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Muir Beach Seeks More Well Bids

One bid has been received by the Muir Beach Community Services District for drilling a well in Franks Valley to provide potable water for Muir Beach residents, manager-secretary John L. White said today.

More bids are sought, White said.

Residents have hauled water and purified brackish water from the district's present well for years.

Two resignations from the district board were announced last night—those of president Charles A. Borden and that of White. Both have been on the board since it was formed about three years ago.

Borden, whose resignation is effective April 5, is resigning due to business reasons.

White's resignation will be effective June 1. He is taking a job as elementary school teacher near Garberville, Humboldt County. He will move with his wife, Sally and two children, Kirsten, 3 and Valery, 2.

White said persons interested in applying for the job of manager-secretary, which pays $100 a month, should inform him at Muir Beach.

A new president will be elected and a new director appointed at the board's next meeting.

Short Of Quorum

The Lagunitas School District board failed to meet as scheduled last night because it lacked a quorum.

Annexation Proposed By Services District

The Terra Linda Community Services District board last night opened the door for approximately 180 homes in Terra Linda Oaks 9 and the Knocknaboul Way development to be annexed to the services district.

"We wanted to show them that they have a sensible alternative to annexing to San Rafael," declared director Robbert Brownne.

An election to decide whether the services district, Oaks 9 and Knocknaboul Way will be annexed to San Rafael will be held Tuesday. The 160 homes in Oaks 9 and 20 homes on Knocknaboul Way are outside both the services district and the city.

The directors last night adopted a resolution indicating that they would welcome the two areas into the services district by resolution annexation rather than annexation by election.

This would require petitions signed by either a majority of the voters or owners of the majority of the area and assessed valuation of the area, according to County Counsel E. Warren McGuire.

Directors said the conditions of annextion could be worked out by discussions with the interested property owners.

The directors voted that if a majority petition were presented, they would immediately offer fire protection, street lighting and parkway beautification and maintenance to the two areas.

Auto Dealer Will Sign With Union

Leon C. Felton, owner of Volkswagen dealerships in San Rafael and Mill Valley, was ready to sign a contract with the teamsters and machinists unions for organizing his employees today after two days of picketing.

Pickets were withdrawn at 3 p.m. yesterday when Felton agreed to sign the union contract which would organize a dozen workers, most of them native Germans.

Felton said his mechanics, washers, polishers and lubrication men told O. E. McNally, business agent for Machinists Local 238, that they did not want to join the union.

"But I'll have to sign the contract forcing them to join the union or quit, because this picketing is hurting business," Felton declared.

Two placard-bearing pickets started marching in front of the Felton dealerships at 601 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, and 18 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley, on Tuesday.

Tam Valley Land Available To Club

George W. Wheelwright of the Green Gulch Ranch will offer three acres of land for a clubhouse to the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club at the club's meeting at 8:30 p.m. today.

Wheelwright's land is located between Midvale Avenue and Shoreline Highway off Smith Road. Wheelwright is a member of the club.

The present clubhouse at 409 Maple Street is 40 years old and, according to president Midge Hamburg, is inadequate. The club owns another piece of property on Bell Lane and Marin Avenue which will have to be disposed of, Mrs. Hamburg said. At the time it was purchased it seemed the most favorable piece of property available, she added.

The club will elect officers tonight.

Ike's 5-Star Rank Bill Introduced

WASHINGTON (AP)—An administration bill to restore former President Dwight D. Eisenhower to a five-star general's rank was introduced today.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) chairman of the Senate Armed Services committee, introduced the measure. It would authorize President John F. Kennedy to appoint Eisenhower to the active list of the regular Army, in the General of the Army rank Eisenhower gave up to become president.

Russell's prepared announcement said that since Eisenhower is entitled by law as a former president to draw a $25,000-a-year pension for life, the bill declares that he should not be entitled to the pay or allowance of a general of the Army.

Clerk Robert R. Allen was out of town.

Schneider was referring to the possibility that other residents in the San Jose district would attempt to leave out the Loma Verde area south of Novato in any annexation consideration.

Loma Verde "no" votes blocked previous merger elections which lost by small majorities.

"Loma Verde has shown in the past that they're not with us," one spectator commented. "But they're welcome."

Mrs. Benjamin Edger, one of the organizers of the meeting, said that the Loma Verde area "is not in our plans now."

"The state is very definite about not wanting to continue to finance small, undersized, inefficient school districts," Mrs. J. B. Walace, chairman of the meeting, told the group. She is a member of the county committee on school district organization.

The meeting was organized by Mrs. Jack O. Smith. Mrs. Michael Doran an Mrs. Edger. Mrs. Doran was elected chairman at the meeting last night of a citizens' committee to study unification.

Supt. W. J. J. Smith of the Novato district declined direct comment last night and today on unification. He said he already was on record as favoring unification as a general policy.

Novato Trustee Earl Marshall, also a member of the county school district organization committee, told last night's meeting that he too, favored unification but would "listen" to annexation ideas.

School officials of both districts pointed out that even with a favorable vote on either proposal, it could not be effected until the 1962-63 school year and that some San Jose students probably would continue at San Rafael High until expansion of Novato High.

"No one can tell you if taxes will be more or less" under unification Schneider told parents. "The only thing we can assure you of is education is going to cost more every day of our lives."

FREEWAY

and Los Ranchitos Road as an intra-city thoroughfare.

3. Construct Grand Avenue from Third Street to Francisco Boulevard and end Francisco in a cul de sac.

4. Build—as in the state plan—on-off ramps at Mission Avenue, north-south one-way collector street between Mission Avenue and main interchange, and on-off ramps from Second Street to main interchange.

5. Construct freeway at ground level except for viaduct between Mission Avenue and main interchange.

6. Alter proposed on-off ramps at California Park overhead to provide better spacing between ramps and connect with Auburn Street.

7. Plan construction in two stages, with the first stage to be built as soon as possible to relieve traffic congestion at southern entrance to the city. (McInnis said the division of highways agreed to the two-stage plan depending on how much money is available and how soon.)

The division of highways will make further studies on Coleman's recommendations to: use existing pavement at Puerto Suello Hill to connect Villa Avenue and San Pablo Avenue; acquire property along south side of Second Street from Irwin Street to Grand Avenue and at the northwest corner of Second and Irwin Streets and southwest corner of Third and Irwin Streets for better traffic flow, and extend Second Street from Lincoln Avenue.

Highway engineers will also study the possibility of moving the proposed Linden Lane offramp north to the Puerto Suello Hill as asked by Dominican residents.

In connection with the proposed parking area under the viaduct, the highway engineers said they could lease the area to the city, payments on which would be determined by whether the city or state built the parking lot.

"A lot was accomplished," the mayor declared, "but we are still not out of the woods."

He said the next meeting with Division of Highways engineers will probably be held within a month.

SALES EVENT PLANNED IN SAN ANSELMO

San Anselmo merchants will observe townwide "Bargain Days" May 4, 5 and 6.

This decision was made last night by the Merchants Committee of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce at the city hall.

Details will be arranged at a second meeting in about two weeks, announced Mrs. Pat Mann, committee chairman.

Oil Executive Enters School Election Race

Howard L. Simon, executive assistant for Standard Oil Co. of California, today became a candidate for the San Rafael Board of Education.

He filed his nomination petition for the April 10 city election at 8:30 a.m. today with City Clerk W. L. Morgan. Simon is the third candidate to file nomination papers for the two board of education terms which expire this year.

Mrs. Bella Aaron, attorney, and Lothar Salin, printer, are the other candidates for the terms of Willard E. Vernon and Harold H. Fulkerson, both of whom announced they will not run.

A resident of Glenwood for almost four years, Simon lives at 3 Robinhood Drive, with his wife and two children. He is 36 years old.

He was the first president of the Glenwood Homeowners Assn. and last year was a member of the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Advisory Council.

the school about littering by students, as well as behavior problems, Phelps said. On Tuesday night the board of education expelled two senior girls who had been found under the influence of liquor during the noon hour.

Teachers and administrators have patrolled outside the campus and will continue to do so, Phelps said.

Phelps himself and Alfred N. Thomson, administrative assistant, have been patrolling "quite thoroughly the past two or three weeks. They became convinced that it would require patrol by 20 teachers to provide adequate supervision, the principal said.

Phelps also warned that if restricting of students for part of the lunch period is not sufficient and they get into trouble in the free 15 minutes, the campus will be completely closed.

Campus restrictions have developed gradually at the school. Students at one time were completely free to leave during the lunch period. Then it became necessary to close the campus for driving. Gradually the area where students could go on foot was reduced.

Airmen's Dice Game Broken Up

Sheriff's deputies broke up a small dice game at The Meadows tavern in Ignacio early today and turned five participating airmen over to Air Police at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Sheriff's Deputy William Johansen said the airmen were sitting aroun a table with one coffee cup and one dice on the table, and money in front of each man. They told officers they were playing a game called "liar's dice."

Bartender Ralph Schooley told officers the bar was crowded and he did not notice anything illegal going on.

No one was arrested.

Mill Valleyan Cleared Of Drunk Driving

A Mill Valley accountant, whose car was involved in an accident which injured a deputy sheriff, was found innocent of drunken driving last night by a municipal court jury.

Ward S. Moseley, 53, of 8 Birch Street, was arrested on Miller Avenue in Mill Valley last Dec. 9 by Deputy Sheriff Dennis Shine. The officer had parked his car behind Moseley's, when another car driven by Walter C. Phillips Jr., 47, struck the patrol car. The impact sent the patrol car into Moseley's vehicle. Deputy Shine was knocked down by the impact and suffered a whiplash injury.

Moseley, defended by former Dist. Atty. William O. Weissich, had a blood alcohol content of .201, considerably over the .150 borderline. But Weissich argued that Moseley was not intoxicated at the time he was arrested, and it was only after the passage of time that the alcohol level reached .201.

The jurors heard the case before Judge Harold J. Haley and deliberated for more than three hours before finding Moseley innocent. They were split 7 to 5, then 10 to 2 before taking the final ballot that freed Moseley.

Phillips, whose car struck the patrol car, is also accused of drunken driving. His case is still pending in court.

OBITUARIES

Early Marin Resident Dies At 88

Mrs. Florita Peet Hunter, 88, a pioneer Marin County resident, died early yesterday at her home at 14 Los Cerros Drive, Greenbrae, after an illness of two years.

Funeral services will be private.

Mrs. Hunter was born in Sacramento Jan. 31, 1873, at the old Golden Eagle Hotel where her parents had stopped on their way to Niles Canyon, Alameda County, where the family raised sheep until the death of her mother in 1879.

As a young girl Mrs. Hunter lived in Hayward, and San Jose, where she attended the state normal school before marriage to Lewis C. Hunter July 4, 1898.

The Hunters came to Marin County in 1902 and built a summer home at the foot of Raymond Avenue in San Anselmo. After destruction of a San Francisco home by the earthquake and fire of 1906, they moved to San Anselmo and lived there until Hunter was transferred in 1910 to Sacramento by his firm, W. P. Fuller and Co., after which they stayed in Sacramento until 1929.

During their Sacramento period Mrs. Hunter and her husband were both active in civic affairs, while Mrs. Hunter wrote and directed many "high jinks" and extravaganzas. On Hunter's retirement they returned to Marin County, celebrating their golden wedding here in 1948.

Survivors include two daughters, Mary Lee Hunter, with whom she made her home, and Mrs. Doris Hunter Drew of Washington, D.C., as well as five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Muir Beach Seeks More Well Bids

One bid has been received by the Muir Beach Community Services District for drilling a well in Franks Valley to provide potable water for Muir Beach residents, manager-secretary John L. White said today.

More bids are sought, White said.

Residents have hauled water and purified brackish water from the district's present well for years.

Two resignations from the district board were announced last night—those of president Charles A. Borden and that of White. Both have been on the board since it was formed about three years ago.

Borden, whose resignation is effective April 5, is resigning due to business reasons.

White's resignation will be effective June 1. He is taking a job as elementary school teacher near Garberville, Humboldt County. He will move with his wife, Sally and two children, Kirsten, 3 and Valery, 2.

White said persons interested in applying for the job of manager-secretary, which pays $100 a month, should inform him at Muir Beach.

A new president will be elected and a new director appointed at the board's next meeting.

Short Of Quorum

The Lagunitas School District board failed to meet as scheduled last night because it lacked a quorum.

Blue Cross Rates To Take Hike

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Some 100,000 Blue Cross members living between Fresno and the Oregon border will have their quarterly rates substantially increased April 1.

Spokesmen for the hospitalization service said yesterday that the increase will affect the members who do not belong to groups, but pay on a monthly or quarterly basis directly to the company.

The Blue Cross said the average increase will be 24 per cent, although individuals may find themselves billed for amounts either higher or lower than the average.

In a statement to Bue Cross board of directors yesterday, J. Philo Nelson, executive director of the service, said that the rate increase was necessitated by rising hospital costs.

Kennedy Aide To Ask Mortgage Interest Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President John F. Kennedy has ordered a new kind of attack to drive down long-term interest rates, which he hopes will spur home building.

The drive is a more far-reaching exercise of the power and influence of government than was practiced by the Eisenhower administration.

The president announced at his news conference he had directed a key government officitl to "meet with leaders in the savings and loan field and urge them to reduce mortgage interest rates."

The official is Joseph P. McMurray, nominated by Kennedy to the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

McMurray's "first mission will be to California where mortgage rates have been among the highest," Kennedy said. He also indicated that McMurray might make similar forays into other parts of the country.

The associations' problem in California, and elsewhere, is that keen competition for the growing volume of savings generally has held dividend rates paid to savers at the high level of 1959, a tight-money year. Unless they can reduce what they pay on deposits, the associations say, they cannot afford to cut their lending rates on home loans.

The Navy Department was created April 30, 1798.

Woman Gets Probation In Stabbing

Mrs. Martha Ophelia Giguiere, 29, accused of feloniously stabbing her boy friend at their San Rafael home on Washington's birthday, got off with a simple assault conviction yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

With the agreement of victim John Robert Oliveira, 33, Deputy Dist. Atty. Thomas T. Storer moved for dismissal of the felony charge when Mrs. Giguiere pleaded guilty to simple assault.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson put her on probation for six months and gave her a seven-day jail term, which she has already served. She must also appear in court on March 29 for another review of the case.

Drunken Drivers Fined By Judge

Two men were fined yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for their first drunken driving offenses.

Joseph Ervin Dean, 31, of San Francisco was fined $184 and put on six months probation by Judge Joseph G. Wilson. Dean was arrested after an accident on Highway 101 just north of San Rafael last Nov. 5.

Carleton Williams, 45, an Independent-Journal reporter who lives on Boardwalk No. 1, Larkspur, drew a $210 fine and six months probation. Williams was stopped on Tamalpais Avenue in Corte Madera on Jan. 20.

Two Persons Suffer Hurts In Mishaps In San Rafael

Two persons were injured in separate traffic accidents in San Rafael yesterday.

J. Paul Oppenheim, 18, of 65 Morning Sun Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, was treated for a bruised ankle and cheek at San Rafael General Hospital.

The youth was driving a Eubanks Florist delivery truck east on Canal Street about 5:30 p.m. As he made a left turn onto Medway Road, he collided with a car driven by Lawrence D. Clark, 16, of 55 Dolores Street, San Rafael, who was southbound on Medway.

Officer L. A. de Lisle Jr. said Clark may have been blinded by the sun.

Mrs. Mona D. Brooks of 620 Arthur Street, Novato, complained of back pains after her car was rammed from the rear by an auto driven by Mrs. Neva W. Lindsey of 165 Via Lerida, Greenbrae, as Mrs. Brooks was stopped for a red light eastbound on Fourth Street at B Street at 4 p.m. She said she would see her own doctor.

Firemen In Tiburon Will Mark Streets

Tiburon volunteer firemen will begin marking the streets in front of fire hydrants for faster identification this month, it was decided at last night's meeting, according to president Allen A. Olson.

Volunteers will also mark distances between hydrants at each hydrant, Olson said.

Blue Cross Rates To Take Hike

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Some 100,000 Blue Cross members living between Fresno and the Oregon border will have their quarterly rates substantially increased April 1.

Spokesmen for the hospitalization service said yesterday that the increase will affect the members who do not belong to groups, but pay on a monthly or quarterly basis directly to the company.

The Blue Cross said the average increase will be 24 per cent, although individuals may find themselves billed for amounts either higher or lower than the average.

In a statement to Bue Cross board of directors yesterday, J. Philo Nelson, executive director of the service, said that the rate increase was necessitated by rising hospital costs.

Kennedy Aide To Ask Mortgage Interest Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President John F. Kennedy has ordered a new kind of attack to drive down long-term interest rates, which he hopes will spur home building.

The drive is a more far-reaching exercise of the power and influence of government than was practiced by the Eisenhower administration.

The president announced at his news conference he had directed a key government officitl to "meet with leaders in the savings and loan field and urge them to reduce mortgage interest rates."

The official is Joseph P. McMurray, nominated by Kennedy to the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

McMurray's "first mission will be to California where mortgage rates have been among the highest," Kennedy said. He also indicated that McMurray might make similar forays into other parts of the country.

The associations' problem in California, and elsewhere, is that keen competition for the growing volume of savings generally has held dividend rates paid to savers at the high level of 1959, a tight-money year. Unless they can reduce what they pay on deposits, the associations say, they cannot afford to cut their lending rates on home loans.

The Navy Department was created April 30, 1798.

Woman Gets Probation In Stabbing

Mrs. Martha Ophelia Giguiere, 29, accused of feloniously stabbing her boy friend at their San Rafael home on Washington's birthday, got off with a simple assault conviction yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

With the agreement of victim John Robert Oliveira, 33, Deputy Dist. Atty. Thomas T. Storer moved for dismissal of the felony charge when Mrs. Giguiere pleaded guilty to simple assault.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson put her on probation for six months and gave her a seven-day jail term, which she has already served. She must also appear in court on March 29 for another review of the case.

Drunken Drivers Fined By Judge

Two men were fined yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for their first drunken driving offenses.

Joseph Ervin Dean, 31, of San Francisco was fined $184 and put on six months probation by Judge Joseph G. Wilson. Dean was arrested after an accident on Highway 101 just north of San Rafael last Nov. 5.

Carleton Williams, 45, an Independent-Journal reporter who lives on Boardwalk No. 1, Larkspur, drew a $210 fine and six months probation. Williams was stopped on Tamalpais Avenue in Corte Madera on Jan. 20.

Catharine the Great was the first person in Czarist Russia to be inoculated against small pox.

Two Persons Suffer Hurts In Mishaps In San Rafael

Two persons were injured in separate traffic accidents in San Rafael yesterday.

J. Paul Oppenheim, 18, of 65 Morning Sun Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, was treated for a bruised ankle and cheek at San Rafael General Hospital.

The youth was driving a Eubanks Florist delivery truck east on Canal Street about 5:30 p.m. As he made a left turn onto Medway Road, he collided with a car driven by Lawrence D. Clark, 16, of 55 Dolores Street, San Rafael, who was southbound on Medway.

Officer L. A. de Lisle Jr. said Clark may have been blinded by the sun.

Mrs. Mona D. Brooks of 620 Arthur Street, Novato, complained of back pains after her car was rammed from the rear by an auto driven by Mrs. Neva W. Lindsey of 165 Via Lerida, Greenbrae, as Mrs. Brooks was stopped for a red light eastbound on Fourth Street at B Street at 4 p.m. She said she would see her own doctor.

Firemen In Tiburon Will Mark Streets

Tiburon volunteer firemen will begin marking the streets in front of fire hydrants for faster identification this month, it was decided at last night's meeting, according to president Allen A. Olson.

Volunteers will also mark distances between hydrants at each hydrant, Olson said.

A TRAIL OF TRAGEDY

Pair Jailed After Children Die In Nightmare Journey

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — In the summer of 1958 Kenneth Dudley, his wife, Irene, and six of their children left Syracuse, N.Y. in a battered sedan. They headed south to join a carnival.

Dudley—a sometime mechanic, junk dealer and odd-jobs worker—hoped to repair midway rides. His wife, when she could get the job, would sell tickets.

But the gypsy journey became for the Dudley youngsters a nightmare of hunger, horror and death.

Five of them died before the family's continent-spanning meanderings ended Feb. 10 with the parents' arrest for neglect leading to the death of the fifth child, Carol Ann, 7.

Yesterday the charge became more serious. Hanover County, Va., where police say Carol Ann died of malnutrition, exposure and neglect, issued warrants charging Dudley, 47, and his wife, 44, with murder.

Carol Ann's emaciated body, wrapped in an old blue blanket, was discovered Feb. 9 in woods near Lawrenceville in southside Virginia. She died, according to police, Feb. 1 or 2 and was kept in the back seat of the Dudley's dilapidated car until her body was placed in the woods by her mother Feb. 6.

But, said a state police investigator, E. M. Lloyd, the poverty, hunger and death had started long before Carol Ann's demise—in fact only four months after the Dudleys left Syracuse with the six children.

Statements by Dudley and police investigation, Lloyd said, have showed this is what happened:

Near Baldwin, Fla., on Nov. 17, 1958, death claimed the first of the youngsters, Claude, 3. His body was wrapped in a blanket and deposited in an abandoned mine pit Nov. 18 or 19 near Lakeland, Fla.

The Dudleys, now carrying their family around in an old panel truck for which they had swapped the sedan, were heading east from California in December, 1959, when two other children died.

Norman, 10, died Dec. 23 in Phoenix, Ariz.; Charles, 8, two days later—Christmas Day—in the same city.

The Dudleys kept on driving east and south, and, police said, waited until about Jan. 1 to dispose of the boys' bodies.

Then they wrapped them in blankets, weighted the human cargo, and tossed the dead boys into Lake Pontchartrain in Louisiana.

Debbie, 3, was next-to-youngest of the children, and the next to go. She died at Gary, W.Va., May 21, 1960. Six days later, Dudley wrapped her body in a blanket and left it in the woods off a highway near Jenkins, Ky.

The only child of the Dudleys to survive the nightmare journey is Christene, 2. She was with the couple when they were arrested Feb. 10 at Fuquay Springs, N.C., a day after the discovery of Carol Ann's body. She is now in a foster home in Lawrenceville.

Mrs. Dudley is in jail in Lawrenceville. Her husband is in the State Penitentiary in Richmond, where he was transferred recently after attempting suicide.

The Dudleys, married in 1934, are known to have had 10 children. Christene and two married daughters who live in Fayetteville, N.Y., are all who now survive.

CRITICALLY ILL — Addie Darling Avery, the "golden girl" who attracted nationwide attention with her hula routines with Purdue Universtiy's marching band at Purdue football games, was in critical condition today in a Lafayette, Ind., hospital after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage. (AP Wirephoto)

Man Gets Jail Term For False Fire Alarms

Lawrence Oliver Farnham, 22, of Glenwood Avenue, Ross, who pulled three false fire alarms in San Anselmo on Feb. 4, must spend 15 days in jail and make restitution for cost incurred by firemen who went on wild goose chases.

Judge Harold J. Haley also put Farnham on three years supervised probation and ordered him to seek psychiatric treatment.

United Fund Splits Up $205,704 Among 14 Marin County Agencies

Fourteen Marin agencies were allocated a total of $250,704 from receipts of the 1960 United Crusade last evening by directors of the Marin United Fund, meeting at Redwood High School.

The allocations were recommended by a joint San Francisco-Marin budget committee, and made from pooled funds of the two counties raised in the campaign plus about 1 per cent from fund reserves.

"Since campaign returns were slightly lower than in the previous year, most agencies will receive slightly less than their prior year's allocation," said Aubrey Burns, spokesman for the directors. "Some agencies with special problems, however, will receive the same amount as before or slightly more."

Allocations to Marin agencies yesterday, with the amounts allocated to the same agencies last year shown in parentheses, are as follows:

Catholic Social Service, $18,927 ($18,000); Legal Aid Society, $1,682 ($874); Family Service Agency, $30,000 ($27,550); Marin Aid to Retarded Children, $806 ($815); Boy Scouts, $47,454 ($48,000); Camp Fire Girls, $19,300 ($19,500); Catholic Youth Organization, $13,160 ($13,300); Girl Scouts, $20,875 ($21,100); YMCA, $14,350 ($14,500); YWCA, $3,500 (not in Marin Crusade last year); Marin Jewish Community Center, $6,875 ($6,950); Marin Council of Community Services, $15,221 ($14,584); St. Vincent's School for Boys, $7,420 ($7,500); Sunny Hills, $6,134 ($6,200).

Of these, only the Marin Council of Community Services finances virtually its entire budget from Crusade funds.

Last year, the Marin United Fund allocated money also to five other agencies: The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, Bay Area Urban League, Children's Home Society and United Service Organizations. This year their allocations came directly from the United Bay Area Crusade, rather than through the Marin United Fund. The UBAC pools some funds raised in the counties included in it.

Elected last night to the board of directors (to replace Ed Grundstrom Jr., resigned) was Jack J. Craemer of Greenbrae.

The 1960-61 admissions and allocations committee was discharged with thanks, and a new committee to serve was appointed by Harry J. Cooper Jr., president of Marin United Fund, and confirmed by the directors. Thirteen of these were reappointments, while nine were new appointments.

Reappointed were Donald Kreps of San Anselmo, chairman; Patrick Byrne of Mill Valley, vice chairman; Samuel D. Archibald of Kentfield, Mrs. Alan Conner of Sausalito, Mrs. Eugene E. Crawford of Mill Valley, Mrs. John A. Ericson of Belvedere, Mrs. George Gustafson of Mill Valley, Mrs. Robert Kettenbach of Belvedere, Marion Marks of San Rafael, Mrs. H. D. Rothrock of San Anselmo, Dr. John C. Siemens of Kentfield, and Rex Silvernale and Guido Todaro of San Rafael.

New appointees are Mrs. Herbert Baum of Larkspur, Richard Clarke, Jordan Dell-'Era and James M. Fletcher of San Rafael, Leland H. Jordan of Fairfax, Dr. Russell R. Klein of Kentfield; Dr. Samuel N. Le Count of Lagunitas, Mrs. Joel Nemschoff and Robert A. Smallman of Kentfield.

Byron Leydecker, who will be chairman of the 1961 Marin County campaign in the fall, spoke briefly on plans to enlist and organize agency volunteers.

S.F. Fireman Treated For Head Injuries

Joseph T. Curley, 44-year-old San Francisco fireman, of 353 Miller Creek Road, Marinwood, was treated at San Rafael General Hospital today for bruises about the head.

He was found semi-conscious at 1:15 a.m. lying on the sidewalk at Fourth Street and Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael. He was released after treatment

Larkspur Passes Law On Garbage Collection

By 4-to-1 vote, the Larkspur City Council last night passed a law making weekly garbage and rubbish collection mandatory.

Voting against the measure, which was opposed by two families of gardeners, was Councilman Daniel Allen. He said he felt "the opposition made sense."

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm C. Smith of 160 Marina Vista wrote a detailed letter last week opposing the plan and saying they used all vegetable waste as compost in their gardens.

Also appearing last night was John A. Kauscha of 15 Wiltshire Avenue, who said both he and his wife were "over 70 years of age and eat accordingly."

All their waste vegetable matter goes into their garden and their tin cans flattened and taken to the dump, Kauscha said.

Councilmen indicated amendments to the law would likely be made at the March 15 meeting to take care of such exceptions.

City Manager Ronald A. Piper was instructed to draw up a contract with Marin Sanitary Service, which has the city garbage franchise. The law will go into effect in 30 days. Rates will be set according to the number of cans and the height of homes above a "base zone" set at Magnolia Avenue and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

For a single 30-gallon can at the level of the base, the rate would be $1.60 monthly. It would go as high as $2.60 in the highest sections of the city.

In other action last night, the council:

1. Approved expenditure of $25 annual dues for the city planning commission membership in the Marin County Planning Council.
2. Set March 15 to discuss recommendations of the planning commission regarding its reorganization.
3. Set May 3 to consider rezoning of the Garden Spot Nursery at 1144 Magnolia Avenue again.
4. Authorizes printing of 100 copies of city manager's annual report.
5. Approved splitting of a sewage assessment district on Boardwalk No. 1 The property, formerly owned by Norman Clark, has recently been subdivided and sold. The action divides the assessment district payments between the new owners.
6. Accepted city manager's report that renovatoin of the Helen Martin property at 328 Madrone Avenue was progressing slowly.
7. Appointed Councilman Lesly A. Daveler to draft a resolution setting forth the city's position on encroachment on city rights of way.
8. Appointed Councilman Allen to attend a meeting of the selection committee to appoint a successor to the late Mayor Arthur Kanzee of Ross on the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District board.

A $1,100,000 vote of confidence for the SAN RAFAEL HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT

As a resident within the San Rafael High School District you voted to let the district issue school bonds. This was your vote of confidence in the area the district serves.

Bank of America and its associated investment dealers demonstrated the same confidence in buying the bonds—giving the district the money it needs for improved educational facilities.

Interest rates on the bonds were decided by competitive bidding—a procedure required by law to obtain the lowest average interest rate for the taxpayer under current bond market conditions. Interest rates also reflect the credit rating of your district.

We, at Bank of America, bid on nearly all municipal bonds issued in the State. We're particularly proud to play a key role in the development of the San Rafael High School District.

One thing that gives us confidence is that you and your neighbors wisely recognize the demonstrated truth: good schools benefit all citizens — those with and without children alike. The quality of a community parallels the quality of its schools. This is reflected in property values through the years.

You may be interested in buying San Rafael High School District Bonds as a personal investment. They offer the advantage of tax exempt income and are available in denominations of $1,000. You can purchase these bonds through your local Bank of America branch—or contact our Municipal Bond Department in San Francisco or Los Angeles.

NEW ISSUE: $1,100,000 San Rafael High School District, Marin County, California, 5%, 4%, 2¾%, 3% and 3¼% 1960 School Bonds, Series B. These bonds are being reoffered to investors to yield from 2.00% to 3.30%, according to maturity 1964–1979. These bonds are offered when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to approval of legality by our attorneys, a copy of whose legal opinion will be printed on each bond. A circular relating to these bonds is available from Bank of America. Names of other underwriters will be furnished on request.

The Dudleys, now carrying their family around in an old panel truck for which they had swapped the sedan, were heading east from California in December, 1959, when two other children died.

Norman, 10, died Dec. 23 in Phoenix, Ariz.; Charles, 8, two days later—Christmas Day—in the same city.

The Dudleys kept on driving east and south, and, police said, waited until about Jan. 1 to dispose of the boys' bodies.

Then they wrapped them in blankets, weighted the human cargo, and tossed the dead boys into Lake Pontchartrain in Louisiana.

Debbie, 3, was next-to-youngest of the children, and the next to go. She died at Gary, W.Va., May 21, 1960. Six days later, Dudley wrapped her body in a blanket and left it in the woods off a highway near Jenkins, Ky.

The only child of the Dudleys to survive the nightmare journey is Christene, 2. She was with the couple when they were arrested Feb. 10 at Fuquay Springs, N.C., a day after the discovery of Carol Ann's body. She is now in a foster home in Lawrenceville.

Mrs. Dudley is in jail in Lawrenceville. Her husband is in the State Penitentiary in Richmond, where he was transferred recently after attempting suicide.

The Dudleys, married in 1934, are known to have had 10 children. Christene and two married daughters who live in Fayetteville, N.Y., are all who now survive.

CRITICALLY ILL — Addie Darling Avery, the "golden girl" who attracted nationwide attention with her hula routines with Purdue Universtiy's marching band at Purdue football games, was in critical condition today in a Lafayette, Ind., hospital after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage. (AP Wirephoto)

Man Gets Jail Term For False Fire Alarms

Lawrence Oliver Farnham, 22, of Glenwood Avenue, Ross, who pulled three false fire alarms in San Anselmo on Feb. 4, must spend 15 days in jail and make restitution for cost incurred by firemen who went on wild goose chases.

Judge Harold J. Haley also put Farnham on three years supervised probation and ordered him to seek psychiatric treatment.

United Fund Splits Up $205,704 Among 14 Marin County Agencies

Fourteen Marin agencies were allocated a total of $250,704 from receipts of the 1960 United Crusade last evening by directors of the Marin United Fund, meeting at Redwood High School.

The allocations were recommended by a joint San Francisco-Marin budget committee, and made from pooled funds of the two counties raised in the campaign plus about 1 per cent from fund reserves.

"Since campaign returns were slightly lower than in the previous year, most agencies will receive slightly less than their prior year's allocation," said Aubrey Burns, spokesman for the directors. "Some agencies with special problems, however, will receive the same amount as before or slightly more."

Allocations to Marin agencies yesterday, with the amounts allocated to the same agencies last year shown in parentheses, are as follows:

Catholic Social Service, $18,927 ($18,000); Legal Aid Society, $1,682 ($874); Family Service Agency, $30,000 ($27,550); Marin Aid to Retarded Children, $806 ($815); Boy Scouts, $47,454 ($48,000); Camp Fire Girls, $19,300 ($19,500); Catholic Youth Organization, $13,160 ($13,300); Girl Scouts, $20,875 ($21,100); YMCA, $14,350 ($14,500); YWCA, $3,500 (not in Marin Crusade last year); Marin Jewish Community Center, $6,875 ($6,950); Marin Council of Community Services, $15,221 ($14,584); St. Vincent's School for Boys, $7,420 ($7,500); Sunny Hills, $6,134 ($6,200).

Of these, only the Marin Council of Community Services finances virtually its entire budget from Crusade funds.

Last year, the Marin United Fund allocated money also to five other agencies: The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, Bay Area Urban League, Children's Home Society and United Service Organizations. This year their allocations came directly from the United Bay Area Crusade, rather than through the Marin United Fund. The UBAC pools some funds raised in the counties included in it.

Elected last night to the board of directors (to replace Ed Grundstrom Jr., resigned) was Jack J. Craemer of Greenbrae.

The 1960-61 admissions and allocations committee was discharged with thanks, and a new committee to serve was appointed by Harry J. Cooper Jr., president of Marin United Fund, and confirmed by the directors. Thirteen of these were reappointments, while nine were new appointments.

Reappointed were Donald Kreps of San Anselmo, chairman; Patrick Byrne of Mill Valley, vice chairman; Samuel D. Archibald of Kentfield, Mrs. Alan Conner of Sausalito, Mrs. Eugene E. Crawford of Mill Valley, Mrs. John A. Ericson of Belvedere, Mrs. George Gustafson of Mill Valley, Mrs. Robert Kettenbach of Belvedere, Marion Marks of San Rafael, Mrs. H. D. Rothrock of San Anselmo, Dr. John C. Siemens of Kentfield, and Rex Silvernale and Guido Todaro of San Rafael.

New appointees are Mrs. Herbert Baum of Larkspur, Richard Clarke, Jordan Dell-'Era and James M. Fletcher of San Rafael, Leland H. Jordan of Fairfax, Dr. Russell R. Klein of Kentfield; Dr. Samuel N. Le Count of Lagunitas, Mrs. Joel Nemschoff and Robert A. Smallman of Kentfield.

Byron Leydecker, who will be chairman of the 1961 Marin County campaign in the fall, spoke briefly on plans to enlist and organize agency volunteers.

S.F. Fireman Treated For Head Injuries

Joseph T. Curley, 44-year-old San Francisco fireman, of 353 Miller Creek Road, Marinwood, was treated at San Rafael General Hospital today for bruises about the head.

He was found semi-conscious at 1:15 a.m. lying on the sidewalk at Fourth Street and Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael. He was released after treatment

Larkspur Passes Law On Garbage Collection

By 4-to-1 vote, the Larkspur City Council last night passed a law making weekly garbage and rubbish collection mandatory.

Voting against the measure, which was opposed by two families of gardeners, was Councilman Daniel Allen. He said he felt "the opposition made sense."

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm C. Smith of 160 Marina Vista wrote a detailed letter last week opposing the plan and saying they used all vegetable waste as compost in their gardens.

Also appearing last night was John A. Kauscha of 15 Wiltshire Avenue, who said both he and his wife were "over 70 years of age and eat accordingly."

All their waste vegetable matter goes into their garden and their tin cans flattened and taken to the dump, Kauscha said.

Councilmen indicated amendments to the law would likely be made at the March 15 meeting to take care of such exceptions.

City Manager Ronald A. Piper was instructed to draw up a contract with Marin Sanitary Service, which has the city garbage franchise. The law will go into effect in 30 days. Rates will be set according to the number of cans and the height of homes above a "base zone" set at Magnolia Avenue and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

For a single 30-gallon can at the level of the base, the rate would be $1.60 monthly. It would go as high as $2.60 in the highest sections of the city.

In other action last night, the council:

1. Approved expenditure of $25 annual dues for the city planning commission membership in the Marin County Planning Council.
2. Set March 15 to discuss recommendations of the planning commission regarding its reorganization.
3. Set May 3 to consider rezoning of the Garden Spot Nursery at 1144 Magnolia Avenue again.
4. Authorizes printing of 100 copies of city manager's annual report.
5. Approved splitting of a sewage assessment district on Boardwalk No. 1 The property, formerly owned by Norman Clark, has recently been subdivided and sold. The action divides the assessment district payments between the new owners.
6. Accepted city manager's report that renovatoin of the Helen Martin property at 328 Madrone Avenue was progressing slowly.
7. Appointed Councilman Lesly A. Daveler to draft a resolution setting forth the city's position on encroachment on city rights of way.
8. Appointed Councilman Allen to attend a meeting of the selection committee to appoint a successor to the late Mayor Arthur Kanzee of Ross on the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District board.

A $1,100,000 vote of confidence for the SAN RAFAEL HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT

As a resident within the San Rafael High School District you voted to let the district issue school bonds. This was your vote of confidence in the area the district serves.

Bank of America and its associated investment dealers demonstrated the same confidence in buying the bonds—giving the district the money it needs for improved educational facilities.

Interest rates on the bonds were decided by competitive bidding—a procedure required by law to obtain the lowest average interest rate for the taxpayer under current bond market conditions. Interest rates also reflect the credit rating of your district.

We, at Bank of America, bid on nearly all municipal bonds issued in the State. We're particularly proud to play a key role in the development of the San Rafael High School District.

One thing that gives us confidence is that you and your neighbors wisely recognize the demonstrated truth: good schools benefit all citizens — those with and without children alike. The quality of a community parallels the quality of its schools. This is reflected in property values through the years.

You may be interested in buying San Rafael High School District Bonds as a personal investment. They offer the advantage of tax exempt income and are available in denominations of $1,000. You can purchase these bonds through your local Bank of America branch—or contact our Municipal Bond Department in San Francisco or Los Angeles.

NEW ISSUE: $1,100,000 San Rafael High School District, Marin County, California, 5%, 4%, 2¾%, 3% and 3¼% 1960 School Bonds, Series B. These bonds are being reoffered to investors to yield from 2.00% to 3.30%, according to maturity 1964–1979. These bonds are offered when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to approval of legality by our attorneys, a copy of whose legal opinion will be printed on each bond. A circular relating to these bonds is available from Bank of America. Names of other underwriters will be furnished on request.

CITY SPONSORSHIP?

Youths, Councilman Differ On Teen Club

Two teen-agers "took on" Councilman Joseph E. Sheeks at the Mill Valley City Council meeting last night in debating the advantages of city sponsorship of the Mill Valley Teens organization.

Following discussion, Vice Mayor George Blackwell asked City Manager A. E. Almcrants for recommendations and set the matter over to March 15. Mayor Robert D. Huber was absent.

Dr. P. R. Danford, adviser to the Mill Valley Teens, asked that the city sponsor two dances a month through June under supervision of City Recreation Director Ronald R. Samet. Then, if all went well, the city would be asked to continue its sponsorship.

He said it would cost the city nothing and would mean "the kids would have a place to go when basketball games were let out instead of to drive-ins or hanging out on the streets."

Said Councilman Sheeks: "You've got a successful, going program. Keep it that way. Why should we take it over? People always want to get things into the hands of the government."

James Hall, senior president of the club, said one advantage would be to provide more organized activities for teen-agers especially in the summer.

"We're not trying to dump this program," said Dr. Danford." We intend to supervise it. I think the city should be happy to get such aprogram."

Sheeks countered: "I think the city has a lot more places to spend its money than to take care of things of this sort which can be taken care of by private individuals.

"We have had no cooperation from teen-agers in trying to do something about that intersection at Tamalpais High School. We had to get a guard down there to take care of traffic. In addition, Safeway has a continual problem with vandalism and litter.

"It seems the duty of responsible citizens . . . to show a responsibility to the community . . . to show they want to act like adults so they can be treated like adults."

Redheaded teen-ager Larry Hamilton fired back: "That's a narrow viewpoint, I think. What you speak of applies to a minority of the teen-agers."

"The same thing came about when they said 'why have a city manager. "Why can't private people do this,'" said Recreation Director Samet. "They don't have the learning to do it."

"You have said the wrong thing," said Sheeks. "This is illustrative of an attitude that the city owes us dances and owes us that it should take over these things and run them. I think it is up to young people who are on the verge of taking over these responsibilities to show some symptoms of adulthood.

"I think Mr. Sheeks is making a major issue out of a little thing," said young Hall. He said he works at Safeway and has not noticed much litter. "And I'll tell you another thing," he said to Sheeks, "If you're not going to help us, you will have more and more hotrods running up Miller Avenue.

Junior Music Auditions Slated For March 11

Auditions for the annual concert of the Marin Junior Music Club will be held at 1 p.m. March 11 in Olney Hall at the College of Marin, Kentfield.

Members who have performed at least twice on the monthly programs will be given prefence. Performances for the March meeting can be arranged through Mrs. Nancy Cook, 252 Arias Street, San Rafael.

'I'M PRISONER IN LICENSE PLATE FACTORY'

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Mrs. Lynn Roberts of the Utah Automobile Assn. opened an envelope to turn over license plates to a customer.

There were two stamped plates inside and a blank upon which was scrawled: "Help us . . . John Turner is holding us against our will, and has made slaves out of us making these license plates."

John Turner is Utah State Prison warden. He said it was a prank by some inmates in the shop at the prison which makes Utah's license plates.

Kentfield Home Looted By Thief

A thief slipped into a Kentfield home last night and stole about $350 worth of household appliances, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Victim is Daniel Romano, 40, a commercial artist living at 18 McAllister Avenue.

He told Deputy Sheriff Arthur Wiggins he and his family were gone from about 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. They returned to find the following missing radios, a shaver, an electric toaster, a coffee maker, a record player, luggages, a clock, two bottles of liquor and some clothing. The thief had apparently slipped in through an unlocked side door.

Mill Valley Council Approves Amendment To Zoning Law

The Mill Valley City Council last night voted 4-0 to amend the city zoning ordinance to provide two new lot size classifications—one for 15,000 and one for 30,000 square feet.

Mayor Robert D. Huber was absent on business.

Present lot classifications are 7,500, 10,000, 20,000 and one acre.

The council last year tabled a proposal for the new lot size classes with the predominant feeling being that the new categories might result in a flood of applications for rezoning.

The council also:

1. Heard that Councilman George D. Monardo would go to Sacramento today to meet with Blackland Richards, chief of the State Division of Small Craft Harbors, to push for Mill Valley's $300,000 small craft harbor loan.

2. Authorized a contract with the Municipal Data Processing Inc. of Los Angeles for mechanical processing of assessment bonds; total cost, including $337 installation, for first year is $517 and cost will be 30 cents per year per bond in following years.

3. Adopted a resolution of intention to abandon a portion of Dot's Lane. Public hearing will be April 6.

4. Heard a letter from Mrs. Dianne Spayd of Native Daughters of the Golden West saying the organization will present a California Bear Flag to the city in ceremonies at 1 p.m., March 12 at the city hall.

5. Announced that the Marin Council of Mayors will meet March 29 in the Municipal Golf Clubhouse.

6. Was informed by County Planning Director Mary Summers, in a letter, that the county planning staff has no time in immediate future to review the North Ridge Master Plan.

7. Voted 3-0, Councilman Monardo abstaining, that City Manager A. E. Almcrants should recommend an architect to the Mill Valley Men's Golf Club to prepare drawings for the improvement to the golf pro shop.

8. Voted 4-0 to employ planning consultant Robert Cornish to end of fiscal year on a part-time basis at $8 an hour.

31 Hurt In Blasts At Chemical Plant

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Three explosions in a chemical wash house rocked the big Ethyl Corp. plant today, injuring 31 workers.

An Ethyl spokesman, reached at the plant, said six men were sent to city hospitals, and 25 others were treated at the plant medical center. He said as far as he could determine there were no deaths.

About 3,000 workers are employed in the big chemical center.

The first explosion destroyed the brick two-and-one-half-story wash house, used to take impurities out of various chemicals.

Bricks rained over a wide area.

J. D. Adams, an iron worker in the plant, said two or three men usually worked in the wash house.

"Everybody was told to get out," he said. "They were afraid of more explosions."

Adams said the men really started moving when the second explosion occurred. A third blast followed about five minutes later as workers ran the mile or so to safety.

A big, yellowish cloud spread over the area. A plant spokesman said what fumes there were drifted westward across the Mississippi River, away from the population area.

Only emergency traffic was allowed to go through the area which is the heart of the big petro-chemical plants. The plants extract various chemicals from petroleum.

Litchfield Finds Case Dismissed

Irving (Whitey) Litchfield, operator of Bermuda Palms Motel, marched into Marin Municipal Court today with briefcase and all, prepared to fight charges that he had failed to make required payments to the welfare fund of his employees.

But he learned that the charges had been dismissed Monday on the recommendation of a deputy district attorney, and the prospective jurors had been called off.

"Why don't they notify me it's been dismissed?" Litchfield stormed. "I'm here, all ready to go to trial." Litchfield had chosen to act as his own lawyer.

"I'm innocent and they know it. That's why they dropped it," he declared.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Hadden Roth said he appeared before Judge Harold J. Haley on Monday to have the case dropped because the controversy is a civil one rather than criminal. Roth said his investigation showed that the employees' welfare fund trustees had been engaged in a long controversy with Litchfield over such matters as uniforms, meals, benefits, and wages, as well as welfare fund payments.

"The alleged failure to pay into the welfare fund, we found, is inseparably a part of the over-all controversy," Roth said.

Litchfield declared he has already overpaid $800 into the employee welfare fund. "I'm strongly in favor of unionism," he asserted, "but I will fight dictatorship."

Deputies Stop Fight By Women

Two sheriff's deputies stopped an unscheduled slugfest between two women from Fairfax in front of Hamilton Air Force Base main gate early today.

Doloris Santos, 38, of 219 Scenic Road and Pauline Edith Randall, 31, of 155 Olema Drive were both jailed on suspicion of assault and battery. Miss Santos was also suspected of being intoxicated.

Shortly after 3 a.m. today, Deputy Sheriffs Edward Levine and Arthur Wiggins spotted the two arguing in their car. With them was an airman whom they were taking back to the air base. Officers broke up round one and told Miss Randall to drive the other woman home.

They drove northward.

A few minutes later, the officers spotted the two women slugging it out inside their car parked on the other side of the highway. The deputies broke up round two and took the women to jail.

They were to appear in municipal court this afternoon.

County Bill Collector Budget Set At $14,040

Creation of the office of county bill collector for Marin County probably would entail a first-year budget of $14,040, Auditor-Controller Leon A. deLisle says in a special report to be presented to the board of supervisors next week.

In last year's budget there was a recommendation by the county administrator that there be a collector under the auditor, with a salary figure of $6,660 and a total budget of $7,860.

The report expresses belief that study will disclose that such a position isn't ordinary but involves "auditing or research, knowledge of the various codes, county policies, investigation traveling and interviews, and of almost equal importance, appearance, understanding and ability to meet the public.

"Schooling by the county counsel for a reasonable period," the report adds, "should be expected before this individual would be prepared to go into the municipal court on his own."

The suggested budget provides "salary $600 or $700" or around $7,500 a year, secretary or stenographer-clerk at $350 totaling $4,200, assigned car and maintenance $670 each, and $1,000 worth of equipment for the first year.

The pamphlet-bound 53-page report includes a legislative consultant's report terming collector "the unsung hero in the county dollar crisis." It was made by Jack M. Merelman before the California County Collectors Assn.

DeLisle said Marin County is "the only county, to my knowledge, proposing a central county program."

DeLisle said present billing cost of $5.62 per bill means that the county lost $5,125 by billing a sample group of bills under $50 net valuation, with billing for a total of $1,432.98, if everybody paid as billed.

County Tax Collector M. F. Donohue's report to the auditor on the 1960-61 fiscal year gave a total of $49,493.72 in unpaid tax claims, plus claims for $3,695.33 filed in bankruptcy cases.

Benefit Probed In Watsonville

WATSONVILLE (AP) — City Manager C. W. Masonheimer didn't mind the belated salute to the red, white and blue—but he figures the method was off-color.

Masonheimer says he was impressed that 200 men attended a benefit show Saturday to help erase the city's deficit from the last Fourth of July.

But he demanded a police investigation yesterday of reports the show included gambling, drinking and three dancing girls who wore nothing but high heels and earrings.

'WORTH A TRY'

Solon Seeks Refund On Text Purchases

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A state legislator pressed action today on possible refunds totaling "millions of dollars" on California textbook purchases.

In the meantime, Assemblyman Glenn E. Coolidge (R-Felton) sought speedy passage of a bill to prevent eastern publishers from charging California an extra 5 per cent for "transportation and marketing" on high school texts.

Coolidge complained the freight differential, based on 1929 legislation, discriminates against the publishers' biggest customer. He said it amounted to $350,000 for 1959-60 alone and could involve millions over the past 31 years.

At his request, the legislative analyst's office began an investigation to determine whether the state has any basis for trying to get its money back.

"It's doubtful that we'll find anything," Coolidge said, "but it's certainly worth a try in view of the amount at stake."

He said he found that California has been paying more than the difference in freight rates between, say, this state and Texas.

"We're in a position where we should expect as favorable or perhaps more favorable treatment than any other state," he said, "because we are the largest purchaser of textbooks.

"The reverse has been true."

Chairman Richard T. Hanna (D-Garden Grove) called for a study to determine the justification for the 5 per cent charge.

"If we are being discriminated against, all efforts should be made to put an end to it," he said.

Coolidge said publishers had state law changed in 1929 to write in the "transportation and marketing" provision on contracts for high school textbooks.

He said he intended to apply the ban on elementary texts as well, although most of these are printed by the state from plates leased from the publishers.

'WORTH A TRY'

Solon Seeks Refund On Text Purchases

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A state legislator pressed action today on possible refunds totaling "millions of dollars" on California textbook purchases.

In the meantime, Assemblyman Glenn E. Coolidge (R-Felton) sought speedy passage of a bill to prevent eastern publishers from charging California an extra 5 per cent for "transportation and marketing" on high school texts.

Coolidge complained the freight differential, based on 1929 legislation, discriminates against the publishers' biggest customer. He said it amounted to $350,000 for 1959-60 alone and could involve millions over the past 31 years.

At his request, the legislative analyst's office began an investigation to determine whether the state has any basis for trying to get its money back.

"It's doubtful that we'll find anything," Coolidge said, "but it's certainly worth a try in view of the amount at stake."

He said he found that California has been paying more than the difference in freight rates between, say, this state and Texas.

"We're in a position where we should expect as favorable or perhaps more favorable treatment than any other state," he said, "because we are the largest purchaser of textbooks.

"The reverse has been true."

Chairman Richard T. Hanna (D-Garden Grove) called for a study to determine the justification for the 5 per cent charge.

"If we are being discriminated against, all efforts should be made to put an end to it," he said.

Coolidge said publishers had state law changed in 1929 to write in the "transportation and marketing" provision on contracts for high school textbooks.

He said he intended to apply the ban on elementary texts as well, although most of these are printed by the state from plates leased from the publishers.

A Division of Highways spokesman said replacement of pipe with cable is now standard practice in fence repair jobs to eliminate just such hazards. (Independent-Journal photo)

FIRE-DARTS THROWN

Marin Man Watches Rioting Of Cairo Mob

A Mill Valley philosopher saw Cairo mobs throw fire-darts at the Belgian Embassy and smash windows of the U. S. Information Agency because of anger over Congo developments.

But Sam Lewis, "good will ambassador," also reported in a letter to the Independent-Journal today that "the bazaars are buzzing—they don't want to lose trade, and friends."

"Even close associates of Nasser admit there is no ground for criticizing the U.S.A. for its stand in the Congo," Lewis asserted.

Lewis wrote his impressions in a letter mailed from Aden, southern Arabian port, on his way to West Pakistan after a stay in Cairo.

Describing the episode of the fire-darts, Lewis said that some took effect on the Begian Embassy.

"There were police around, chiefly to see that they did not harm other buildings," he wrote. "There were some smaller boys but few adults. At the pension I was told that these boys had been given a recess from school for this very purpose and perhaps the ring-leader had received a bribe.

"An hour later they turned on the American Embassy and first smashed all the windows at the USIA library, then the embassy buildings in general. The police came this time, but too late to save the glass.

"Pictures reveal that the mobs consisted almost entirely of lads. Smaller boys gladly join their big brothers without knowing what it is all about. There are comparatively few adults in the pictures I have seen nor did I see many adults in this, or in other 'riotous' crowds. Indeed all the riots were well ordered."

Port Said, wrote Lewis, was mobbed just before his arrival.

"But to substantiate that there is little popular support in anti-American demonstrations," he said, "the main street has a huge sign in English: 'Gamel Abdul Nasser, you have gone mad.'"

Lewis paid his respects to "hypothetical, metaphysical pablum that passes for Near East culture in many of our institutions" and said that "in the midst of an Arabian culture, authors prefer to consult European 'authorities' for their (mis)information than interview Arabs."

At least six Arabs should be found to lecture on Near East culture in the United States, according to Lewis. He said he had been told Arabs would accept jobs but there are no offers though "we must have Zionist and European experts."

American should "stop 'people-to-people' programs without meeting the people," declared Lewis.

Assignments Due Novato Citizens

Eight citizen committees aiding in study of a master plan for Novato are expected to get specific study assignments early next week.

The assignments, by Mrs. Mary Summers, county planning director, will include recommendations on how the committees should go about making decisions on items ranging from industry to recreation.

Last night, 42 committee members heard a discussion of the Novato shopping area in another of a series of weekly meetings at Novato High School. Five more of the public informational sessions are scheduled.

LUCREZIA KEMPER
Advertising Woman of Year

Tot Starts Blaze In Novato Home

Three-year-old Bobby Goodro got hold of his mother's cigarette lighter early today and started fires which burned bedding, singed floors and walls in two rooms of their Novato home and charred boxes of clothes. He was untouched by flames.

Novato firemen were called at 6:36 a.m. to help Vern Goodro put out the flames in his home at 808 Wilmac Avenue. Mrs. Goodro awoke to smell smoke and see flames. Goodro took a garden hose to the fire.

Walls and floors in the boy's room and in the front room of the home were scorched. Boxes of clothing and household goods where the fire apparently started were burned. The couple had moved into the home only a few days ago.

Clerk Short Changed

George Hoyle, owner of Rutherford's Pharmacy at 68 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley, reported to police that yesterday at 3:45 p.m. his clerk, Marsha Stellman, was short changed in a $20 trick by two artists of the trade.

Advertising Club Honors Sausalitan

Mrs. Luncrezia Kemper of 75 Sunshine Avenue, Sausalito, was named "San Francisco Advertising Club Woman of the Year" yesterday for her work in advertising and related fields.

A plaque was presented to Mrs. Kemper at a luncheon meeting of the club at the Sheraton Palace Hotel in San Francisco yesterday by the chairman of the selection committee.

A longtime member of the club, Mrs. Kemper is vice president of the financial advertising agency Albert Frank-Guenther Law, Inc., and is the only woman in the country holding such a position. She is credited with "putting the human touch into financial advertising."

Mrs. Kemper originated a 1954 municipal bond advertising campaign which was illustrated, and was first to use pictures in financial advertising though now this practice has been copied throughout the United States.

She was credited with pushing through the idea of the first school to teach women how to buy securities, put into effect by a San Francisco firm which now has 94 such schools in its other branches and which has been copied by other securities firms.

Mrs. Kemper was active in service work during World War II and she was one of the founders of Guide Dogs for the Blind, serving as director for 12 years. She has participated in work of the Sausalito Citizens Council and helped establish the routing of Highway 101 over Waldo Grade rather than thorugh the city.

23.8-Cent Terra Linda Recreation Tax Looms

A preliminary 1961-62 budget calling for a tax rate of 23.8 cents per $100 assessed valuation was worked out by the directors of the Terra Linda Recreational District last night.

Chairman Walter Fairweather said the tax rate would raise approximately the full amount of the $10,000 budget.

It was the first budget worked out by the recreation district which was created at an election on Oct. 5. The district has the power to tax up to 25 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The preliminary budget includes $7,000 for recreation, $600 for administration, $500 for expenses of the $233,000 bond issue election which is scheduled to be held sometime after the annexation to San Rafael election, and $1,900 for the general fund.

Fairweather said that although the tax money would not be raised until the November, 1961, and April, 1962, the board hoped the county would advance a portion of it after July 1, the start of the next fiscal year. Currently the recreational district is operating on $2,600 transferred from the recreation fund of the Terra Linda Community Services District.

The next step will be public hearings on the budget which will probably be held in April and May, Fairweather said.

In the future, the board will meet in the community building on Del Ganado Road.

SAYS CHESSMAN LIED

Check Suspect Denies He Was 'Red Light Bandit'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A house painter who returned to California voluntarily to face bad check charges says Caryl Chessman lied when he tried to shift the "Red Light Bandit" title to him.

Chessman, known as the "Red Light Bandit," was executed in the San Quentin Prison gas chamber last year. Before his execution he tried to throw suspicion on the house painter, Charles Terranova, 39.

Chessman acquired the title because he was accused of using a car with a red light to stop couples and then kidnap and sexually abuse the women.

Terranova arrived from El Paso, Tex., last night to surrender on bad check charges.

Terranova said he only saw Chessman three times. "The last time I saw him," he said, "was when I was waiting arraignment here in Los Angeles. Chessman and I were in the bullpen at the Hall of Justice.

"Chessman came up to me and said he was going to inject my name into his case to cause confusion.

"I objected violently, but Chessman just laughed."

Dark Has Things Humming At Camp

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Man, this guy Alvin Dark runs a ball club as though he's been doing it all his life.

The new San Francisco Giants skipper keeps things humming. Everybody works every minute they're on the training field. The Giants train two hours a day. Dark figures nobody is over-extending himself in that period. But he wants full effort for those two hours and he's getting it.

The quiet, intense Dark has a purpose.

"He wants a pennant this year," said Orlando Cepeda. "That's what he told us in the very first meeting."

Dark, one of the finest halfbacks in Louisiana State history, knows just one way to work—straight toward the goal.

HE'S ENCOURAGING

The players say he's direct, but understanding. He is demanding, but encouraging.

The Giants still are working on fundamentals. Their first intra-squad game isn't scheduled until next Thursday and Dark is concentrating on little things that mount in importance during regular season games.

Little things like bunting. Everybody is bunting this spring.

Larry Jansen, the team's new pitching coach, is all for the idea.

"You know," he said, "there was one year when Leo Durocher was managing the Giants that he flashed me a bunt signal during a game. At that moment, I suddenly realized I had not bunted all year."

There won't be any excuses for fellows who aren't able to bunt this season.

Dark has the Giants practicing base running, teaching them how to pick up instructions from the coaches while running at top speed. That, he hopes, will eliminate players running with their heads down and right into a certain tag.

NO PROFANITY

And there's something else going on here that's especially unusual—a remarkable lack of profanity.

Dark, a deeply religious man who doesn't swear, wouldn't take credit for that development.

Tam, Redwood Stars Win Cage Honors

The names "Conrad Hoetger, Tamalpais," and "Herb Schreiber, Redwood," were added to the Marin County Athletic League's basketball "Prep of the Week" honor roll today.

They were head and shoulder above the rest of the field last Friday in the league's final week of action in pacing their teams to victory.

Hoetger shattered to smithereens the league's single game scoring record when he poured 33 points through the mesh in Tam's 72-52 triumph over Novato. The previous league record was 27 points.

ONE MAN GANG

Schreiber, meanwhile, was a one-man gang on defense in leading Redwood to its 39-33 win over San Rafael. His all-around performance was credited by Coach Dick Hart as the real reason the Giants tamed the Bulldogs for the league championship.

Each "Prep of the Week" will receive a certificate from the Independent-Journal and Radio KTIM.

Stanford '9' Triumphs

STANFORD (UPI)—Stanford's baseball team scored 15 runs in the first three innings and went on to a 17-3 romp over University of Pacific yesterday.

Mariners Favored In Cage Playoffs

Coach Cal Riemcke packs up his 13 College of Marin Tars tomorrow afternoon and motors to Sacramento where tomorrow night they will tangle with the Shasta College Knights for the right to represent the Golden Valley Conference in next week's California Junior College Basketball Championships.

Marin and Shasta wound up in a tie for the championship last Friday night and will meet on the neutral American River College court at 8 p.m. tomorrow to untangle the tie.

Marin is rated the favorite off its convincing 62-45 victory over Shasta the last time the two met in regular conference play. In the first meeting, Shasta prevailed 55-48.

Riemcke admitted his Tars should be favored, but cautioned: "The last time we played Shasta one of their stars, Larry Johnson, was out of action with a leg injury. He's mended now, so they'll be at full strength."

In that last meeting, a breeze for Marin, Lynn Livie, Ron Blum and Dale Aman led the assault. They've been the big scoring punch ever since, Riemcke stated.

In Shasta's first 55-48 win over Marin, at Redding, the Tars missed 11 first half foul shots. "We haven't been that cold since then," the Tar coach explained.

Winner tomorrow night will travel to Santa Maria next week for the state tournament March 9-10-11.

Marin's squad includes Blum, Livie, Dale Aman, John Blomquist, Ernie Bray, Mike Rawitser, Mike Gaffney, Russ Zappetini, Rich Laumeister, El Cartio Barnes, Bob Hobdy, Denny Aman and Steve Stover.

Braves Blase During 1960, Boss Claims

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Milwaukee Braves lost the 1960 National League pennant because they came up with too little too late.

That's the opinion of General Manager Johnny McHale, who claims the Braves had a "blase attitude" and believed bad luck cost them the 1959 pennant.

"I wouldn't call it complacency because when you say that you indict too many players," said McHale. "I'd call it lack of singularity of purpose. I'd say it was being too professionally blase.

"Even up to Sept. 1," McHale concluded, "I don't think the players realized they were behind Pittsburgh. They thought they didn't win the pennant in 1959 because of an unfortunate break. Last year they found out that in 154 games breaks don't win pennants.

"The veterans on the club have a lot of pride and they're determined to win this time."

LOPEZ SIGNS

The New York Yankees, meanwhile, reported "all signed" when Hector Lopez agreed to terms for an estimated $20,000. Lopez, who batted .284 and for some periods was the Yankees' most effective hitter last season, set a .300 goal for himself this year.

"I think I improved as an outfielder last year," said Lopez. "I have a lot more confidence than at this time last year.

Rookie infielder Jerry Adair, counted on to be a general utility man, signed with the Baltimore Orioles. Manager Paul Richards already is referring to Adair as "my insurance man." He hit .266 for Miami last year.

Other camp notes: Roberto Clemente remained the only missing Pirate as the world champions prepared for today's six-inning intro-squad game . . . Second-baseman Don Blasingame slashed balls cleanly to all fields during San Francisco Giants workout and indicated he will rise well over his .235 batting mark of 1960 . . . Pitcher Camilo Pascual expected "within a day or two" at Minnesota Twins' camp, according to President Cal Griffith.

CARDS DELIGHTED

St. Louis Cardinal Manager Solly Hemus delighted at sight of Walt Moryn, hard-hitting outfielder who reported at 200 pounds—some 25 lighter than his weight of last season . . . Manager Mickey Vernon predicted that old pro Gene Woodling will play at least 120 games for the Washington Senators this year . . . The Chicago Cubs were moanin' and groanin' when hard-throwing right-hander Bob Anderson uncovered a speed-up delivery so early in the spring.

President Walter O'Malley announced the Los Angeles Dodgers have purchased a four engine Electra jet, which will relieve O'Malley of about $2.8-million walking around money . . . Duke Snider surprised Dodger officials when he weighed only 195 pounds—his lowest spring figure since 1949 when he weighed 189.

Mays Reviews 10 Years In Majors; First Hit Rates As Biggest Thrill

HANLEY

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Willie Mays finds it difficult to believe he now is a 10-year man in the majors, all of them with the Giants.

"Actually I won't be a 10-year man for a couple of months," said the $85,000 center fielder. "It was in May, 1951, that the Giants brought me up from Minneapolis."

Mays had been slugging at a .477 clip at Minneapolis, but went hitless in his first 12 trips to bat in the Polo Grounds. Then he got his first major league hit. It was a homer off Warren Spahn.

"That has to be the biggest thrill of the past 10 years—my first hit," said Mays. "I was pretty down when I got it. But there were real good pros on that '51 club. Al Dark and Eddie Stanky helped me a lot. I knew how to play baseball but I didn't know the fundamentals."

As for the manager, Leo Durocher, of the 1951 pennant winning Giants, Mays will always be grateful for the Lip's patience and guidance. Now that Durocher is back in baseball with the Dodgers as third base coach, Mays will expect him "to get on me."

"But I won't pay him no mind," said Willie. "If he did not get on me he wouldn't be Leo."

WHO WAS the toughest pitcher for Mays when he first came up? Don Newcombe and then Robin Roberts. And now? "Drysdale—man, I hate to hit against him," Mays said. I used to feel the same about Sam (Jones) and I'm glad he's on our side now."

Ten years ago most pitchers used a fast ball and curve and some also had a knuckler but now, according to Mays, "everyone also seems to have a good slider."

Mays hasn't detected any set pattern of pitching to him. "They don't pitch me any one way," he said. "I wish they did. They pitch me all over."

THE ONLY player he ever tried to copy was Joe DiMaggio but he had no success with DiMaggio's wide batting stance. "Maybe it was because he was taller than me," said Mays.

Is he doing anything different or does he feel any different since his rookie days of a decade ago? "I'm just doing it better, I think. And I guess I feel a little wiser."

Does the game still hold the same zest for him and what about the spring training grind? "Not to me," said Mays. "I look forward to training every year. Especially this year with all that snow back home."

Mays then emphasized his feeling for the game this way:

"When I first came up I remember one writer asked me what baseball was like and I told him: 'It's like driving through a beautiful park and getting paid for it.'

"IT'S AS MUCH fun for me as then. I love it. If I ever stopped loving the game it would get real hard."

Before his playing days are over Mays hopes to become the next $100,000 ball player. "If I have a good year, maybe I can work up to it."

Blaser Like Old Self At The Plate

PHOENIX (UPI)—Second-baseman Don Blasingame, whose slump hurt the San Francisco Giants last year, appears ready for a comeback.

The former St. Louis Cardinal came to the Giants last winter after hitting .289 for the Birds. His average skidded to .235 and he dropped in runs scored, double plays, and just about every other criterion of performance.

But the little infielder slashed a succession of line drives to all fields during yesterday's drill. Observers suggested he looked sharper at the plate than he did any time last season.

The Giant power brigade also put o na strong show with Willie Mays, Willie McCovey, Felipe Alou, Harvey Kuenn and Bob Schmidt slamming homers off good pitches thrown by Jack Sanford and Juan Marichal.

San Jose Powerful In Spring Sports

SAN JOSE (UPI)—San Jose's football team has had its woes in recent years, but the Spartans are a growing power in every spring sport.

This was again demonstrated yesterday when the San Jose swimmers defeated favored Stanford, 56-39. It was the first swim victory over Stanford in history and was the fifth straight win for the Spartan mermen.

Bears Blank S.F. State

BERKELEY (UPI) — The University of California baseball team boasted a 5-0 record today.

The Bear nine outslugged San Francisco State 6-3 yesterday. Three runs in the bottom of the seventh broke open the contest.

MAJOR LEAGUE TRAINING CAMPS

Here's a map showing the three sections of the country in which the 18 major league teams are training for the 1961 season. See story below on outlook of the American League race.

New Look In American Loop, But Yanks Favored, As Usual

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI)—American League fact sheet, spring edition:

Everything is bigger but not necessarily better in the American League this year. There'll be 10 clubs instead of the historic eight and not one but two races—one for the top and one for the bottom.

Vast changes have occurred since the last putout of 1960 as new teams in Los Angeles and Washington plucked a roster of expendables from the other clubs and the old Washington team shifted to Minneapolis-St. Paul. But no matter how thin you slice 'em, one story never changes.

YANKS, AS USUAL

The New York Yankees, as usual, are the team to beat in the race for the top.

In the duel for the depths, it's the "old" Kansas City Athletics against the "babies"—Los Angeles Angels and the new Washington Senators.

Casey Stengel and many of Stengel's ways are gone from the Yankees in the new managerial regime of Ralph Houk . . . in addition to the expendables, Yanks have lost veteran Gil McDougald by retirement and reliever Bobby Shantz, sold to Pittsburgh . . . club picked up Danny McDevitt (0-4) from Dodgers to help relief corps . . . Yanks led in home runs by margin of 43 with 193 last year, are tops in slugging percentage, led league in pitching by a shade over Baltimore . . . outfielder Roger Maris won most valuable player award with Mickey Mantle close second . . . Houk plans to use Ryne Duren as a starting pitcher, will platoon only in emergencies.

Baltimore, second last year, added outfielders Chuck Essegian (from Los Angeles) and Russ Snyder (from A's) but counts most on youngsters who did so well last year . . . shortstop Ron Hansen was 1960 rookie-of-the-year and the only others who got votes were Oriole pitcher Chuck Estrada (18-11) and first baseman Jim Gentile (.292) . . . Gene Woodling (to Senators) was biggest loss in the rummage sale to stock new clubs . . . Orioles were league's best road club last year, tops in one-run games with 35-19 record . . . pitchers allowed fewest homers.

White Sox added pitching with Cal McLish (from Reds) and Juan Pizarro from Milwaukee . . . led league in hitting with .270 last year but short on power . . . ace pitcher Early Wynn, a slumper last year, becomes a 20-year man late this season . . . reliever Frank Baumann was tops in earned runs at 2.68 . . . Manager Al Lopez looks for comeback from pitcher Herb Score . . . Sox were best in winning extra-inning games and the best "owls" with a 46-30 record in night games.

WILL MISS KUENN

Cleveland dealt for pitcher Johnny Antonelli and outfielder Willie Kirkland of San Francisco, but gave up Harvey Kuenn . . . Indians had league's second best club batting average last year, but were sixth in pitching and gave up the most homers.

Detroit has a new manager in Bob Scheffing, received infielder Chuck Cottier and outfielder Bill Bruton in a Milwaukee deal that cost them Frank Bolling . . . Minneapolis-St. Paul essentially the same club that finished a surprising fifth at Washington last year . . . Boston has leading hitter Pete Runnels (.320) and Jackie Jensen comes out of retirement . . . but Ted Williams quit and that's that . . . Boston's Vic Wertz leads league in career grand slam homers (9) and led pinch hitters with .556 last year . . . Kansas City has new manager in Joe Gordon and general manager in Frank Lane . . . Lane is starting his shuffle already.

POWERFUL ANGELS

New Los Angeles club has a power edge over new Senators with Bob Cerv, Ted Kluszewski and Ken Aspromonte on roster . . . Woodling is Washington's No. 1 boy in a pretty fair outfield . . . but both newcomers sadly lack front line pitching.

Ball parks in both new cities have adequate dimensions . . . but the sluggers may turn the Los Angeles version of Wrigley Field into a new homer heaven . . . Detroit saw most homers last year, total of 163.

LIKE SHRINE GRID GAME

North-South Prep Cage Classic Planned In S.F.

San Francisco will have a basketball version of Los Angeles' North-South Shrine football game this summer, providing the California Interscholastic Federation sanctions the proposed all-star cagefest.

The event will be sponsored by the City's Police Athletic League Boosters' Club and has been tentatively scheduled for University of San Francisco or Kezar Pavilion, Friday night, June 30.

The event will be contested by the top recently graduated basketball players from the state's northern and southern sections, with Bakersfield serving as the dividing line.

Each team will have nine men.

The cagers and coaches—one for each squad—will be selected by sportswriters in mid-April.

Proceeds of the game will be earmarked for the PAL's many youth programs, according to Tom O'Connor, president of the Boosters' Club.

O'Connor currently is in the process of drafting a letter to the aforementioned CIF, requesting permission to stage the program.

As a result of a recent NCAA amendment, all such games must have CIF sanction. The latter organization will take the matter up when its executive council meets in San Diego, March 27.

Providing the CIF flashes the green light and if the contest is successful, the police plan to move it into the mammouth Cow Palace in 1962.

After noting that more than 85,000 fans turned out for the Shrine's football classic a few years ago, O'Connor said he "just can't see any reason why we won't be able to fill USF (capacity 6,000) or Kezar (5,000)."

"We're going ahead with our plans," he continued, "with the assumption that the CIF will approve. That way, we'll be ready to roll at a moment's notice when the time comes for action in early April."

MARIN CHAMPS TO BE FETED AT BANQUET

Phil Woolpert, former coach of the University of San Francisco's two-time national basketball champions, will be the guest speaker, according to Benchwarmer President Ned Griffith.

S.F., L.A. Pitch For National Hockey League

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Los Angeles and San Francisco, which don't always see eye-to-eye, are working together to get national hockey leagues to the two cities.

Mayor Norris Poulson of Los Angeles and San Francisco Mayor George Christopher met yesterday with Los Angeles County Supervisor Warren Dorn and agreed to notify the hockey league the cities would like franchises if the circuit expands to six teams.

"We got major league baseball by both cities working together and we can get major league hockey the same way," said Dorn.

PLAYER OF YEAR

Lucas Heads A.P. All-America List

NEW YORK (AP)—Jerry Lucas of Ohio State's top-ranked and unbeaten Buckeyes, is college basketball player of the year.

His selection, announced today by the Associated Press, provided a double honor within a few hours for the 6-8 whiz, who is expected to lead the Buckeyes to their second straight national collegiate NCAA championship later this month.

Tarlier, Lucas had been named to the 1961 collegiate All-America by The AP along with Tom Stith of St. Bonaventure, Terry Dischinger of Purdue, Roger Kaiser of Georgia Tech and Chet Walker of Bradley.

Lucas dominated the voting by 395 sportswriters and broadcasters from every section of the United States. He missed by only 13 points of getting the maximum 1,975 points based on five points for each first team vote. He received 392 first team votes for 1,960 points. This, plus two points for a second team vote, gave him a grand total of 1,962 points. Only two voters failed to mention him on their ballot.

Lucas, a junior and the only repeater from the 1960 All-America, was followed in the voting by Stith, a 6-5 senior whose play has made St. Bonaventure a national power. Stith polled 358 first team votes and an over-all total of 1,848.

OTHER VOTES

Dischinger, a 6-7 junior, received 280 first team votes and 1,540 points. Kaiser, a senior and at 6-1 the smallest player on the first team, got 138 first team votes and 894 points. Walker, a 6-6 junior, polled 807 points, including 109 firsts.

Walt Bellamy of Indiana, Tony Jackson of St. Johns, N.Y., Frank Burgess of Gonzaga, Billy McGill of Utah and Doug Moe of North Carolina were named to the second team. Art Heyman of Duke, York Larese of North Carolina, John Rudometkin of Southern California and John Havlicek and Larry Siegfried of Ohio State comprise the third team.

The 15 players on the first three teams will receive certificates from the Associated Press. In addition, Lucas will receive a special certificate as player of the year.

Russ Athletes Like Our U.S. Hospitality

NEW YORK (AP)—The three-man Soviet track group that arrived here 17 days ago decided today it had been treated royally during its visit.

AAU chief Dan Ferris promptly breathed a long sigh of relief.

It was the white-haired Ferris who had to make all the arrangements for high jumper Valery Brumel, broad jumper Igor Ter-Ovanesyan, miler Evgemy Momotkov, plus a coach and an interpreter.

"We are very grateful for the fine way we have been received" said Brummel, who has beaten America's John Thomas in both their meetings. They go against each other again tomorrow in the Knights of Columbus meet in Madison Square Garden, then head for home Saturday.

"Yes," agreed Leonid Khomenkov, Ferris' Soviet counterpart, "I only hope we can treat the Americans as well when they come to Moscow this summer."

Neither Brumel nor Khomenkov speak English, so their remarks were made through an interpreter.

QUICK QUIP

But Ter-Ovanesyan, always quick with a quip, does speak English.

"I've had so much chicken here," he grinned, "that you'd think I was trying to learn how to fly instead of broad jump."

This was strictly an AAU deal, not any part of the State Department's cultural exchange program.

"I think," said Ferris, "there was nothing they wanted to do that they didn't do. They had enough entertainment every day to keep them occupied.

"Most of the money came from the sponsors of the three meets in which they participated—The New York A.C., the National AAU and the Knights of Columbus. It was all handled through us."

Title Fight TV Tickets On Sale In San Rafael

Tickets for the closed circuit telecast of the Floyd Patterson - Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title fight March 13 at the Richmond Auditorium are on sale at the Elite Barber Shop in San Rafael.

The Richmond Auditorium will be one of approximately 200 movie houses and arenas carrying the action direct from ringside at the Miami Beach Convention Hall through facilities of TelePrompter Corporation.

There is no home telecast of the fight.

Baseball Signups At Strawberry School

Strawberry Little League will signup players for the 1961 season on March 10, 6 to 9 a.m., at Strawberry Point School, it was announced today.

Servicemen's Fishing

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill to allow the armed forces to take fish and game out of season during survival training courses has been introduced in the legislature.

The bill was proposed in the senate yesterday by Sen. Charles Brown, D-Shoshone, and appeared certain to run into difficulty from sports groups, who have always opposed exceptions to hunting and fishing season laws.

CALM BEFORE THE STORM

Looking peaceful, but not for long, are middleweight champion Gene Fullmer (right) and challenger Sugar Ray Robinson as they met yesterday with the Nevada Boxing Commission, discussing finer points of their title fight Saturday night in Las Vegas. Both fighters wanted white trunks and they also disagreed on size of gloves to be used. Fullmer wants eight ounce mitts while Robinson favors six-ouncers. Nevada rules call for eight ouncers. (AP Wirephoto)

Fullmer Will Slug It Out With Sugar

LAS VEGAS Nev. (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson couldn't knock out Gene Fullmer with his best punch, Fullmer's manager declared today.

"It may be a little dangerous to say that," Marv Jenson admitted, "but Gene has lost respect for Robinson's punches."

Jenson might have been thinking of a previous occasion, on which such a loss of respect resulted in a loss of consciousness for the bullish champion from Utah.

"Yeah, that's what happened when Ray knocked Gene out in Chicago in 1957," Jenson said. "But Gene feels that was a lucky punch, because he was moving in fast and supplied a lot of force himself."

Whether Jenson's theory stands up depends simply on whether Fullmer stays standing up Saturday night when he defends his NBA middleweight title against the 40-year-old challenger at Las Vegas Convention Center.

When Robinson and Fullmer fought to a 15-round draw in Los Angeles last December, Jenson said, Robinson nailed Gene with some magnificent punches in the fourth and eleventh rounds. "I think Robinson shot everything he had," Jenson said, "and Gene wasn't even dazed.

"This time he really wants to get in there and trade punches."

INGO'S PROBLEM

Tax Problems Plague Great Sports Stars

NEW YORK (UPI)—One of the fight crowd figured out Joe Louis could have earned 100 million dollars if he'd been fighting in this era of television.

"Yeah," answered a cynic, recalling Joe's painful problems with the tax collectors, "then he'd have owed Uncle Sam a hunnert and two million in taxes and penalties."

It's the way of the modern world for prize fighters to take more whacks on the whiskers for Uncle Sam than for themselves and the plight of Ingemar Johansson, who hopes to become heavyweight champion of the Internal Revenue Service, is common among high-pay athletes, actors, singers and other get-rich-quicksters.

Johansson and the income tax people have a slight difference of opinion over whether Ingo owes some $598,181.92 on various pots he collected for fighting Floyd Patterson twice and for certain appearances as a television entertainer.

FAST BUCK

The average guy slaving over his income tax forms these days may find it hard to bleed for Ingo, who came over from Sweden a couple of years ago in search of big money—and found it.

Johansson's well - planned Swiss tax set-up had the local mob green with envy, but if it's legal he's entitled to all the loot he can keep. If not, he'll get his bill.

Taxes, however, kept at least three world champions fighting long past their time.

Tax troubles brought Louis out of retirement and on to an ultimate unhappy ring ending.

Taxes kept Ezzard Charles making the rounds after he'd obviously had it as a fighter.

And Saturday night out in Las Vegas, Sugar Ray Robinson fights Gene Fullmer for a piece of the middleweight championship eight years after he first announced his retirement. After being out of action for two seasons, Sugar Ray found there wasn't enough left, after taxes, to live in the high-style to which he had become accustomed.

Even a careful character like Rocky Marciano has had comeback ideas, though in recent months Rocky's business ventures reportedly have been taking a turn for the better and the comeback talk has ceased.

There frequently has been raised a great cry for tax relief for short-career "artists," including athletes, and we're all for it if some genius can figure out a way so the difference wouldn't be added to our own tax bill.

MONEY MOOD?

But what matters to most of us now is whether Johansson will turn moody over money and make a poor fight against Patterson at Miami Beach, Fla., March 13 or whether he'll be a tiger for the same reason and stretch out the young champion for the second time with the "toonder" in his right fist.

Ingo has a high regard for the American dollar but, in the first Patterson fight at least, he was able to divorce business and legal squabbles from his ring activity.

Unless a favorable settlement is reached before ring time, the heavyweight championship of the world may be decided by a mood and how can you guess whether Ingo will be tabby or tiger?

MAJOR LEAGUE TRAINING CAMPS

Here's a map showing the three sections of the country in which the 18 major league teams are training for the 1961 season. See story below on outlook of the American League race.

New Look In American Loop, But Yanks Favored, As Usual

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI)—American League fact sheet, spring edition:

Everything is bigger but not necessarily better in the American League this year. There'll be 10 clubs instead of the historic eight and not one but two races—one for the top and one for the bottom.

Vast changes have occurred since the last putout of 1960 as new teams in Los Angeles and Washington plucked a roster of expendables from the other clubs and the old Washington team shifted to Minneapolis-St. Paul. But no matter how thin you slice 'em, one story never changes.

YANKS, AS USUAL

The New York Yankees, as usual, are the team to beat in the race for the top.

In the duel for the depths, it's the "old" Kansas City Athletics against the "babies"—Los Angeles Angels and the new Washington Senators.

Casey Stengel and many of Stengel's ways are gone from the Yankees in the new managerial regime of Ralph Houk . . . in addition to the expendables, Yanks have lost veteran Gil McDougald by retirement and reliever Bobby Shantz, sold to Pittsburgh . . . club picked up Danny McDevitt (0-4) from Dodgers to help relief corps . . . Yanks led in home runs by margin of 43 with 193 last year, are tops in slugging percentage, led league in pitching by a shade over Baltimore . . . outfielder Roger Maris won most valuable player award with Mickey Mantle close second . . . Houk plans to use Ryne Duren as a starting pitcher, will platoon only in emergencies.

Baltimore, second last year, added outfielders Chuck Essegian (from Los Angeles) and Russ Snyder (from A's) but counts most on youngsters who did so well last year . . . shortstop Ron Hansen was 1960 rookie-of-the-year and the only others who got votes were Oriole pitcher Chuck Estrada (18-11) and first baseman Jim Gentile (.292) . . . Gene Woodling (to Senators) was biggest loss in the rummage sale to stock new clubs . . . Orioles were league's best road club last year, tops in one-run games with 35-19 record . . . pitchers allowed fewest homers.

White Sox added pitching with Cal McLish (from Reds) and Juan Pizarro from Milwaukee . . . led league in hitting with .270 last year but short on power . . . ace pitcher Early Wynn, a slumper last year, becomes a 20-year man late this season . . . reliever Frank Baumann was tops in earned runs at 2.68 . . . Manager Al Lopez looks for comeback from pitcher Herb Score . . . Sox were best in winning extra-inning games and the best "owls" with a 46-30 record in night games.

WILL MISS KUENN

Cleveland dealt for pitcher Johnny Antonelli and outfielder Willie Kirkland of San Francisco, but gave up Harvey Kuenn . . . Indians had league's second best club batting average last year, but were sixth in pitching and gave up the most homers.

Detroit has a new manager in Bob Scheffing, received infielder Chuck Cottier and outfielder Bill Bruton in a Milwaukee deal that cost them Frank Bolling . . . Minneapolis-St. Paul essentially the same club that finished a surprising fifth at Washington last year . . . Boston has leading hitter Pete Runnels (.320) and Jackie Jensen comes out of retirement . . . but Ted Williams quit and that's that . . . Boston's Vic Wertz leads league in career grand slam homers (9) and led pinch hitters with .556 last year . . . Kansas City has new manager in Joe Gordon and general manager in Frank Lane . . . Lane is starting his shuffle already.

POWERFUL ANGELS

New Los Angeles club has a power edge over new Senators with Bob Cerv, Ted Kluszewski and Ken Aspromonte on roster . . . Woodling is Washington's No. 1 boy in a pretty fair outfield . . . but both newcomers sadly lack front line pitching.

Ball parks in both new cities have adequate dimensions . . . but the sluggers may turn the Los Angeles version of Wrigley Field into a new homer heaven . . . Detroit saw most homers last year, total of 163.

The FISHIN' FOOL

I-J Fish and Game Writer

Jackrabbit Drive Slated March 19; Nicasio Reservoir Future Fishery

STEVENS

In case you missed out on the rabbit hunt recently held on Grizzly Island, and wish you hadn't, you may participate in the annual jackrabbit drive being staged March 19 by the Merced National Wildlife Management Area and private landowners.

It seems a large population of hungry hares have been causing, as usual, a problem to the ranchers because of overeating on approximately 10,000 acres in the area.

The scattergunners will deploy along a four-mile front and drive in one direction for a distance of four miles. The drive is expected to start about 9:30 a.m.

Shotguns only will be allowed, no gun may be loaded until all hunters are on the firing line, and each participant must have a valid California hunting license.

There will be a guide on hand to disperse hunters along the front line of march, and he will state the rules of shooting. You must shoot only with the general forward movement and must not run forward to pick up a downed rabbit because of danger from a shooter in back of you.

WHERE POSSIBLE, the dead bunnies will be gathered behind the line of march by trucks and returned to the starting line. At that point you may retrieve as many rabbits as you figure you shot or wish to take home with you.

At the end of the drive, a free lunch will be served.

Understand, you will be allowed to shoot only jackrabbits, not cottontails or brush rabbits. Also, in case of a bad storm, the hunt may be postponed, so watch the weather.

I'VE JUST been advised that the Department of Fish and Game has scheduled a plant of 150,000 fingerling rainbow trout in the new Nicasio Reservoir this week. That's a bit of forward looking, isn't it? The reservoir is not yet completed, and fish are being planted. Should mean there will be some top flight trout fishing when the reservoir is completed and the necessary recreational facilities have been installed. I salute the F&G.

CARL BENNETT, operator of the Rodeo Marina, called to report some real action with the striped bass by skiffs and party boats. He claimed Saturday's results were the best since last October. As always, a few hopefuls pulled blanks, but close to 90 per cent made the grade with limits or near limits. Best action in the Buoy 7 area.

Seems that all, or nearly all, who got on the job early, or those who stayed late, did themselves good. One party boat, the Two Dares, found fishing slow in the a.m. and limited out for all aboard in the afternoon. One rowboat angler came in with a 31¼-pound bass, and Mel Tate and wife hooked played and landed a sturgeon that weighed in excess of 100 pounds.

Several large fish were landed but lost, according to Bennett. Oh, yes! Lots of flounders in that sector, too.

WORD FROM the Stagnaros at Santa Cruz indicate that salmon trolling, which started off with a bang, slowed down from limits and near limits to around one-half fish per rod. But the weight increased from an average of five pounds to an average of seven pounds with a top of 14 pounds, 11 ounces.

Ling cod fishing on Saturday on the Long Distance Trip to New Year Island was plenty hot . . . an average of three of the highly desired lings to each rod. Heaviest fish was 29¾ pounds.

Hub City Junior Baseball Tryouts Set This Weekend

Tryouts will be held this weekend at Memorial Park for the eighth season of play in the San Anselmo Little League and Junior League. The dates also will mark the last opportunity for boys to sign up.

League president Marston Thall said tryouts would begin at 1 p.m. both days, with Little League candidates going through their paces on Saturday and Junior Leaguers Sunday.

In each league, only those not previously assigned to a team must turn out.

Thall said a meeting of officers and directors of all three leagues — Little, Junior and Senior—is scheduled at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the San Anselmo City Council chambers.

He said adult volunteers still are needed for helping with playing fields, umpiring and coaching.

Meanwhile, parents whose boys have outgrown still serviceable baseball equipment—shoes, gloves, and so on—were urged by Thall to contact him or Municipal Recreation Director Frank Quinn.

"Each year there are youngsters who need Little League shoes or gloves," he said.

In Saturday's tryouts those eligible for Little League are boys who will be at least 10 years old and not more than 12 by Aug. 1 and who are not now assigned to either a Major or Minor team.

On Sunday, boys at least 13 but not more than 14 by Aug. 1 and not now assigned to a Junior League team will vie for assignments.

Marin Woman Bids For High Demo Job

By CHAPIN A. DAY

A Mill Valley woman and a Southern California man tangle this weekend in the first pitched battle ever fought for the presidency of the California Democratic Council.

Mrs. Nancy Swadesh of Mill Valley and Tom B. Carvey Jr. of Palos Verdes Estates will be nominated Friday night for Sunday morning election at the council's annual convention in Santa Monica.

The two candidates are not far apart in their general concept of the council. They see it as a militant, action organization, based fundamentally on the issues conference, which will be going on this week end, and needing more political action after endorsement of candidates and issues.

Both have been chairmen of the issues conference, Carvey of the first one, Mrs. Swadesh of the second. This is the third.

But other matters separate them. One of them is distance. Carvey is a department manager for the engineering division of Hughes Aircraft Co. in Culver City. Southern California Demorats need the council presidency "because that's all we've got," some of them say. If they would get together, Carvey would be elected easily, for there will be about 1,300 Southern California delegates and only about 600 from Northern California, 40 of these from Marin.

But the South is split into many factions. There is the Stevenson - Kennedy split. Some southerners (and some northerners, too) are still upset about the tangle in the California delegation at the Democratic convention last fall.

Then there's the split over Paul Ziffren, deposed Democratic national committeeman from California, replaced by Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk on Gov. Edmund G. Brown's insistence. Ziffren's supporters can't forgive Mrs. Swadesh for her vote for Mosk. Now Mosk supporters are wondering what's happening to him in the job in view of a recent statements by the governor as to his possible resignation.

Both candidates are inheriting ailments and disagreements torturing the Democratic Party's internal workings. There are power plays involving Controller Allan Cranston and Lt. Gov. Glenn Anderson. Cranston, first and long-time council president, recently failed to become a "permanent" member of the organization's ruling body.

Another split, which directly affects Mrs. Swadesh and Carvey, is the cooperation of the council with the State Democratic Central Committee. Mrs. Swadesh has always favored positive support of the administration and elected officials. Carvy declares the council "needs independence" to function effectively.

Both feel the need to "built leadership" in the organization. Carvey, who was in the north this week, points out that success of the party at the polls has removed many of its leaders from organizational work. "The CDO can not run as a one-man show, it needs a leader in each of its parts," he declares. Mrs. Swadesh agrees.

They agree, too, that the Democrats can't afford to lose California in 1962 as they did in 1960.

The delegates will have to decide Sunday which of the two is better prepared to lead efforts to assure this won't happen.

Trustees Told Reed Pupils Have High IQ

Children in Reed District schools have higher intelligence quotas than the national norm and a narrower range from top to bottom scores, Reed Union School District trustees were told Tuesday night.

The report came from Gloria Martin, district psychologist, on results of a recently completed testing program.

The Reed District Teachers Assn. salary committee asked for "greater increments for longer service to provide valuable faculty stability." Trustees Erwin C. Farley and Alice Farkas were appointed as a study committee to work with the association committee in drafting a salary schedule for the 1961-62 budget.

Reed trustees also:

1. Set March 28 the date of opening bids on the Del Mar School — and officially designated that as the new school's name.
2. Set for next Tuesday an adjourned meeting to discuss board decisions for the 1961-62 school year and appointed trustees Farkas and Leo Souza to study the location of the seventh and eighth grades.
3. Accepted with regret the resignation of Bel Aire second grade teacher Dorothy Hansen, who is moving out of the district.

Labor Appeal On Housing Cost Studied

An appeal by the Marin County Labor Council for county action to ease the cost of housing in Marin will be discussed March 14 by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The matter was brought before the board this week, but continued so more specific suggestions could be obtained.

The council voiced its view in a letter of comment on a recent survey by the Marin Industrial Development Foundation, which confirmed an earlier council complaint that many union members are unable to afford Marin housing costs and have to live elsewhere.

The letter called attention to findings in the report that some of the local high costs were attributed to government policies and interpretations, and that contractors had complained of government procedures.

With 10 to 20 per cent of construction trades members now unemployed, said the council, this could affect Marin's economy.

"This is a broad statement," said Chairman William D. Fusselman. "We should arrange a meeting

STEVENS

In case you missed out on the rabbit hunt recently held on Grizzly Island, and wish you hadn't, you may participate in the annual jackrabbit drive being staged March 19 by the Merced National Wildlife Management Area and private landowners.

It seems a large population of hungry hares have been causing, as usual, a problem to the ranchers because of overeating on approximately 10,000 acres in the area.

The scattergunners will deploy along a four-mile front and drive in one direction for a distance of four miles. The drive is expected to start about 9:30 a.m.

Shotguns only will be allowed, no gun may be loaded until all hunters are on the firing line, and each participant must have a valid California hunting license.

There will be a guide on hand to disperse hunters along the front line of march, and he will state the rules of shooting. You must shoot only with the general forward movement and must not run forward to pick up a downed rabbit because of danger from a shooter in back of you.

WHERE POSSIBLE, the dead bunnies will be gathered behind the line of march by trucks and returned to the starting line. At that point you may retrieve as many rabbits as you figure you shot or wish to take home with you.

At the end of the drive, a free lunch will be served.

Understand, you will be allowed to shoot only jackrabbits, not cottontails or brush rabbits. Also, in case of a bad storm, the hunt may be postponed, so watch the weather.

I'VE JUST been advised that the Department of Fish and Game has scheduled a plant of 150,000 fingerling rainbow trout in the new Nicasio Reservoir this week. That's a bit of forward looking, isn't it? The reservoir is not yet completed, and fish are being planted. Should mean there will be some top flight trout fishing when the reservoir is completed and the necessary recreational facilities have been installed. I salute the F&G.

CARL BENNETT, operator of the Rodeo Marina, called to report some real action with the striped bass by skiffs and party boats. He claimed Saturday's results were the best since last October. As always, a few hopefuls pulled blanks, but close to 90 per cent made the grade with limits or near limits. Best action in the Buoy 7 area.

Seems that all, or nearly all, who got on the job early, or those who stayed late, did themselves good. One party boat, the Two Dares, found fishing slow in the a.m. and limited out for all aboard in the afternoon. One rowboat angler came in with a 31¼-pound bass, and Mel Tate and wife hooked played and landed a sturgeon that weighed in excess of 100 pounds.

Several large fish were landed but lost, according to Bennett. Oh, yes! Lots of flounders in that sector, too.

WORD FROM the Stagnaros at Santa Cruz indicate that salmon trolling, which started off with a bang, slowed down from limits and near limits to around one-half fish per rod. But the weight increased from an average of five pounds to an average of seven pounds with a top of 14 pounds, 11 ounces.

Ling cod fishing on Saturday on the Long Distance Trip to New Year Island was plenty hot . . . an average of three of the highly desired lings to each rod. Heaviest fish was 29¾ pounds.

Hub City Junior Baseball Tryouts Set This Weekend

Tryouts will be held this weekend at Memorial Park for the eighth season of play in the San Anselmo Little League and Junior League. The dates also will mark the last opportunity for boys to sign up.

League president Marston Thall said tryouts would begin at 1 p.m. both days, with Little League candidates going through their paces on Saturday and Junior Leaguers Sunday.

In each league, only those not previously assigned to a team must turn out.

Thall said a meeting of officers and directors of all three leagues — Little, Junior and Senior—is scheduled at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the San Anselmo City Council chambers.

Meanwhile, parents whose boys have outgrown still serviceable baseball equipment—shoes, gloves, and so on—were urged by Thall to contact him or Municipal Recreation Director Frank Quinn.

ROUSING WELCOME HOME

Nixon Says He's Not Quitting Public Life

BEVERLY HILLYS (UPI)— Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said last night he "not retiring from public life."

The returning native son told a cheering "welcome home Dick and Pat" audience of 1,500 he presently has no plans to run but extolled "the full, exciting life in public affairs."

Nixon made only a passing reference to politics in his 20-minute, enthusiastic speech at the Beverly Hilton Hotel. He prefaced his talk with the remark that he had learned during his 14 years in Washington to speak briefly.

After a short outline of his political career—with an aside that he returned home with a larger family, a larger mortgage, "a dog, three cats and two parakeets," Nixon spoke of his future.

He admitted that private life in California would be different. His problems, Nixon stated included earning a living and seeing to the welfare of his family.

Nixon refused to be drawn into a statement directly that he would oppose Gov. Edmund G. Brown for California's leadership by stating that it was "too early" to comment on the incumbent administration.

Sharing the crowded speaker's stand in addition to Nixon, his wife and mother, Mrs. Hannah Nixon, were many civic and entertainment world leaders.

His virtues were extolled by master of ceremonies George Murphy at the Greater Los Angeles Press Club's banquet.

San Francisco's Mayor George Christopher greeted the Nixons on behalf of his own city. "We share your pride," Christopher said, "and soon will welcome Dick Nixon on a visit to San Francisco."

Christopher praised Nixon as the leader of the Republican Party not only in California but in the nation and stirringly predicted that the former vice president would be victorious in future political campaigns.

Players To Hold Tryouts Tonight

Tryouts for the Cove Players' May production of "Separate Tables" will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the rehearsal hall, at 112 Main Street, Tiburon.

John King of Sausalito will direct the play, which has parts for eight women and three men. King hopes to double the cast as was done in the New York production, and has requested that people over 40 audition.

Tryouts will also be held next Thursday at the same place and hour.

More than 1,000 patents were issued to inventor Thomas A. Edison.

House Passes Budget For Probe Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has approved a $331,000 budget for the Committee on Un-American Activities by a vote of 412-6.

The amount was just what the committee had asked to continue its investigation of communism.

Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif.) led a fight to block the funds yesterday. He said he was not against "the fundamental purposes of the committee but against some of its practices."

Rep. William Fitts Ryan (D-N. Y.), supporting Roosevelt, said the committee had "often tarred the innocent and the guilty with the same brush."

Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) chairman of the committee, told the House Roosevelt's opposition was based on "fuzzy reasoning" and failure to "comprehend, even remotely, the nature of communism."

The entrance to the Golden Gate at San Francisco is 1⅛ miles wide and 378 feet deep.

Glenwood School Subject Of Talk

Possibility of a school in Glenwood will be discussed by Frank L. Lucas, superintendent of San Rafael schools, tonight at a meeting of the Glenwood Home Owners Assn.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the Church of the Redeemer, 121 Knight Drive. Residents of Loch Lommond and the Harbor Estates are invited, according to Mrs. James Gilliland, chairman of the school committee.

A 15-acre school site was donated by the original subdivider of Glenwood, Stegge Development Co.

Masked Bandits Rob U.S. Mail In Style Of Old West's Road Agents

WEAVERVILLE (AP) — Two masked bandits who staged a daring daylight holdup of the U. S. mail in Old West highwayman style apparently have made good their escape.

"They're long gone," Trinity County Sheriff Harold J. Wilson said last night as he ordered a discontinuance of roadblocks in this sparsely settled mountain timberland of Northern California.

Also gone was the $8,500 to $10,000 in cash taken from mail truck driver Bruce Johns Wednesday on the road between Weaverville and Hayfork.

Wilson expressed belief it was a professional job. Noting that federal authorities were working on the case, he ordered resumption of routine patrols. Postal Inspector Walt Helikson of Redding and San Francisco authorities were called into the case.

The sheriff said there was no evidence a woman was involved as early reports had it.

The robbery recalled the old road agent days in this once wild and wooly west. In this area 69 years ago the two brothers named Ruggles held up a U. S. mail coach for $30,000.

They were captured and hanged by a lynch mob.

Yesterday the two men, masked by what appeared to be Army Arctic caps, flagged down Johns, alone in his mail truck, and forced him at gunpoint to drive to a secluded side road. They had a yellow pickup.

There they taped his eyes, bound him hand and foot with adhesive tape and fled with some 15 registered packages containing the cash. Johns managed to free legs and rub off his blindfold. He then walked, with his hands tied, to a ranch house.

The mail was addressed to the Hayfork Chamber of Commerce, which used it to cash individual unemployment checks. There is no bank in Hayfork. The chamber made the arrangement with a Weaverville bank so that some 150 unemployed Hayfork lumber workers could spend their money at home.

Transit Directors Honor Kanzee

Directors of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District passed a memorial resolution in honor of their late fellow-member Mayor Arthur Kanzee Jr. of Ross at their monthly meeting in San Francisco yesterday.

Kanzee had been a member of the board since its inception in 1955. The resolution was introduced by the other Marin member, Supervisor William Gnoss of Novato.

On motion of Gnoss the board adjourned in memory of Kanzee, after hearing reports.

Francine Austin Wed To Jerome Smith

The First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael was the setting for the recent wedding of Francine Stephanie Austin and Jerome James A. Smith. The bride, given in marriage by John Hirsch, wore a gown of white French marquisette and lace with chapel train. Lace appliques were on the bouffant skirt. The veil, held by a tiny bandeau, was handmade Venetian silk lace. A large white orchid centered the bride's bouquet of white camellias.

Mrs. Doran Tout (Heidi Hirsch) of San Jose, matron of honor, wore a powder blue silk lace sheath with a French roll bustle at the back. Her flowered cloche was the same color as her gown and pink camellias were in her bouquet.

The two little flower girls, Jamie and Robin Sheldon, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. David M. Sheldon Jr. of Terra Linda, wore pink and blue frocks, respectively, and matching hair bows. They carried shower bouquets of pink flowering peach blossoms and camellias.

Charles T. Thomas of San Francisco was best man and the bride's brother, Charles Austin of Terra Linda, was an usher. Rev. Wesley C. Baker officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The wedding reception took place at the San Rafael home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hirsch. The newlyweds went to Carmel for a week before taking up residence at 773 Cole Street, San Francisco.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Willis J. Carey of Terra Linda and Charles G. Austin of Fairfax, attended Immaculate Heart Convent in Hollywood and San Rafael High School. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Charlotte Conow of Clear Lake, formerly of Corte Madera, and Leonard Conow of Sebastopol.

Mrs. Sarah Smith of San Francisco is the mother of the bridegroom, who is a graduate of Polytechnic High School. He is employed by Terminix of Northern California.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Carey wore a violet flowered print sheath dress and matching flowered hat. She and the bridegroom's mother had white orchid corsages. The senior Mrs. Smith wore an aqua ensemble with white hat and accessories.

Francine Austin Wed To Jerome Smith

The First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael was the setting for the recent wedding of Francine Stephanie Austin and Jerome James A. Smith. The bride, given in marriage by John Hirsch, wore a gown of white French marquisette and lace with chapel train. Lace appliques were on the bouffant skirt. The veil, held by a tiny bandeau, was handmade Venetian silk lace. A large white orchid centered the bride's bouquet of white camellias.

Mrs. Doran Tout (Heidi Hirsch) of San Jose, matron of honor, wore a powder blue silk lace sheath with a French roll bustle at the back. Her flowered cloche was the same color as her gown and pink camellias were in her bouquet.

The two little flower girls, Jamie and Robin Sheldon, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. David M. Sheldon Jr. of Terra Linda, wore pink and blue frocks, respectively, and matching hair bows. They carried shower bouquets of pink flowering peach blossoms and camellias.

Charles T. Thomas of San Francisco was best man and the bride's brother, Charles Austin of Terra Linda, was an usher. Rev. Wesley C. Baker officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The wedding reception took place at the San Rafael home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hirsch. The newlyweds went to Carmel for a week before taking up residence at 773 Cole Street, San Francisco.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Willis J. Carey of Terra Linda and Charles G. Austin of Fairfax, attended Immaculate Heart Convent in Hollywood and San Rafael High School. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Charlotte Conow of Clear Lake, formerly of Corte Madera, and Leonard Conow of Sebastopol.

Mrs. Sarah Smith of San Francisco is the mother of the bridegroom, who is a graduate of Polytechnic High School. He is employed by Terminix of Northern California.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Carey wore a violet flowered print sheath dress and matching flowered hat. She and the bridegroom's mother had white orchid corsages. The senior Mrs. Smith wore an aqua ensemble with white hat and accessories.

DRING WATER FROM THE SEA

Australian homes will soon be using fresh water converted from sea water by means of atomic energy.

While the cost of the converted water will not be much higher than that now used in households, it still will be too expensive for irrigation purposes.

Science has made astounding strides in providing practical solutions to age-old problems of food, water, clothing, shelter and of man's other physical needs.

God has hidden countless blessings in creation. He wishes us to discover them and put them at the disposal of man during his pilgrimage to heaven.

Pray that scientists will find more and more effective ways to bring relief to many in our midst and to millions over the earth. Even now countless persons suffer from hunger, thirst, poor housing and poor health.

Help meet the staggering needs of an increasing world population and you will be truly an instrument of Him Who said:

"I was hungry and you gave Me to eat." (Matthew 25:35)

Thanks to You, O bountiful Creator, for filling the earth with heavenly blessings.

You'd Like To Live To Be 150? Better Think It Over Carefully

NEW YORK (AP) — "Fifty couples hold joint 120th wedding anniversary party. Ceremony attended by 3,000 descendants."

If you saw a headline like that in a newspaper today, you wouldn't believe it. And you'd be right not to.

But such headlines may be commonplace in next century —if a possibility held out by the Journal of the American Medical Assn. comes true.

That is the possibility that science by then will have increased life expectancy to 140 years—twice the biblical span of 70—or even more.

The esteemed AMA Journal isn't spoofing or daydreaming. It believes this prolonged longevity will automatically follow as medicine gains fresh victories over such problems as infection, cancer and degenerative diseases that now shorten most of our lives.

The prospect of making man durable enough to outlast most oak trees is fascinating to all of us, and perhaps appealing to many. To others it seems downright appalling.

Take yourself, for example. Would you like to live to be, say, 150 years old, even though you remained in fairly vigorous health until the end?

Think it over. You have to be mindful of a number of considerations.

Since the trend is toward ever more youthful marriage, you'd probably wed at 20 a girl of 17. How would you like to carry garbage out for the same woman for 130 years?

Since there is already grumbling that the present retirement age of 65 is unrealistic, it would probably be doubled. Suppose you had a dull routine job turning out widgets in a widget factory. How would you like to have to keep on doing it until you were pensioned on your 130th birthday?

Since age would be enshrined, youth would probably be both outnumbered and penalized. No matter how talented, an ambitious lad could hardly look forward to becoming a junior executive before he was 75 or a senior executive until he was 100.

BUT THE GREATEST curse would probably be one of simple boredom. Greater automation might reduce the work week down to perhaps only 12 hours, accomplished in two days.

This would give people the task of occupying five full days of leisure from the age of 21 to 150. How could they do it without going crazy?

THE END would come, most likely, when some eminent scientist would announce: "A way has at last been found to make it possible for people to live 250 to 300 years—or even longer."

Frightened at this terrible prospect of even more prolonged monotony, the earth would erupt in riot, rebellion and chaos. Some person would push a button and blow up the human world.

But in some distant sea a surviving amoeba would placidly divide itself in half—and start the whole darned business over again.

Hospital Tightened Visiting Hours

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Regarding Mrs. Neese's and Mrs. Granados' letters referring to the strict visiting privileges in the maternity section of Marin General Hospital, I would like to add my viewpoint.

I was a guest at Marin General for nine days following an emergency Caesarian section delivery in May 1957. I had a private room as I was most physically uncomfortable, and my husband was the only visitor at the request of my doctor.

However, at that time patients were permitted "several" visitors at one time. I recall one patient entertaining 14 members of her family one evening and finally the nurse insisting that they leave when she discovered one of the male visitors using the patient's toilet facilities.

Since I was quite ill, the noise resulting was most disturbing and this was not an isolated case.

Subsequently, the visiting restrictions were tightened up due to an outbreak of staph infection in the infant nursery.

Surely for the average stay of three to five days, one can put up with a little inconvenience, especially when the health of both mothers and babies is involved.

Why Must We Always Unify?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

What is this insane concept, which has struck our society and our people to incessantly work to UNIFY all governments, schools, religions, and races? Don't they know, that the strength and health of any society lies in its diversities—not in its one-ness-es?

Conformity brings only mediocrity. It is the superiorities based upon differences in our people and our sects and our organizations and our cultures, that both give us pleasure and values, and set the examples and standards to which others less gifted may aspire.

Such superiorities can only arise and exist through competition among the diverse — not through collectivism of the 'norm.'

Because we each prefer something different than someone else; because we each ARE different than another person does not rule out either co-operation or friendly relations among any of us.

If I like beets and you like corn and we both like butter on it, we can each appreciate the tastes and desires of others. But if someone makes me eat corn with my beets and you eat beets with your corn, we shall surely all learn to hate one another.

Let me know when all the churches become unified, because I shall be watching for the next inevitability to come —He, who shall dare to try to take down the cross; that cross, which already has been softened to far too humanist proportions by too many of our modernist theologians, who obviously spend more time in conferences at yes-manning their superiors, than they do in reading their Bibles to learn about this very thing they now do perpetuate upon their church.

Miller Speaks On Reapportionment

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

It was very kind of you to give me the opportunity to comment on redistricting. My answer is simply to affirm what I have said before. Whatever my backers say is their own business and their responsibility. No one has been authorized to speak for me.

I would certainly agree with Senator McCarthy who is squoted as saying that "reapportionment should not be on a political basis, but on the basis of equal population and interests." This conforms to my thinking precisely.

The task of drafting a redistricting plan for the State Legislature is being performed by the Assembly Committee on Elections and Reapportionment. Naturally, the committee will carefully consider the fact that the population of the First District is now 547,000 while the state's new average is to be 413,000. The committee will also consider community of interest as well as many other factors. This is as should be.

Morale Boosting Is Best Medicine

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

My reaction to Mrs. McAdam's reply to my letter concerning Marin General hospital was one of complete amazement.

"Crucifixion of the entire staff and Pink Lady organization" is rather a strong accusation. I had no intention of doing this and I rather doubt if one problem can have this effect on an entire hospital.

Please understand my letter was not intended as an object of revenge or any such motive. I was simply trying to point out what seems to be a problem.

If I did not think Marin General, its staff and organizations were doing a wonderful job, I would not have bothered to bring up the problem in the first place. It is not the actual rules that I do not understand, but rather their method of being carried out. A modern hospital such as this has no need of such methods.

Rules are flexible even when the good of the patient is concerned. Please bear in mind that the case of a maternity patient is not quite the same as the other patients. I am inclined to think morale boosting is sometimes their greatest medicine.

"Shall I throw the doggie a little, ma'am?" asked the hobo.

When the lady gave her condescending consent, the hobo seized the poodle by the collar and sent it sailing over a nearby hedge. "Thank you, ma'am," he said. "If the doggie comes back, I'll be happy to throw him a little more."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By DOROTHY SIMPERS

New Teaching Machines Bring Whole New Set Of Pedaguese

When a reporter has covered news of schools and education for a long time, it's easy to slip into "pedaguese" and unconsciously write the language of teachers.

We sometimes catch ourselves inserting "rehabilitate" a school building instead of "remodel" or "repair"; we "enrich" a curriculum, and make it "more meaningful." (Editor's Note: Not if we see it.)

Professional language is fine, for those in the profession, but it needs a simple translation for people not on the "inside."

WE ARE WATCHING warily a development in education that promises to add a whole new vocabulary to an already long list of pedagogical terms a reporter must interpret.

Last week Dr. George Ball, chairman of the liberal arts division and head of the department of languages at the College of Marin, gave us a glimpse into this development — the fascinating world of teaching machines.

Ball has recently attended two workshops on the subject. Teaching machines range from a $2.50 gadget to a $5,000 extremely complicated mechanism, he told the college trustees.

THE MACHINES—and here comes that new vocabulary—offter two types of ''programs" — "lineal" and "branching." In the first type, a student is taught in extremely small steps, one item at a time. He is asked a question, writes a one-word answer on a plaque, presses a button and the answer slides under a piece of glass. When he gets the right answer, the pupil can go on to the next question.

As Ball explains it, this type of program is somewhat restricted to use for factual material. Proponents of teaching machines agree that the "lineal program" is not adaptable to anything requiring "expression" on the students' part, Ball reported.

The proponents look more favorably on the "branching program." A student, with this type of machine, makes a choice after reading a short article, then is either led on to other material, or, if he is wrong, told to go back and review a certain page.

TO ILLUSTRATE this type of procedure, Dr. Ball told the story about the man who visited a psychiatrist for the first time. He found himself facing two doors, one marked "new patients" and one marked "old patients."

The man entered the door marked "new patients," and was confronted with still another choice—a door marked "you have Blue Cross" and one marked "you do not have Blue Cross." Finally he found himself in front of doors marked "income under $10,000" and "over $10,000." He entered the one marked "under $10,000" and found himself outdoors, in a parking lot.

WHAT HAPPENS to the teacher when teaching machines are brought into the schools? The machines will eliminate a lot of repetitional exercises for him, said Dr. Ball, and he will take a more profesisonal role, serving as a "clinic" to decide such questions as how fast a pupil can go.

Experiments with teaching machines are now underway in San Francisco and in Roanoke, Va. Results will be available about mid-year, Dr. Ball said.

WALTER LIPPMANN

Those Who Oppose Federal School Aid Don't Understand Problem

DESPITE SEN. Goldwater, who has just declared that Federal aid to education is "unconstitutional," the practice of Federal aid is in fact older than the Constitution. As early as the Land Ordinance of 1785, the Confederation provided that the 16th section of each township or one-thirty-sixth of the acreage in the public land states should be granted to the states by the national government for the benefit of the common schools.

Ever since the Federal union was established it has been giving aid to education in a large variety of ways, and it is sheer deception to declare that what has always been done is "unconstitutional."

WHILE FEDERAL AID has been given since the founding of the nation, what has never been done has been to set up Federal control of education. It is indeed quite contrary to American principles and practices for the Federal government to control what is taught in the public schools, how it is taught, who teaches it. The control of education is reserved to the states, and no one engaged in the present discussion is proposing to tamper with that principle. The Kennedy program is unequivocal and scrupulous in reserving to the states the control of education.

Thus in the proposed contribution to public elementary and secondary schools, the Kennedy program leaves it to each state to decide whether the Federal contribution shall be used to build schools or to raise teacher salaries. The loan program for college housing and for academic facilities is operated by local initiative. The four-year program for scholarships is to be "state-administered."

WHY, THEN, WITH such careful respect for states' rights, is it necessary to bring in the Federal government at all? The answer is that the number of children and youths who have to be educated has outgrown the resources which can be raised in a very large number of the states.

Here is the essence of the Kennedy program. It has nothing to do with the control of education. It does not propose to have the Federal government pay all the costs, supplanting the states and local cities. It does propose to supplement state and local funds with a comparatively small contribution.

THIS SUPPLEMENTARY support has become necessary because of the spectacular increase in the school population which began after the second World War and seems certain to continue for the next ten years.

The cost of educating this growing number of children is rising and will continue to rise, according to the estimates of the highly reliable and conservative Committee on Economic Development. Even if prices remain constant, even if educational standards are not raised, the costs per pupil will rise by almost half during the 'Sixties. For teacher salaries will have to rise in order to keep pace with earnings in other professions. A larger part of the pupils will be in high schools, where the cost per pupil is much higher than in the elementary schools.

As against this, state and local taxes are, are Beardsley Ruml put it, encountering stiffer resistance.

In advocating a larger use of the Federal power to raise money for education, the Administration is dealing not with some fancy theory but with the hard practical fiscal problems of the states and the localities. Those who oppose the program in principle have almost certainly not understood the problem.

DRING WATER FROM THE SEA

Australian homes will soon be using fresh water converted from sea water by means of atomic energy.

While the cost of the converted water will not be much higher than that now used in households, it still will be too expensive for irrigation purposes.

Science has made astounding strides in providing practical solutions to age-old problems of food, water, clothing, shelter and of man's other physical needs.

God has hidden countless blessings in creation. He wishes us to discover them and put them at the disposal of man during his pilgrimage to heaven.

Pray that scientists will find more and more effective ways to bring relief to many in our midst and to millions over the earth. Even now countless persons suffer from hunger, thirst, poor housing and poor health.

Help meet the staggering needs of an increasing world population and you will be truly an instrument of Him Who said:

"I was hungry and you gave Me to eat." (Matthew 25:35)

Thanks to You, O bountiful Creator, for filling the earth with heavenly blessings.

You'd Like To Live To Be 150? Better Think It Over Carefully

NEW YORK (AP) — "Fifty couples hold joint 120th wedding anniversary party. Ceremony attended by 3,000 descendants."

If you saw a headline like that in a newspaper today, you wouldn't believe it. And you'd be right not to.

But such headlines may be commonplace in next century—if a possibility held out by the Journal of the American Medical Assn. comes true.

That is the possibility that science by then will have increased life expectancy to 140 years—twice the biblical span of 70—or even more.

The esteemed AMA Journal isn't spoofing or daydreaming. It believes this prolonged longevity will automatically follow as medicine gains fresh victories over such problems as infection, cancer and degenerative diseases that now shorten most of our lives.

The prospect of making man durable enough to outlast most oak trees is fascinating to all of us, and perhaps appealing to many. To others it seems downright appalling.

Take yourself, for example. Would you like to live to be, say, 150 years old, even though you remained in fairly vigorous health until the end?

Think it over. You have to be mindful of a number of considerations.

Since the trend is toward ever more youthful marriage, you'd probably wed at 20 a girl of 17. How would you like to carry garbage out for the same woman for 130 years?

Since there is already grumbling that the present retirement age of 65 is unrealistic, it would probably be doubled. Suppose you had a dull routine job turning out widgets in a widget factory. How would you like to have to keep on doing it until you were pensioned on your 130th birthday?

Since age would be enshrined, youth would probably be both outnumbered and penalized. No matter how talented, an ambitious lad could hardly look forward to becoming a junior executive before he was 75 or a senior executive until he was 100.

BUT THE GREATEST curse would probably be one of simple boredom. Greater automation might reduce the work week down to perhaps only 12 hours, accomplished in two days.

This would give people the task of occupying five full days of leisure from the age of 21 to 150. How could they do it without going crazy?

THE END would come, most likely, when some eminent scientist would announce: "A way has at last been found to make it possible for people to live 250 to 300 years—or even longer."

Frightened at this terrible prospect of even more prolonged monotony, the earth would erupt in riot, rebellion and chaos. Some person would push a button and blow up the human world.

But in some distant sea a surviving amoeba would placidly divide itself in half—and start the whole darned business over again.

Hospital Tightened Visiting Hours

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Regarding Mrs. Neese's and Mrs. Granados' letters referring to the strict visiting privileges in the maternity section of Marin General Hospital, I would like to add my viewpoint.

I was a guest at Marin General for nine days following an emergency Caesarian section delivery in May 1957. I had a private room as I was most physically uncomfortable, and my husband was the only visitor at the request of my doctor.

However, at that time patients were permitted "several" visitors at one time. I recall one patient entertaining 14 members of her family one evening and finally the nurse insisting that they leave when she discovered one of the male visitors using the patient's toilet facilities.

Since I was quite ill, the noise resulting was most disturbing and this was not an isolated case.

Subsequently, the visiting restrictions were tightened up due to an outbreak of staph infection in the infant nursery.

Surely for the average stay of three to five days, one can put up with a little inconvenience, especially when the health of both mothers and babies is involved.

Why Must We Always Unify?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

What is this insane concept, which has struck our society and our people to incessantly work to UNIFY all governments, schools, religions, and races? Don't they know, that the strength and health of any society lies in its diversities—not in its one-ness-es?

Conformity brings only mediocrity. It is the superiorities based upon differences in our people and our sects and our organizations and our cultures, that both give us pleasure and values, and set the examples and standards to which others less gifted may aspire.

Such superiorities can only arise and exist through competition among the diverse — not through collectivism of the 'norm.'

Because we each prefer something different than someone else; because we each ARE different than another person does not rule out either co-operation or friendly relations among any of us.

If I like beets and you like corn and we both like butter on it, we can each appreciate the tastes and desires of others. But if someone makes me eat corn with my beets and you eat beets with your corn, we shall surely all learn to hate one another.

Let me know when all the churches become unified, because I shall be watching for the next inevitability to come—He, who shall dare to try to take down the cross; that cross, which already has been softened to far too humanist proportions by too many of our modernist theologians, who obviously spend more time in conferences at yes-manning their superiors, than they do in reading their Bibles to learn about this very thing they now do perpetuate upon their church.

Miller Speaks On Reapportionment

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

It was very kind of you to give me the opportunity to comment on redistricting. My answer is simply to affirm what I have said before. Whatever my backers say is their own business and their responsibility. No one has been authorized to speak for me.

I would certainly agree with Senator McCarthy who is squoted as saying that "reapportionment should not be on a political basis, but on the basis of equal population and interests." This conforms to my thinking precisely.

The task of drafting a redistricting plan for the State Legislature is being performed by the Assembly Committee on Elections and Reapportionment. Naturally, the committee will carefully consider the fact that the population of the First District is now 547,000 while the state's new average is to be 413,000. The committee will also consider community of interest as well as many other factors. This is as should be.

Morale Boosting Is Best Medicine

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

My reaction to Mrs. McAdam's reply to my letter concerning Marin General hospital was one of complete amazement.

"Crucifixion of the entire staff and Pink Lady organization" is rather a strong accusation. I had no intention of doing this and I rather doubt if one problem can have this effect on an entire hospital.

Please understand my letter was not intended as an object of revenge or any such motive. I was simply trying to point out what seems to be a problem.

If I did not think Marin General, its staff and organizations were doing a wonderful job, I would not have bothered to bring up the problem in the first place. It is not the actual rules that I do not understand, but rather their method of being carried out. A modern hospital such as this has no need of such methods.

Rules are flexible even when the good of the patient is concerned. Please bear in mind that the case of a maternity patient is not quite the same as the other patients. I am inclined to think morale boosting is sometimes their greatest medicine.

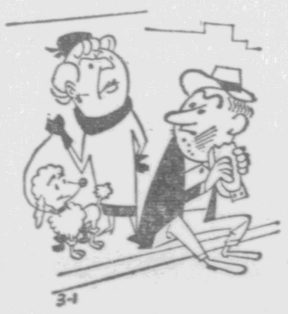
John Straley tells of a hobo who was sitting on a curbstone in a fashionable neighborhood, munching contentedly on a homemade sandwich. Along came a supercilious lady with an equally supercilious poodle. Both sniffed disdainfully — but the poodle picked up his interest when he spotted the sandwich.



"Shall I throw the doggie a little, ma'am?" asked the hobo.

When the lady gave her condescending consent, the hobo seized the poodle by the collar and sent it sailing over a nearby hedge. "Thank you, ma'am," he said. "If the doggie comes back, I'll be happy to throw him a little more."

New Teaching Machines Bring Whole New Set Of Pedaguese

When a reporter has covered news of schools and education for a long time, it's easy to slip into "pedaguese" and unconsciously write the language of teachers.

We sometimes catch ourselves inserting "rehabilitate" a school building instead of "remodel" or "repair"; we "enrich" a curriculum, and make it "more meaningful." (Editor's Note: Not if we see it.)

Professional language is fine, for those in the profession, but it needs a simple translation for people not on the "inside."

WE ARE WATCHING warily a development in education that promises to add a whole new vocabulary to an already long list of pedagogical terms a reporter must interpret.

Last week Dr. George Ball, chairman of the liberal arts division and head of the department of languages at the College of Marin, gave us a glimpse into this development — the fascinating world of teaching machines.

Ball has recently attended two workshops on the subject. Teaching machines range from a $2.50 gadget to a $5,000 extremely complicated mechanism, he told the college trustees.

THE MACHINES—and here comes that new vocabulary—offter two types of ' 'programs" — "lineal" and "branching." In the first type, a student is taught in extremely small steps, one item at a time. He is asked a question, writes a one-word answer on a plaque, presses a button and the answer slides under a piece of glass. When he gets the right answer, the pupil can go on to the next question.

As Ball explains it, this type of program is somewhat restricted to use for factual material. Proponents of teaching machines agree that the "lineal program" is not adaptable to anything requiring "expression" on the students' part, Ball reported.

The proponents look more favorably on the "branching program." A student, with this type of machine, makes a choice after reading a short article, then is either led on to other material, or, if he is wrong, told to go back and review a certain page.

TO ILLUSTRATE this type of procedure, Dr. Ball told the story about the man who visited a psychiatrist for the first time. He found himself facing two doors, one marked "new patients" and one marked "old patients."

The man entered the door marked "new patients," and was confronted with still another choice—a door marked "you have Blue Cross" and one marked "you do not have Blue Cross." Finally he found himself in front of doors marked "income under $10,000" and "over $10,000." He entered the one marked "under $10,000" and found himself outdoors, in a parking lot.

WHAT HAPPENS to the teacher when teaching machines are brought into the schools? The machines will eliminate a lot of repetitional exercises for him, said Dr. Ball, and he will take a more profesisonal role, serving as a "clinic" to decide such questions as how fast a pupil can go.

Experiments with teaching machines are now underway in San Francisco and in Roanoke, Va. Results will be available about mid-year, Dr. Ball said.

Those Who Oppose Federal School Aid Don't Understand Problem

DESPITE SEN. Goldwater, who has just declared that Federal aid to education is "unconstitutional," the practice of Federal aid is in fact older than the Constitution. As early as the Land Ordinance of 1785, the Confederation provided that the 16th section of each township or one-thirty-sixth of the acreage in the public land states should be granted to the states by the national government for the benefit of the common schools.

Ever since the Federal union was established it has been giving aid to education in a large variety of ways, and it is sheer deception to declare that what has always been done is "unconstitutional."

WHILE FEDERAL AID has been given since the founding of the nation, what has never been done has been to set up Federal control of education. It is indeed quite contrary to American principles and practices for the Federal government to control what is taught in the public schools, how it is taught, who teaches it. The control of education is reserved to the states, and no one engaged in the present discussion is proposing to tamper with that principle. The Kennedy program is unequivocal and scrupulous in reserving to the states the control of education.

Thus in the proposed contribution to public elementary and secondary schools, the Kennedy program leaves it to each state to decide whether the Federal contribution shall be used to build schools or to raise teacher salaries. The loan program for college housing and for academic facilities is operated by local initiative. The four-year program for scholarships is to be "state-administered."

WHY, THEN, WITH such careful respect for states' rights, is it necessary to bring in the Federal government at all? The answer is that the number of children and youths who have to be educated has outgrown the resources which can be raised in a very large number of the states.

Here is the essence of the Kennedy program. It has nothing to do with the control of education. It does not propose to have the Federal government pay all the costs, supplanting the states and local cities. It does propose to supplement state and local funds with a comparatively small contribution.

THIS SUPPLEMENTARY support has become necessary because of the spectacular increase in the school population which began after the second World War and seems certain to continue for the next ten years.

The cost of educating this growing number of children is rising and will continue to rise, according to the estimates of the highly reliable and conservative Committee on Economic Development. Even if prices remain constant, even if educational standards are not raised, the costs per pupil will rise by almost half during the 'Sixties. For teacher salaries will have to rise in order to keep pace with earnings in other professions. A larger part of the pupils will be in high schools, where the cost per pupil is much higher than in the elementary schools.

As against this, state and local taxes are, are Beardsley Ruml put it, encountering stiffer resistance.

In advocating a larger use of the Federal power to raise money for education, the Administration is dealing not with some fancy theory but with the hard practical fiscal problems of the states and the localities. Those who oppose the program in principle have almost certainly not understood the problem.

Mill Valley Tract Gets Green Light

The Mill Valley Planning Commission has recommended to the city council granting of planned unit development approval to Marin Capital Co. of Mill Valley for a subdivision of 52 acres.

This will be the first application in Marin County of planned unit development, which relaxes some of the rigid requirements, such as lot sizes and setbacks, of the subdivision and zoning ordinances to gain better development.

The area, Scott Highlands Unit 2, was recommended to be classified single family residential in lots averaging 20,000 square feet.

One of the exceptions that the planning commission granted to the applicant was that no sidewalks would have to be provided. However, four pedestrian easements would be provided.

The firm was asked to provide a portion of land for a park which is to conform with the park site shown on the north ridge master plan. Agreement was given to this provision.

The area is bounded by Camino Alto on the east, Corte Madera town limits on the north, the Silberberg property on the west, and Marin Municipal Water District property on the south.

At a meeting which lasted until 2:30 a.m. Tuesday, the commission also reaffirmed its position of last July 26 recommending to the city council that 15,000 and 30,000 square foot lot zones be added to the present zoning categories.

Marin Auto Dealers Comment On Early-Year Sales Trends

With the output of automobiles for the first quarter likely to be lower this year and reports from some parts of the country denoting sagging deliveries, we tried to get a reflection of the picture in Marin County during January and February.

Here are experiences from a few of our local car dealers:

CLARENCE DE LONG of De Long Chevrolet, Inc., San Rafael, is apparently more concerned about the exact amount of property he'll have to give up for highway widening along Francisco Boulevard than auto sales. He'd like to start making plans now for the cutback, even though actual work may not be for several years.

"Our total business is up about 12 per cent over last year through Feb. 20," he says. "Corvairs are selling better than in 1960 and represent 30 per cent of our sales — as against 25 per cent a year ago. Of course the effect of the steel strike had something to do with last year's car stocks."

He adds, too, that additional Corvair models now available have helped.

He could sell more Greenbriar station wagons and is hoping his allotment of one a month will be lifted. They are going out as fast as they come in.

De Long's used car sales are about the same as last year's but the inventory is considered more satisfactory. There was a shortage of used models a year ago.

LARRY BRINK of Mill Valley, dealer in both Rambler-American and the Comet-Mercury-Lincoln lines, sold one more car in January of this year than in January, 1960. February figures were not available when we checked, but since every day's sales count heavily, the absence of a Feb. 29 this year in the monthly report may show it as down one or two cars.

"But we are traveling on a very good par for the course," said Brink. "While the market has reached a leveling off point it is more stable."

He noted that used car sales are better than a year ago.

HAVING NOTICED an increasing number of Studebaker Larks around lately, we queried John Brusatori, general manager of Rossi Garage, San Rafael.

Said he, "January was a poor month, but within the last 30 days Lark sales have climbed terrifically. In fact, our total sales (Rossi also handles the Plymouth-Valiant line) were off 10 to 15 per cent. But February deliveries and sales still undelivered will more than make up for it."

He added that Valiant sales are more than holding their own, comprising about 40 per cent of Plymouth-Valiant deliveries.

Used car sales, he said, were fair in January; heavier in February, with most calls for small cars and in the $1,000 to $1,500 bracket.

"Factories may be cutting down their output in new cars," he commented, "but most dealers have been building up inventories since last fall. We have plenty to sell."

THE FOREIGN CAR market was commented on by E. R. (Bud) Oden, who recently braved the general downtrend by buying out the interest of his partner, R. J. (Rusty) Hyde, in Marin Triumph.

"Despite the fact that the number of imported car dealerships in Marin County has narrowed in recent months," he said, "the business upswing we have enjoyed here assures me that people still have confidence in the value and economy of imported cars."

Oden, who has been in various phases of the automobile business for 25 years and has been connected with Italian and German as well as English imports, organized the Reno Sports Car Club and was instrumental in starting the Las Vegas Sports Car Club.

He now handles Borgward and used cars as well as Triumph.

REP. MILLER REPORTS

Resources Message Shows Broad Vision

By
REP. CLEMENT W. MILLER

In the six weeks since he was inaugurated, President John F. Kennedy has sent to the Congress some 10 special messages.

Last week we received the new president's message on natural resources. It is a remarkable document — revealing a breadth of vision in dealing with resource conservation and development that some say we haven't seen in the White House since Theodore Roosevelt.

The message emphasizes our present and future needs in water and power development, forests, water pollution control, ocean resources and outdoor recreation.

HIS MESSAGE

1. In his message the president urged Congress to speed up forest development on public lands such as Mendocino and Six Rivers National Forests "both as a long-term investment measure and as an immediate method of relieving unemployment."

2. Announced he has directed a stepping up of the building of access roads to public forest lands "to make additional supplies of merchantable timber available to small businesses."

3. Said his administration rejects the previous "no new starts" policy for river and harbor development, such as is needed on the Eel River and Dry Creek and at Crescent City and Humboldt Harbor.

SALMON STOCKS

4. Said our needs for additional protein foods require "rehabilitation of depleted stocks of salmon in the Pacific." This will require increased efforts "through federal leadership" in biological research and stream pollution control, he said.

5. Recommended increased emphasis on small watershed conservation projects—like the one proposed for the Napa Valley—and other soil conservation work.

6. Said he has ordered steps taken "to insure that land acquired for the construction of federally financed reservoirs is sufficient to permit future development for recreational purposes."

7. Urged Congress to enact a wilderness protection bill, and legislation to create Point Reyes National Seashore in Marin County as a part of the national park system.

I am very encouraged by the message and what it portends for the future of the Redwood Empire. I have had the privilege to be author or co-sponsor of legislation to accomplish each of the measures or proposals listed above.

Whether the Congress will now act to implement this program—and the other natural resource measures recommended by Kennedy last week—depends on how the people of America respond.

Garden Society Elects Officers

Four new members have been elected to the board of directors of the Garden Society of Marin.

They are Chedter Bowers and Hugh M. Armstrong of Mill Valley; Leona Harrington, Fairfax, and Mrs. Metta Meilink, San Rafael.

Re-elected to another term on the board were Sylvia Weidenfeld, Fairfax, and Mrs. Thomas P. Cusick, Kentfield. Continuing as publicity director will be Mrs. Walter A. Andersen of San Anselmo. Mrs. Emile Reillac of Kentfield will continue to edit the society's news bulletin.

The society is a sustaining member of the Marin Art and Garden Center and annually presents a garden tour and fall flower festival.

QUIZ FOR ADVERTISERS

Q. What is the most effective and economical way to present a selling message to 25,000 Marin families? CHECK ONE.

1. POSTAL CARD . . . 2. LETTER . . . 3. ADVERTISING FOLDER . . . 4. AN I-J ADVERTISEMENT . . .

A. An I-J Advertisement, by a tremendous margin.

ANALYSIS

Postal Card. We used to call it a "penny postal." That's when you could buy them at any post office for one cent each. Today a government postal costs 3c—$750 for postage alone to send a short message to 25,000 names. Engravings, printing, addressing, compiling or buying a mailing list, delivery to the postoffice, other expenses, could easily double (or triple) that figure, depending on how elaborate you make your 3c mailing card.

A Letter. This costs even more—$1,000 for postage alone if you send it first-class. Individually typed letters would, of course, be prohibitive in cost; the expense of a form letter would include costs of the paper, mimeographing or printing, filling in names if desired, envelopes, addressing, enclosing, handling expense, in addition to postage. Ten cents per name would be a low estimate. That's $2,500.

Advertising Folder. Your message, adequately presented in type and pictures, could hardly cost less than a letter — say, $2,500 — and could run to almost any amount, depending on size, colors used, etc.

An I-J Advertisement. For $750—the cost of 25,000 Postal Cards—you can present your selling message in the Independent-Journal more than 37 times, in a space (2 columns by 10 inches) larger than a postcard! No expense for mailing list, addressing, printing . . . not even for engravings, if you use the I-J's free mat service.

Or you could run TWO full page ads in the I-J for $750, giving your message tremendous impact and selling power . . . and still have nearly $100 left in your advertising kitty.

You could even have an EXTRA COLOR in one of your page ads, and still keep close to your $750 budget.

CONCLUSION: To cover Marin, with your message delivered on the doorsteps of 2 out of 3 homes (an estimated audience of close to 100,000), ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY I-J!

ANALYSIS

Postal Card. We used to call it a "penny postal." That's when you could buy them at any post office for one cent each. Today a government postal costs 3c—$750 for postage alone to send a short message to 25,000 names. Engravings, printing, addressing, compiling or buying a mailing list, delivery to the postoffice, other expenses, could easily double (or triple) that figure, depending on how elaborate you make your 3c mailing card.

Gloomy Prediction: We're On The Verge Of A Big Crime Wave

Here's a gloomy prediction: We're on the verge of a big crime wave. Adult delinquency is going to soar. We'll need more cops and more prisons. Sex crimes will increase, along with other types of criminal behavior.

Why the trouble? The chief reason is that our war babies are growing up. The people born between 1940 and 1946 are a problem generation. They got bad starts in infancy because their mothers were away from home, working and their daddies were far away, fighting. Everyone was afraid. Millions of babies didn't get the tender, loving care all babies need.

The majority of them turned out all right. But a larger-than-normal minority didn't. The percentage of those with serious emotional problems is very high. When these kids reached their teens I predicted a rise in juvenile delinquency. Some Washington experts said I was crazy. They couldn't see the trouble ahead but time proved I was right. Juvenile delinquency doubled, remember?

Now the juvenile crime rate is declining, as I told you recently. Again, some of the experts say I'm wrong. They've a vested interest in a high juvenile delinquency rate. But the decline will continue, because the war babies are growing up, leaving the juvenile category.

But a good many of them aren't going to reform. They'll keep on breaking laws. The percentage of criminals among young adults will be the highest in years. Probably the crime wave will last into the 1970s with an increase in sex crimes.

Will you do me a favor? Clip this column and save it several years. Then check it with the headlines you'll be reading. See if I'm not right. Will you?

Tam Valley Fire Captain Employed

Thomas Casson of the Kentfield Fire Department was hired Tuesday by the Tamalpais Valley Fire Commission as captain of the Tamalpais Valley Volunteer Fire Department at $458 a month.

He replaces Herman Koolhoven, who resigned to take a position as deliveryman with Elliott's Laundry and Cleaners in Sausalito.

Casson, who lived at the firehouse in Kentfield, will move to the Tamalpais Valley area. He is single.

Morrie Batz has been appointed as fire commissioner to fill the unexpired term of J. Arthur Stuber, to run until April, 1963.

Commissioners have agreed to adopt the county pay schedule, chairman Donald J. Taylor said, and salaries will be figured by it starting July 1. A special budget meeting will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the firehouse.

Curriculum Commission Opens Up Its Meetings

FRESNO (AP)—The State Curriculum Commission, meeting in Fresno, adopted a resolution Tuesday opening all full commission meetings to the public.

In the past, members said, some meetings were closed to protect publishers whose textbooks were not recommended by the commission. Instead, publishers will be asked to leave the meeting when individual texts are discussed.

Jail For Drunk Driver

Amos Hollis, 41, of A-18, apartment 143, Marin City, must pay $105 fine and spend 10 days in jail during weekends for drunken driving. He was sentenced by Judge Harold J. Haley in Marin Municipal Court for driving while intoxicated on Highway 101 on Feb. 18. He had a prior conviction in 1953. The judge also put Hollis on nine months probation.

Police said Nicola Felco went over to the stopped blower on her street in suburban L'Abord a Plouffe while playing outside her home with her brother, Ernest. Nicola was sucked into the intake.

A Day Of Great Decision Coming Soon For Terra Linda Residents

(This is the first of two stories on the setup of San Rafael's city government, published as information particularly for residents of Terra Linda.)

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Next Tuesday is a day of great decision for residents of Terra Linda. On that day they will decide at the polls whether their community shall become a part of San Rafael.

Many Terra Lindans may be wondering just what kind of a government they would live under if they exchanged county government, with some specific services performed by a community services district, for city government.

Some of them who formerly resided in San Francisco, the only place in the United States with a combined city-county government, may be particularly confused as to the roles of city and county as they apply here.

If Terra Linda were to become part of San Rafael, it would no longer receive its police service from the county sheriff, its road maintenance from the county public works department or its fire protection from the Terra Linda Community Services District. The county library's bookmobile would no longer call there. The city would take over police, street, fire and library services.

Schools would not be affected. Although San Rafael has a city school system, it actually consists of two school districts under one board of education—and with different boundaries. Terra Linda, annexed or not, will continue to be part of Dixie Elementary School District and San Rafael High School District.

Now, how is the San Rafael city government set up?

San Rafael is a charter city. This means that its government is not exactly like those of other cities in California. All the nine other cities in Marin County are general law cities. Their governmental setup follows a pattern prescribed by general laws of the state. San Rafael's differs.

The San Rafael city charter was adopted in 1913. There have been few amendments, the latest in 1957. It had already been a city for a long time before the charter was adopted by vote of its citizens. San Rafael was incorporated in 1874, and became a sixth class city in 1889, operating in that status until the charter adoption.

(Later, the various classes of cities under California law were abolished, all becoming simply general law cities if they did not have their own municipal charters.)

Cities are governed by city councils, which make the local laws. County ordinances do not operate within the cities. (State and federal laws do, of course.)

General law city councils are of five members. The councilmen elect one of their own number each year as mayor. He chairs the council meetings and has some appointive power not vested in the other members.

The San Rafael city charter also provides for a five-member council. However, the mayor is elected as mayor by the voters, and comes up for election every two years (a mayor will be elected on April 10 this year).

The other four council members are elected for four-year terms. The mayor in San Rafael has a little wider powers of his own than the mayor of a general law city, but the difference is minor.

A general law city may, by action of either its council or its citizens, adopt a council-manager form of government. All of Marin's cities except Ross and Fairfax have such government, although San Anselmo and Novato style their chief administrative officer the city administrator instead of city manager.

San Rafael's city manager has powers and duties somewhat limited by the charter and further limited by city council action. For instance, by council action, he has no authority over the public works department, which is responsible for street and sewer work. This is directed by the public works superintendent, Norris Rawles. He, like City Manager Dan E. Andersen, is appointed by the council.

The city manager also lacks authority over the police department, because, under the San Rafael charter, the police chief is elected. The police chief's term is four years, like those of councilmen.

In other departments of San Rafael's city government, there is a system of commissions. Although these commissions report to the city council, they have considerable powers of their own. There is a fire commission, a parks and recreation commission and a planning commission.

The fire chief, unlike the police chief, is appointed by the city council. He meets with the fire commission and most of the administration of the fire department is thrashed out in that commission.

The recreation director meets with the parks and recreation commission and works out his program with them. The planning commission operates on a city level the same way the county planning commission (which now handles planning for Terra Linda) does on a county level.

The city council, however, holds the purse strings on all the departments, so none of the commissions can spend money on its own.

10 Seniors Win Awards

Ten San Rafael High School seniors have been named winners of the Bank of America achievement awards.

Four of the 10, who will receive engraved plaques, remain in the running for $1,000 top awards in the competition. They are John Taylor, son of Mrs. J. Taylor of 675 Calle Arboledo, Novato, laboratory science; Brooke Moore, son of R. J. More of 162 Belvedere Avenue, San Rafael, music; Cheryl Mayo, daughter of D. A. Mayo of 1018 Turner Drive, Novato, English, and Susan Stone, daughter of G. F. Stone of 27 La Crescenta Way, San Rafael, home economics.

The other winners, who receive certificates of merit for outstanding scholastic attainment in specific subjects, are William G. Rogers, son of W. W. Rogers of 5 Coleman Drive, San Rafael, mathematics; Cecily A. Merrill, daughter of J. J. Merrill of 9 LaCrescenta, San Rafael, art; Mary K. Sakovich, daughter of K. V. Sakovich of 383 Quietwood Drive, Marinwood, social science; Karen L. Beckstead, daughter of M. W. Beckstead of 786 Del Ganada Road, Terra Linda, foreign language; Sherlyn K. Banner, daughter of J. L. Banner of 843 Rincon Way, Santa Venetia, business; and Thomas M. O'Connor, son of Mrs. Catherine O'Connor of 318 Corrillo Drive, San Rafael, industrial arts.

When Not To Spar

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Escarreza Martin, 32, of Tucson learned the hard way that there is a big difference between amateur and professional boxing.

Martin suggested to Ismal Marigo, 27-year-old ex-fighter, that they put on the gloves and spar a little. Marigo landed one blow.

Martin was treated at a Tucson hospital for a broken jaw.

Clerk Cleared Of Knife Threat

On the recommendation of Deputy Dist. Atty. Thomas T. Storer, Judge Harold J. Haley dismissed the complaint against Edmund Castillo Obiedo of 202 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, on Monday.

Obiedo, represented by attorney Robert Praetzel, had been charged with pulling the knife on John Matthew Slivka, 15, of 118 Baltimore Avenue, Larkspur.

Storer said investigation showed that Obiedo mistook Slivka for one of a crowd of boys with whom he had had some words outside the Rafael Theater. Obiedo later phoned Slivka's home to apologize.

Storer said he moved to drop the charges because it was a case of mistaken identity and Obiedo's action bordered on self-defense. However, Storer warned Obiedo not to carry switchblade knives.

Colma Man Eyed For Police Post

Hiring of Phillip D. Green, 21-eyar-old truck driver from Colma, as a San Rafael policeman will be recommended to the city council Monday night by Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa.

Green received the highest marks in written, oral and physical examinations, completed this week, the chief said. He will recommend Green be hired immediately at $477 a month.

Twenty-two applicants took the preliminary examinations to replace Officer Larry Price, who resigned on Jan. 7 after three and one-half years service to join the San Francisco Police Department.

Gloomy Prediction: We're On The Verge Of A Big Crime Wave

Here's a gloomy prediction: We're on the verge of a big crime wave. Adult delinquency is going to soar. We'll need more cops and more prisons. Sex crimes will increase, along with other types of criminal behavior.

Why the trouble? The chief reason is that our war babies are growing up. The people born between 1940 and 1946 are a problem generation. They got bad starts in infancy because their mothers were away from home, working and their daddies were far away, fighting. Everyone was afraid. Millions of babies didn't get the tender, loving care all babies need.

The majority of them turned out all right. But a larger-than-normal minority didn't. The percentage of those with serious emotional problems is very high. When these kids reached their teens I predicted a rise in juvenile delinquency. Some Washington experts said I was crazy. They couldn't see the trouble ahead but time proved I was right. Juvenile delinquency doubled, remember?

Now the juvenile crime rate is declining, as I told you recently. Again, some of the experts say I'm wrong. They've a vested interest in a high juvenile delinquency rate. But the decline will continue, because the war babies are growing up, leaving the juvenile category.

But a good many of them aren't going to reform. They'll keep on breaking laws. The percentage of criminals among young adults will be the highest in years. Probably the crime wave will last into the 1970s with an increase in sex crimes.

Will you do me a favor? Clip this column and save it several years. Then check it with the headlines you'll be reading. See if I'm not right. Will you?

Morrie Batz has been appointed as fire commissioner to fill the unexpired term of J. Arthur Stuber, to run until April, 1963.

Commissioners have agreed to adopt the county pay schedule, chairman Donald J. Taylor said, and salaries will be figured by it starting July 1. A special budget meeting will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the firehouse.

Curriculum Commission Opens Up Its Meetings

FRESNO (AP)—The State Curriculum Commission, meeting in Fresno, adopted a resolution Tuesday opening all full commission meetings to the public.

In the past, members said, some meetings were closed to protect publishers whose textbooks were not recommended by the commission. Instead, publishers will be asked to leave the meeting when individual texts are discussed.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Day Of Great Decision Coming Soon For Terra Linda Residents

(This is the first of two stories on the setup of San Rafael's city government, published as information particularly for residents of Terra Linda.)

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Next Tuesday is a day of great decision for residents of Terra Linda. On that day they will decide at the polls whether their community shall become a part of San Rafael.

Many Terra Lindans may be wondering just what kind of a government they would live under if they exchanged county government, with some specific services performed by a community services district, for city government.

Some of them who formerly resided in San Francisco, the only place in the United States with a combined city-county government, may be particularly confused as to the roles of city and county as they apply here.

If Terra Linda were to become part of San Rafael, it would no longer receive its police service from the county sheriff, its road maintenance from the county public works department or its fire protection from the Terra Linda Community Services District. The county library's bookmobile would no longer call there. The city would take over police, street, fire and library services.

Schools would not be affected. Although San Rafael has a city school system, it actually consists of two school districts under one board of education—and with different boundaries. Terra Linda, annexed or not, will continue to be part of Dixie Elementary School District and San Rafael High School District.

Now, how is the San Rafael city government set up?

San Rafael is a charter city. This means that its government is not exactly like those of other cities in California. All the nine other cities in Marin County are general law cities. Their governmental setup follows a pattern prescribed by general laws of the state. San Rafael's differs.

The San Rafael city charter was adopted in 1913. There have been few amendments, the latest in 1957. It had already been a city for a long time before the charter was adopted by vote of its citizens. San Rafael was incorporated in 1874, and became a sixth class city in 1889, operating in that status until the charter adoption.

(Later, the various classes of cities under California law were abolished, all becoming simply general law cities if they did not have their own municipal charters.)

Cities are governed by city councils, which make the local laws. County ordinances do not operate within the cities. (State and federal laws do, of course.)

General law city councils are of five members. The councilmen elect one of their own number each year as mayor. He chairs the council meetings and has some appointive power not vested in the other members.

The San Rafael city charter also provides for a five-member council. However, the mayor is elected as mayor by the voters, and comes up for election every two years (a mayor will be elected on April 10 this year).

The other four council members are elected for four-year terms. The mayor in San Rafael has a little wider powers of his own than the mayor of a general law city, but the difference is minor.

A general law city may, by action of either its council or its citizens, adopt a council-manager form of government. All of Marin's cities except Ross and Fairfax have such government, although San Anselmo and Novato style their chief administrative officer the city administrator instead of city manager.

San Rafael's city manager has powers and duties somewhat limited by the charter and further limited by city council action. For instance, by council action, he has no authority over the public works department, which is responsible for street and sewer work. This is directed by the public works superintendent, Norris Rawles. He, like City Manager Dan E. Andersen, is appointed by the council.

The city manager also lacks authority over the police department, because, under the San Rafael charter, the police chief is elected. The police chief's term is four years, like those of councilmen.

In other departments of San Rafael's city government, there is a system of commissions. Although these commissions report to the city council, they have considerable powers of their own. There is a fire commission, a parks and recreation commission and a planning commission.

The fire chief, unlike the police chief, is appointed by the city council. He meets with the fire commission and most of the administration of the fire department is thrashed out in that commission.

The recreation director meets with the parks and recreation commission and works out his program with them. The planning commission operates on a city level the same way the county planning commission (which now handles planning for Terra Linda) does on a county level.

The city council, however, holds the purse strings on all the departments, so none of the commissions can spend money on its own.

10 Seniors Win Awards

Ten San Rafael High School seniors have been named winners of the Bank of America achievement awards.

Four of the 10, who will receive engraved plaques, remain in the running for $1,000 top awards in the competition. They are John Taylor, son of Mrs. J. Taylor of 675 Calle Arboledo, Novato, laboratory science; Brooke Moore, son of R. J. More of 162 Belvedere Avenue, San Rafael, music; Cheryl Mayo, daughter of D. A. Mayo of 1018 Turner Drive, Novato, English, and Susan Stone, daughter of G. F. Stone of 27 La Crescenta Way, San Rafael, home economics.

The other winners, who receive certificates of merit for outstanding scholastic attainment in specific subjects, are William G. Rogers, son of W. W. Rogers of 5 Coleman Drive, San Rafael, mathematics; Cecily A. Merrill, daughter of J. J. Merrill of 9 LaCrescenta, San Rafael, art; Mary K. Sakovich, daughter of K. V. Sakovich of 383 Quietwood Drive, Marinwood, social science; Karen L. Beckstead, daughter of M. W. Beckstead of 786 Del Ganada Road, Terra Linda, foreign language; Sherlyn K. Banner, daughter of J. L. Banner of 843 Rincon Way, Santa Venetia, business; and Thomas M. O'Connor, son of Mrs. Catherine O'Connor of 318 Corrillo Drive, San Rafael, industrial arts.

Red Cross To Teach Advanced First Aid

An advanced first aid course will be offered each Tuesday by the American Red Cross at the San Rafael Chapter at 712 Fifth Avenue, starting next week and running through March 28.

Classes, instructed by Virginia Hinshaw, will be from 7 to 10 p.m. Applicants for the course must hold current standard first aid certificates. Registration may be made through the chapter office.

When Not To Spar

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Escarreza Martin, 32, of Tucson learned the hard way that there is a big difference between amateur and professional boxing.

Martin suggested to Ismal Marigo, 27-year-old ex-fighter, that they put on the gloves and spar a little. Marigo landed one blow.

Martin was treated at a Tucson hospital for a broken jaw.

Clerk Cleared Of Knife Threat

On the recommendation of Deputy Dist. Atty. Thomas T. Storer, Judge Harold J. Haley dismissed the complaint against Edmund Castillo Obiedo of 202 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, on Monday.

Obiedo, represented by attorney Robert Praetzel, had been charged with pulling the knife on John Matthew Slivka, 15, of 118 Baltimore Avenue, Larkspur.

Storer said investigation showed that Obiedo mistook Slivka for one of a crowd of boys with whom he had had some words outside the Rafael Theater. Obiedo later phoned Slivka's home to apologize.

Storer said he moved to drop the charges because it was a case of mistaken identity and Obiedo's action bordered on self-defense. However, Storer warned Obiedo not to carry switchblade knives.

Colma Man Eyed For Police Post

Hiring of Phillip D. Green, 21-eyar-old truck driver from Colma, as a San Rafael policeman will be recommended to the city council Monday night by Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa.

Green received the highest marks in written, oral and physical examinations, completed this week, the chief said. He will recommend Green be hired immediately at $477 a month.

Twenty-two applicants took the preliminary examinations to replace Officer Larry Price, who resigned on Jan. 7 after three and one-half years service to join the San Francisco Police Department.

Older Cream Puffs

Here are five older cars that you would be proud to own. We've taken most of them in on trade from ministers, school teachers (single and married), retired people, and doctors. We're serious—read further to find out.

'53 Pontiac 4-Dr. $350
We took this one in from (don't laugh) an elderly, widowed schoolteacher that is on her way around the world on a cruise and will take delivery of a new Buick on her return. This car has only 48,000 actual miles on it. It's a 4-dr. sedan with hydramatic, radio, heater and new tires. Clean as her blackboard the day she left her school for the last time.

'51 Buick Wagon $295
Probably the last really good Buick wagon in captivity with the rich-looking wood trim that is as good as the day it was delivered. Original paint and the interior leather trim that looks as good as the day we delivered it new in '51. Dynaflow, radio and heater. This one we took in from local executive that is ready to retire and wanted a newer car.

'53 Buick 4-Dr. . . $250
This car was purchased new from us in '53 by local doctor. Just traded back on new Buick Special. Standard transmission with heater. Runs like a top because we've serviced it since new.

'52 Buick Convert $275
A beautiful forest-green convertible on which we just put a new top. Original green-leather interior. Good tires. Dynaflow, radio, heater and lots of extras. This is really the best convert. we've seen in a long while for $275. We took this in from a part-time minister.

'51 Olds. 4-Dr. . . $195
Super 88 sedan with hydramatic, radio and heater. Original green paint that looks as good as day it was delivered. This has been a family car that has had exceptional care. You can't find a thing wrong with it. Cleaner than any '51 we've seen in years.

Older Cream Puffs

Here are five older cars that you would be proud to own. We've taken most of them in on trade from ministers, school teachers (single and married), retired people, and doctors. We're serious—read further to find out.

'53 Pontiac 4-Dr. $350

We took this one in from (don't laugh) an elderly, widowed schoolteacher that is on her way around the world on a cruise and will take delivery of a new Buick on her return. This car has only 48,000 actual miles on it. It's a 4-dr. sedan with hydramatic, radio, heater and new tires. Clean as her blackboard the day she left her school for the last time.

'51 Buick Wagon $295

Probably the last really good Buick wagon in captivity with the rich-looking wood trim that is as good as the day it was delivered. Original paint and the interior leather trim that looks as good as the day we delivered it new in '51. Dynaflow, radio and heater. This one we took in from local executive that is ready to retire and wanted a newer car.

'53 Buick 4-Dr. . . $250

This car was purchased new from us in '53 by local doctor. Just traded back on new Buick Special. Standard transmission with heater. Runs like a top because we've serviced it since new.

'52 Buick Convert $275

A beautiful forest-green convertible on which we just put a new top. Original green-leather interior. Good tires. Dynaflow, radio, heater and lots of extras. This is really the best convert. we've seen in a long while for $275. We took this in from a part-time minister.

'51 Olds. 4-Dr. . . $195

Super 88 sedan with hydramatic, radio and heater. Original green paint that looks as good as day it was delivered. This has been a family car that has had exceptional care. You can't find a thing wrong with it. Cleaner than any '51 we've seen in years.

Bids Requested For Radar Tower

Contractors are being invited to bid on construction of a radar tower at the Mount Tamalpais Air Force station, Rep. Clement W. Miller (D-Corte Madera) reported today from Washington.

Approximate value is $200,000, according to Col. John A. Morrison, San Francisco district engineer for the Army Corps of Engineers, the contracting agency.

Bids are to be opened about March 23. Construction time to be allowed is 270 calendar days.

Work includes construction of a two-story tower of structural steel framing, metal siding, and composite metal and concrete floors and roofs, including electrical, water, steam and sewer services, together with a bituminous road surface and appurtenant work.

Plans and specifications are available for inspection at Marin Builders Exchange, 53 Jordan Street, San Rafael.

Practice Alert Staged At Base

Civilian dependents and non-essential military personnel at Hamilton Air Force Base spent up to 45 minutes Tuesday in "air raid" shelters as part of a practice all-day alert on the base.

The sirens to warn persons to go to the shelters began sounding at about 4 p.m. Shelters generally consist of the basements of "permanent" buildings on the base. The all-clear sounded about 5 p.m.

Mill Valley Jaycees To Honor Young Man

Nominations close at midnight next Wednesday for the Mill Valley Junior Chamber of Commerce's second annual distinguished service award.

The award will honor a man between the age of 21 and 35 for outstanding service to his community or area. Last year's winner of the award was Normand Black of Mill Valley.

Tract Map Approved In Larkspur

A tentative subdivision map of Madrone Woodlands, proposed 50-lot development in Madrone Canyon at the end of Wilson Way, was tentatively approved Tuesday by the Larkspur Planning Commission.

The planners stipulated that the developers must submit more complete plans on road and drainage easements to the city engineer.

A use permit was granted Schultz Development Co. which would allow construction of a 10-office medical-dental building at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Bon Air Road. The planners stipulated that entry be through Via Hidalgo to prevent traffic congestion.

A tentative subdivision map of Piedmont Terrace Unit 2 was denied "without prejudice." Reasons for the denial were the absence of the developer, Russell Lauterwasser, and the fact that the city engineer had not yet given a report on the proposed development.

A request by Schultz Development Co. for professional administrative zoning of 10 acres of recently annexed land north of the Bon Air Bridge was put over to March 14 at 8 p.m.

Recommendations were sent to the city council that the planning commission be left as a five-man body. Consideration has been given formation of a seven-man commission.

The planners also recommended to the council that the commission be authorized to hire outside help on planning studies when necessary.

Black Point Inn Co-Owner Faces Hearing Tomorrow

Paul Lavere Franklin, co-owner of Black Point Inn, will face preliminary hearing tomorrow afternoon on charges that he committed perjury, falsified evidence and tried to bribe a witness in connection with liquor hearings.

Franklin, represented by Frederick Cole of Richmond, pleaded innocent to the charges Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge Harold J. Haley set 2 p.m. tomorrow for the preliminary hearing.

Franklin, 40, a decorated veteran of the Korean War, is free on $5,250 bail.

The Alcoholic Beverage Control Department held hearings last May and in January this year on charges that liquor was sold to minors at Black Point Inn. The Marin district attorney alleges that Franklin perjured himself and tried to bribe an airman if he would not testify.

Assembly Gets Teachers Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A bill to give probationary teachers the right to a hearing if they are dismissed went to the Assembly floor this week with committee approval.

The Education Committee approved the bill after Mrs. Lucille Grieve of Seal Beach testified she was dismissed for helping a fellow teacher who was fired for activity in a controversial issue.

The bill by Assemblyman Edward E. Elliott (D-Los Angeles) was supported by the AFL-CIO California Federation of Teachers, but opposed by the California Teachers Assn.

Army Officer Ends Career

Lt. Col. Otis S. Osborne of 354 Hibiscus Way, Terra Linda, retired yesterday after 20 years of Army service.

He had been a member of the National Guard training staff of the Sixth Army, stationed at the Presidio of San Francisco for almost two years.

The 40-year-old veteran officer plans to work for a life insurance company in San Francisco.

Osborne, his wife, Betty, and six-month-old daughter, Celia Augusta, have lived in Terra Linda since December, 1959.

Osborne enlisted as a private in the National Guard in Phoenix, Ariz. in 1940. He was commissioned a lieutenant in 1942.

He landed on Omaha Beach in the Normandy invasion with the 29th Infantry Division. He fought through France and Germany, receiving the Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster and Purple Heart.

When the Korean War broke out, Osborne, a major, acted as an adviser to the South Korean army.

Dog's Attack Brings Suit

The father of a 16-year-old Kent Woodlands girl, who was allegedly bitten by a dog a year ago, has filed a $10,000 damage suit in Marin Superior Court.

John Wolfe, 222 Woodland Road, filed the suit on behalf of his daughter, Carmelita, through attorney George Jens Jansen of San Francisco.

Named as defendant is Charles Evans of 15 North Ridgewood Road, Kent Woodlands.

The suit charges that Miss Wolfe was a guest at the Evans house last March 1 when she was bitten by their dog, a Schnauzer. The girl suffered permanent scars about the face, the complaint alleged.

Marin City Votes On Name Change

Balloting began yesterday on whether to change the name of Marin City.

Ballots were distributed to all Marin City homes, according to Hardy Westmore, public affairs chairman of the Marin City Tenants Council. Tenants are asked to deposit their ballots in a box outside the housing authority office before 7 p.m. Saturday.

Persons may vote on the proposed name of Manzanita or any other name, Westmore said or to keep the name Marin City.

Greenbrae Group Elects Officers

Bids Requested For Radar Tower

Contractors are being invited to bid on construction of a radar tower at the Mount Tamalpais Air Force station, Rep. Clement W. Miller (D-Corte Madera) reported today from Washington.

Approximate value is $200,000, according to Col. John A. Morrison, San Francisco district engineer for the Army Corps of Engineers, the contracting agency.

Bids are to be opened about March 23. Construction time to be allowed is 270 calendar days.

Work includes construction of a two-story tower of structural steel framing, metal siding, and composite metal and concrete floors and roofs, including electrical, water, steam and sewer services, together with a bituminous road surface and appurtenant work.

Plans and specifications are available for inspection at Marin Builders Exchange, 53 Jordan Street, San Rafael.

Practice Alert Staged At Base

Civilian dependents and non-essential military personnel at Hamilton Air Force Base spent up to 45 minutes Tuesday in "air raid" shelters as part of a practice all-day alert on the base.

The sirens to warn persons to go to the shelters began sounding at about 4 p.m. Shelters generally consist of the basements of "permanent" buildings on the base. The all-clear sounded about 5 p.m.

Mill Valley Jaycees To Honor Young Man

Nominations close at midnight next Wednesday for the Mill Valley Junior Chamber of Commerce's second annual distinguished service award.

The award will honor a man between the age of 21 and 35 for outstanding service to his community or area. Last year's winner of the award was Normand Black of Mill Valley.

Tract Map Approved In Larkspur

A tentative subdivision map of Madrone Woodlands, proposed 50-lot development in Madrone Canyon at the end of Wilson Way, was tentatively approved Tuesday by the Larkspur Planning Commission.

The planners stipulated that the developers must submit more complete plans on road and drainage easements to the city engineer.

A use permit was granted Schultz Development Co. which would allow construction of a 10-office medical-dental building at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Bon Air Road. The planners stipulated that entry be through Via Hidalgo to prevent traffic congestion.

A tentative subdivision map of Piedmont Terrace Unit 2 was denied "without prejudice." Reasons for the denial were the absence of the developer, Russell Lauterwasser, and the fact that the city engineer had not yet given a report on the proposed development.

A request by Schultz Development Co. for professional administrative zoning of 10 acres of recently annexed land north of the Bon Air Bridge was put over to March 14 at 8 p.m.

Recommendations were sent to the city council that the planning commission be left as a five-man body. Consideration has been given formation of a seven-man commission.

The planners also recommended to the council that the commission be authorized to hire outside help on planning studies when necessary.

Black Point Inn Co-Owner Faces Hearing Tomorrow

Paul Lavere Franklin, co-owner of Black Point Inn, will face preliminary hearing tomorrow afternoon on charges that he committed perjury, falsified evidence and tried to bribe a witness in connection with liquor hearings.

Franklin, represented by Frederick Cole of Richmond, pleaded innocent to the charges Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge Harold J. Haley set 2 p.m. tomorrow for the preliminary hearing.

Franklin, 40, a decorated veteran of the Korean War, is free on $5,250 bail.

The Alcoholic Beverage Control Department held hearings last May and in January this year on charges that liquor was sold to minors at Black Point Inn. The Marin district attorney alleges that Franklin perjured himself and tried to bribe an airman if he would not testify.

Assembly Gets Teachers Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A bill to give probationary teachers the right to a hearing if they are dismissed went to the Assembly floor this week with committee approval.

The Education Committee approved the bill after Mrs. Lucille Grieve of Seal Beach testified she was dismissed for helping a fellow teacher who was fired for activity in a controversial issue.

The bill by Assemblyman Edward E. Elliott (D-Los Angeles) was supported by the AFL-CIO California Federation of Teachers, but opposed by the California Teachers Assn.

Army Officer Ends Career

Lt. Col. Otis S. Osborne of 354 Hibiscus Way, Terra Linda, retired yesterday after 20 years of Army service.

He had been a member of the National Guard training staff of the Sixth Army, stationed at the Presidio of San Francisco for almost two years.

The 40-year-old veteran officer plans to work for a life insurance company in San Francisco.

Osborne, his wife, Betty, and six-month-old daughter, Celia Augusta, have lived in Terra Linda since December, 1959.

Osborne enlisted as a private in the National Guard in Phoenix, Ariz. in 1940. He was commissioned a lieutenant in 1942.

He landed on Omaha Beach in the Normandy invasion with the 29th Infantry Division. He fought through France and Germany, receiving the Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster and Purple Heart.

When the Korean War broke out, Osborne, a major, acted as an adviser to the South Korean army.

Dog's Attack Brings Suit

The father of a 16-year-old Kent Woodlands girl, who was allegedly bitten by a dog a year ago, has filed a $10,000 damage suit in Marin Superior Court.

John Wolfe, 222 Woodland Road, filed the suit on behalf of his daughter, Car melita, through attorney George Jens Jansen of San Francisco.

Named as defendant is Charles Evans of 15 North Ridgewood Road, Kent Woodlands.

The suit charges that Miss Wolfe was a guest at the Evans house last March 1 when she was bitten by their dog, a Schnauzer. The girl suffered permanent scars about the face, the complaint alleged.

County Aide Decides Not To Go To Alaska

Arleigh Sewell, the Wrong-Way Corrigan of Marin County employees, isn't going to Alaska (again) after all.

"We have been happy to give him back his resignation" was how his boss, Auditor-Controller Leon A. deLisle, expressed it in announcing yesterday that Sewell will stay as supervisor of the county data processing bureau.

DeLisle, who appeared before the board of supervisors Feb. 15 in an unsuccessful effort to stir some expression as to the bureau's future and who received Sewell's written resignation later that day, took the attitude today that the resignation had never been accepted and now he'd argued Sewell out of the travel notion.

Sewell and deLisle concurred on this analysis:

After once trying work in Alaska from June through October, 1959, Sewell doesn't much care for it (and against a $15,000 salary there are higher living costs). Sewell's family did not intend to go along this time. And after two years, Sewell would have to decide whether to stay on and if so whether his family would come.

"I like Marin County; my family likes Marin County," said Sewell, and deLisle chimed in: "So we have been able to convince him of the merits of staying in Marin County."

Sewell has a wife and two children at 765 Knocknaboul Way, Terra Linda. He returned to work Monday after two weeks' vacation spent in completion of advanced training in electronic data processing in San Francisco.

"While I won't use it now in Alaska," said Sewell, "the time is not lost for I can always use the knowledge here — if not now then perhaps in the future."

Vote Delayed On Appointing Schools Chief

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate Education Committee yesterday postponed for a week its vote on a proposed constitutional amendment which would remove the office of state superintendent of public instruction from the ballot.

The amendment proposed by Sen. John F. McCarthy (D.-San Rafael), would make the now appointive members of the State Board of Education elected officers, and they would name a superintendent.

McCarthy said he would amend his proposal to make the board members non-partisan and to guarantee that they would represent all sections of the state.

He said the present elective office of superintendent was a "misnomer."

Savings-Loan Exec Ends Long Career

Walter J. Swenson, assistant vice president and manager of the Homestead Savings and Loan Assn. in Sausalito, retired yesterday after a long career in banking.

Swenson, who lives in Mill Valley at 210 Elinor Avenue with his wife, Ruth, has been with the company since 1954.

Swenson, 72, began his banking career with the National Iron Bank in Morristown, N.J. He worked for the Guaranty Trust Co. in New York, then for Asia Banking Corp. in Shanghai, Hankow and Canton, China. On returning to the United States, he went to work for American Trust Co. in San Francisco until 1928, when he left there to start the Mill Valley Bank at 18 Miller Avenue.

He was vice president and manager of the Mill Valley Bank until its sale in 1947 to American Trust Co. and continued as assistant vice president and manager under the new ownership until retiring in 1954.

That retirement was of brief duration. The same year he joined Sausalito Savings and Loan Corp., the former name of the Homestead firm.

The Swensons, who have no children, have lived in Mill Valley since 1928. Swenson said he plans to do some traveling.

Easy Silhouette Appears With Interesting Fabric, Color, Style

By PATRICIA ZINN

Trimmings with discretion, colors with abandon and the full use of the variety of fabrics make Spring 1961 the most flattering and subtle approach to fashion.

The guiding theme is relaxed ease and simplicity in design attributed for the most part to First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy and her designer, Oleg Cassini.

Silhouettes evolve from these and other influences present in fashions of recent seasons, but the fresh interpretations of dresses, coats, suits and separates that result are unmistakably spring '61.

Probably the leading factor in the exciting spring of fashion is the striking use of color. While navy, black, beige and gray will certainly command their share of attention, and white is important, they must compete with the challenge of pink, yellow, lilac, strawberry and practically every color in the paintbox.

PINKS ARE MANY

Prediction is that the family of pinks may attain the wide acceptance that fall and winter awarded to the purples. Two or more colors combined in one outfit make an attractive impact on fashion.

"Collarless and sleeveless" is the motif for a wide variety of styles. The effect is youthful, artfully simple.

When sleeves are present, they're apt to be shorter — sometimes above - elbow for suits and coats. Collars, if any, tend to be either narrow, as in the case of flat or stand-up band collars, or exceptionally graceful — softly draped cowls or cape shapes, for example.

The asymmetrical aspect of fashion provides further spring refreshment. Side closings, off-center buttons and other trims, side-wrap skirts, surplice necklines and one-shoulder dresses express this trend.

SKIRTS TAKE FULLNESS

Along with the easing - up movement of silhouettes comes increased fullness for many skirts. In addition to pleats and bias cuts, there are gathers and gores, tiers and flounces, and some all-out bouffants.

Newest way to ease the skirt is to divide it. Fall and winter experiences and experiments determined designers to give the culotte more scope.

It's prevalent in sportswear, lingerie, loungewear. The womar with fashion daring will find cleverly designed suits and dresses with divided skirts for street wear.

Best news here is that the good cut and tailoring essential to giving culottes a really skirt-like appearance, along with the comfort of pants, is now present in modestly-priced styles.

Costume look continues strong, and stronger. Suits with their own blouses, dresses with their own coats and dresses with jackets appear.

COLORS, FABRICS CONTRAST

Newness comes with the departure from precise matching. Colors and fabrics often contrast — a bright coat with a sleeveless white dress, for example, or a suit in which jacket, blouse and skirt are all of different hues.

"All season" is a term frequently applied to the new spring clothes. With air conditioning, central heating and travel in mind, designers have planned apparel appropriate to any climate, locality or season.

This is reflected in fabrics—more silks, cottons and blends, lightweight wools. The textures are diverse—fleecy, lacy, nubbed, ribbed, spongy, crisp, polished. Knits gain importance in shaping the supple silhouette.

A SHEATH FOR CASUAL time designed by Hal Laudeman is this silk linen, tri-color in sizes 8 to 14. The smart lined sheath for spring is featured at Grace Graham's, Kentfield.

California Adds Spice To Fashions

Ask anyone you know to "describe" California — even sight unseen—and words like bright, colorful, different, glamorous and exciting—all come to the fore.

Take each of these words and add a dozen other synonyms and you have the many fascinating adjectives that delineate the California fashion picture.

Foremost there is color — lots of it. Brightness is applied in ribbons and rick-rack for example, on natural grounds of rustic fabrics. Shapes are long and lean or full and bouncy. The effect is young and casual. Less inhibited are skirt ruffles and full tiers, flouncy or balloon sleeves on blouses. It is still the "BB" influence, it is saucy and neat rather than an overt effort at coyness. For a sissy touch there are ruffled, tucked shirts.

Some of the talk-about points in early sportswear groups are return of the Italian theme in color and spirit; coffee house character of completely easy, but colorful look and more and more separates within each theme.

California offers more variety in pants, always slimmed but in new mid-lengths. There are all kinds of beach and patio dresses and skirts, from shifts to muu muus. Hot dazzling colors first seen in resort and early spring sportwear will continue boldly for late spring and summer. Rich colors are reflected especially in sweaters, especially in mohair. And, the same bright attitude toward color shows off in the coat showings, with deep pinks, toast tones, white, off-white, some absinthe and pernods as well as many lilacs blossoming forth for Easter. Deep, but lightweight coatings in a flaring, swinging shape make a bold showing in these bright colors.

IN THE SWIM

California's swim suit story is one of "three bares" — it's told in two-piece suits with bare midriffs, in deep plunging V's front and back, and in the extra-leggy look of abbreviated maillots.

Fabrics are colorful and extremely lightweight, florals are in bloom, stripes are bold and a blaze of hue; very-new stretch fabrics with fabulous control and minimum weight, frothy lastex and knits; strapless, camisole and scooped necklines are all highlights in the swimsuit collections.

Very Californian, too are companion jackets and skirts for swim suits, especially for the bikini crowd.

IN LOVE WITH SILK

Again, California continues its love affair with silks — for day, for date, for dancing . . . they're also perfectly packable for travel anywhere and by whatever mode.

California's romance with silk bestows great affection for the hand-loomed types, the silk linens and broadcloths; the silk shantungs and crepes and especially—silk chiffons.

The California label in new season clothes expresses an exciting awareness of easy elegance, smart tailoring and best of all—a thrilling rendering of affirmative colors.

So for a bright fashion season—"go West, milady"—West, of course, to California — for fashion excitement!

British Men Revolt Against 'Old Look'

While Americans look to the British accented styles in men's wear, Britons (men, that is) stage a fashion revolt. This year will be remembered as the year the British male finally shook off the last vestiges of war-time dress styles.

All categories of male wear will be highlighted wth more colorful and light weighted clothes. Some of the "revolution" details he's gladly dropping are belted rain and topcoats, heavily padded shoulders, ample seat pants and dark color suits for lighter, brighter colored ones. He's trading these "hangovers" for knee length "shorty" rain and topcoats, cuffless tapered pants, brightly colored vests and innovations in formal dress wear to give the traditional British look a distinctive American accent.

Man Made Pearls Now Rival Looks Of Cultured Ones

A new simulated pearl called "Perle de Mer" has been developed specifically to fill the growing demands for fine quality pearls of larger diameter.

These pearls, which are almost indistinguishable from the genuine cultured pearls are simulated from the finest component raw materials under elaborately controlled manufacturing conditions by the Richelieu Company, makers of fine jewelry.

Since oysters may take seven years or more to produce a fine quality pearl of large diameter, few owners of cultured pearl beds are willing to keep their investment tied up under water for that period of time.

In addition, few oysters are capable of growing pearls over eight millimeters in size.

The new pearls by Richelieu are produced in just six days and have the natural inner-glow and iridescence, harder texture and depth of color that make cultured pearls so desirable.

For those who can afford them — fine cultured pearls; 9mm, 10mm and larger sizes are very much in demand (and in short supply) but prices are as high has $7,500.

A single strand of Richelieu's "Perle de Mer" sells for a fraction of the cost of comparable sized cultured pearls.

They are available in 8mm to 12 mm in uniform strands, and are also graduated up to 14mm.

The Overblouse

The overblouse is seen increasingly this season, and with good reason. It lends itself beautifully to full skirts, is often part of a two-piece dress and is the perfect complement to a suit.

Men's Shoes Follow New Slimmer Line

Men put their best foot forward this season in slim, trim shoes of spring-weight leathers. Jaunty is the word for masculine footwear fashions as new leather shoes shed ounces and styles taper down, reports Shoe Fashion Service of Leather Industries of America.

The slim, sophisticated look at ground level — you see it from head to toe in Ivy and Continental fashions — is achieved by tapering the forepart of the shoe. By no means "needle" sharp, the long-line litheness of men's dress and casual footwear still accommodates the masculine foot in complete comfort. Lighter, more supple leather guarantees flexible ease in walking and full support in standing.

Slender shapes are made to look even trimmer through the use of inventive detailing. Double rows of stitching carried further up the vamp., U-shaped throats, higher tongues and decorative single or doube eyelet ties help the eye "stretch" the look of the shoe without sacrificing foot room. Light, ultra-pliable leather soles are cut close to the shape of the shoe to emphasize its slim contours.

The slip - on — laceless or gored—steps out first in men's shoe styles. Handsome and comfortable in springweight smooth and grained leather, dress slip - ons underline the neat trim appearance of the young man on his way up in the business world. In just-as-light brushed or smooth leathers, the casual slip-on takes its ease in the living room, on the patio or outdoors. Elastic goring which offers weightless, snug fit is a leading style.

The high-riser look is widely seen in slip-ons — some with high square tongues.

Hues Add Zest In Boys' Wear

Color adds new zest to little boys' clothing for spring '61. Lightweight fabrics, especially seersucker or the seersucker look, gain ground.

Suits lean toward the Ivy, with natural shoulder. There are worsteds, worsted blends, wool blends and all-wool gabardines, while lightweight cotton blends look to after Easter.

Colors seen here include medium olive, gray, black, and blue compounds, in solids, muted glen plaids, checks.

Solid all-wool blazers top the sports jacket list, in olive, blue or putty. Madras influence, strong plaids, checks, stripes and new batiks show up. The white sports coat is news.

Seersucker look marks both jackets and separate slacks. Some other fabrics for slacks are gabardines, tropicals, polished cottons, cords, poplin, in tan, black, bone, olive, blue tones, stripes and plaids.

Sport shirts for little boys appear in a variety of ice cream hues, as well as olive and gold.

Laminating process with plastic foam turns virtually any fabric into lightweight warm outerwear for the boys.

DON'T OVERLOOK THE NEW LOOK FOR COMPLEXION, HAIR IN '61

There's a bright, colorful outlook in beauty for spring that complements the excitement of the fashion scene. And, this new era of color calls for an inventory and appraisal of cosmetics and coiffures.

With so much emphasis on the period of the Thirties when glamour was spelled with a capital "G," skin care and hair styles come in for loads of attention.

For spring, hair is smooth, short and polished looking—often with an upswept wing or a kissing curl at the cheek very much "the thing."

Bangs are usually casual looking; the most flattering hair length stops just below the ear, and there's modified fulness at the crown.

High rising and swept-brim hats put the eyes into focus and call for careful attention to mascara, liner, shadow and pencil artistry.

Completing the new picture — a complexion that's creamy, translucent-looking and cared-for. Lips are well-defined with deep, gold-glowing tones and colors that reflect the spectrum of the season. Lipsticks are non-glossy, with a subtle brilliance.

Color goes to the hair in highlight colors, in eye shadows that are gentle reflections of all the colors of the season and in the delicate look of the skin.

For the total look of beauty, add a natural smile, good pasture and a fragrance that reflects your personality. Be the woman worth giving that admiring second look.

New Looks Favor Linens

Spring collections point up a fabulous group of new linens, and adds the excitement of tri-color combinations, with hand-painted detailing, in ombred tones or tops them with cashmere sweaters.

Whether in pure linen or silk linen, the brighter the color the better. New combinations and strong contrasts startling enough to spark an artist's palette appear as hot pinks combined with vivid oranges or turquoise combines with a brilliant purple.

Easy Silhouette Appears With Interesting Fabric, Color, Style

By PATRICIA ZINN

Trimmings with discretion, colors with abandon and the full use of the variety of fabrics make Spring 1961 the most flattering and subtle approach to fashion.

The guiding theme is relaxed ease and simplicity in design attributed for the most part to First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy and her designer, Oleg Cassini.

Silhouettes evolve from these and other influences present in fashions of recent seasons, but the fresh interpretations of dresses, coats, suits and separates that result are unmistakably spring '61.

Probably the leading factor in the exciting spring of fashion is the striking use of color. While navy, black, beige and gray will certainly command their share of attention and white is important, they must compete with the challenge of pink, yellow, lilac, strawberry and practically every color in the paintbox.

PINKS ARE MANY

Prediction is that the family of pinks may attain the wide acceptance that fall and winter awarded to the purples. Two or more colors combined in one outfit make an attractive impact on fashion.

"Collarless and sleeveless" is the motif for a wide variety of styles. The effect is youthful, artfully simple.

When sleeves are present, they're apt to be shorter — sometimes above - elbow for suits and coats. Collars, if any, tend to be either narrow, as in the case of flat or stand-up band collars, or exceptionally graceful — softly draped cowls or cape shapes, for example.

The asymmetrical aspect of fashion provides further spring refreshment. Side closings, off-center buttons and other trims, side-wrap skirts, surplice necklines and one-shoulder dresses express this trend.

SKIRTS TAKE FULLNESS

Along with the easing - up movement of silhouettes comes increased fullness for many skirts. In addition to pleats and bias cuts, there are gathers and gores, tiers and flounces, and some all-out bouffants.

Newest way to ease the skirt is to divide it. Fall and winter experiences and experiments determined designers to give the culotte more scope.

It's prevalent in sportswear, lingerie, loungewear. The woman with fashion daring will find cleverly designed suits and dresses with divided skirts for street wear.

Best news here is that the good cut and tailoring essential to giving culottes a really skirt-like appearance, along with the comfort of pants, is now present in modestly-priced styles.

Costume look continues strong, and stronger. Suits with their own blouses, dresses with their own coats and dresses with jackets appear.

COLORS, FABRICS CONTRAST

Newness comes with the departure from precise matching. Colors and fabrics often contrast — a bright coat with a sleeveless white dress, for example, or a suit in which jacket, blouse and skirt are all of different hues.

"All season" is a term frequently applied to the new spring clothes. With air conditioning, central heating and travel in mind, designers have planned apparel appropriate to any climate, locality or season.

This is reflected in fabrics—more silks, cottons and blends, lightweight wools. The textures are diverse—fleecy, lacy, nubbed, ribbed, spongy, crisp, polished. Knits gain importance in shaping the supple silhouette.

A SHEATH FOR CASUAL time designed by Hal Laudeman is this silk linen, tri-color in sizes 8 to 14. The smart lined sheath for spring is featured at Grace Graham's, Kentfield.

California Adds Spice To Fashions

Ask anyone you know to "describe" California — even sight unseen—and words like bright, colorful, different, glamorous and exciting—all come to the fore.

Take each of these words and add a dozen other synonyms and you have the many fascinating adjectives that delineate the California fashion picture.

Foremost there is color — lots of it. Brightness is applied in ribbons and rick-rack for example, on natural grounds of rustic fabrics. Shapes are long and lean or full and bouncy. The effect is young and casual. Less inhibited are skirt ruffles and full tiers, flouncy or balloon sleeves on blouses. It is still the "BB" influence, it is saucy and neat rather than an overt effort at coyness. For a sissy touch there are ruffled, tucked shirts.

Some of the talk-about points in early sportswear groups are return of the Italian theme in color and spirit; coffee house character of completely easy, but colorful look and more and more separates within each theme.

California offers more variety in pants, always slimmed but in new mid-lengths. There are all kinds of beach and patio dresses and skirts, from shifts to muu muus. Hot dazzling colors first seen in resort and early spring sportwear will continue boldly for late spring and summer. Rich colors are reflected especially in sweaters, especially in mohair. And, the same bright attitude toward color shows off in the coat showings, with deep pinks, toast tones, white, off-white, some absinthe and pernods as well as many lilacs blossoming forth for Easter. Deep, but lightweight coatings in a flaring, swinging shape make a bold showing in these bright colors.

IN THE SWIM

California's swim suit story is one of "three bares" — it's told in two-piece suits with bare midriffs, in deep plunging V's front and back, and in the extra-leggy look of abbreviated maillots.

Fabrics are colorful and extremely lightweight, florals are in bloom, stripes are bold and a blaze of hue; very-new stretch fabrics with fabulous control and minimum weight, frothy lastex and knits; strapless, camisole and scooped necklines are all highlights in the swimsuit collections.

Very Californian, too are companion jackets and skirts for swim suits, especially for the bikini crowd.

IN LOVE WITH SILK

Again, California continues its love affair with silks — for day, for date, for dancing . . . they're also perfectly packable for travel anywhere and by whatever mode.

California's romance with silk bestows great affection for the hand-loomed types, the silk linens and broadcloths; the silk shantungs and crepes and especially—silk chiffons.

The California label in new season clothes expresses an exciting awareness of easy elegance, smart tailoring and best of all—a thrilling rendering of affirmative colors.

So for a bright fashion season—"go West, milady"—West, of course, to California — for fashion excitement!

British Men Revolt Against 'Old Look'

While Americans look to the British accented styles in men's wear, Britons (men, that is) stage a fashion revolt. This year will be remembered as the year the British male finally shook off the last vestiges of war-time dress styles.

All categories of male wear will be highlighted wth more colorful and light weighted clothes. Some of the "revolution" details he's gladly dropping are belted rain and topcoats, heavily padded shoulders, ample seat pants and dark color suits for lighter, brighter colored ones. He's trading these "hangovers" for knee length "shorty" rain and topcoats, cuffless tapered pants, brightly colored vests and innovations in formal dress wear to give the traditional British look a distinctive American accent.

Man Made Pearls Now Rival Looks Of Cultured Ones

A new simulated pearl called "Perle de Mer" has been developed specifically to fill the growing demands for fine quality pearls of larger diameter.

These pearls, which are almost indistinguishable from the genuine cultured pearls are simulated from the finest component raw materials under elaborately controlled manufacturing conditions by the Richelieu Company, makers of fine jewelry.

Since oysters may take seven years or more to produce a fine quality pearl of large diameter, few owners of cultured pearl beds are willing to keep their investment tied up under water for that period of time.

In addition, few oysters are capable of growing pearls over eight millimeters in size.

The new pearls by Richelieu are produced in just six days and have the natural inner-glow and iridescence, harder texture and depth of color that make cultured pearls so desirable.

For those who can afford them — fine cultured pearls; 9mm, 10mm and larger sizes are very much in demand (and in short supply) but prices are as high has $7,500.

A single strand of Richelieu's "Perle de Mer" sells for a fraction of the cost of comparable sized cultured pearls.

They are available in 8mm to 12 mm in uniform strands, and are also graduated up to 14mm.

The Overblouse

The overblouse is seen increasingly this season, and with good reason. It lends itself beautifully to full skirts, is often part of a two-piece dress and is the perfect complement to a suit.

Men's Shoes Follow New Slimmer Line

Men put their best foot forward this season in slim, trim shoes of spring-weight leathers. Jaunty is the word for masculine footwear fashions as new leather shoes shed ounces and styles taper down, reports Shoe Fashion Service of Leather Industries of America.

The slim, sophisticated look at ground level — you see it from head to toe in Ivy and Continental fashions — is achieved by tapering the forepart of the shoe. By no means "needle" sharp, the long-line litheness of men's dress and casual footwear still accommodates the masculine foot in complete comfort. Lighter, more supple leather guarantees flexible ease in walking and full support in standing.

Slender shapes are made to look even trimmer through the use of inventive detailing. Double rows of stitching carried further up the vamp., U-shaped throats, higher tongues and decorative single or doube eyelet ties help the eye "stretch" the look of the shoe without sacrificing foot room. Light, ultra-pliable leather soles are cut close to the shape of the shoe to emphasize its slim contours.

The slip-on — laceless or gored—steps out first in men's shoe styles. Handsome and comfortable in springweight smooth and grained leather, dress slip-ons underline the neat trim appearance of the young man on his way up in the business world. In just-as-light brushed or smooth leathers, the casual slip-on takes its ease in the living room, on the patio or outdoors. Elastic goring which offers weightless, snug fit is a leading style.

The high-riser look is widely seen in slip-ons — some with high square tongues.

Hues Add Zest In Boys' Wear

Color adds new zest to little boys' clothing for spring '61. Lightweight fabrics, especially seersucker or the seersucker look, gain ground.

Suits lean toward the Ivy, with natural shoulder. There are worsteds, worsted blends, wool blends and all-wool gabardines, while lightweight cotton blends look to after Easter.

Colors seen here include medium olive, gray, black, and blue compounds, in solids, muted glen plaids, checks.

Solid all-wool blazers top the sports jacket list, in olive, blue or putty. Madras influence, strong plaids, checks, stripes and new batiks show up. The white sports coat is news.

Seersucker look marks both jackets and separate slacks. Some other fabrics for slacks are gabardines, tropicals, polished cottons, cords, poplin, in tan, black, bone, olive, blue tones, stripes and plaids.

Sport shirts for little boys appear in a variety of ice cream hues, as well as olive and gold.

Laminating process with plastic foam turns virtually any fabric into lightweight warm outerwear for the boys.

DON'T OVERLOOK THE NEW LOOK FOR COMPLEXION, HAIR IN '61

There's a bright, colorful outlook in beauty for spring that complements the excitement of the fashion scene. And, this new era of color calls for an inventory and appraisal of cosmetics and coiffures.

With so much emphasis on the period of the Thirties when glamour was spelled with a capital "G," skin care and hair styles come in for loads of attention.

For spring, hair is smooth, short and polished looking—often with an upswept wing or a kissing curl at the cheek very much "the thing."

Bangs are usually casual looking; the most flattering hair length stops just below the ear, and there's modified fulness at the crown.

High rising and swept-brim hats put the eyes into focus and call for careful attention to mascara, liner, shadow and pencil artistry.

Completing the new picture — a complexion that's creamy, translucent-looking and cared-for. Lips are well-defined with deep, gold-glowing tones and colors that reflect the spectrum of the season. Lipsticks are non-glossy, with a subtle brilliance.

Color goes to the hair in highlight colors, in eye shadows that are gentle reflections of all the colors of the season and in the delicate look of the skin.

CALLING ALL BOYS:

Spring Styles Look Just Like Dad's In All Details

Today's young man should consider himself lucky and well dressed. Let the young man select his wardrobe from three main categories: (1) Ivy-Continental; this the traditional three button style coat with little or no suppression at the coat waist. Its Ivy-type fabrics and colors, but has hacking pockets and side vents. Trousers are either beltless or with belt loops, with three-quarter pocket detailing. (2) Ivy-Ivy, for the young man with extreme fancy flair. (3) Natural Shoulder; this has the natural style - look with very little shoulder padding.

Sporadically seen, but not quite enough to merit a fourth category, is the British influence. British styling offers suppressed coat waist, extra pocket for change, slightly wider lapels.

A boy's wardrobe wouldn't be complete this spring without a sportshirt! This season offers countless styles, one, will sure to be his favorite.

Notable, and the single newest fashion sensation will be the poncho or pull-over style. Smartly tapered to fit the body more closely. Among the fabric favorites — ticking stripes, sateen (with carefully matched scarf prints, hopsacking in solid and printed versions, fine woven mesh, popular oxford cloth, woven jaquards and as always iridescent cottons . . . all sure to give spring a "cool" welcoming!

Seersucker (the original wash and wear fabric) is seen this season in interesting checks in addition to traditional stripe patterns. Embroidery, too, is widely used with motif sometimes picked up on the buttons. Newsworthy are fly-front closures. Trims of self fabric welting on shirt fronts are frequently used. Knits, too, will take to the popular poncho styling. With a solid color emphasis.

As always, beachwear offers something new — stretching knits in boxer and brief lengths. And, beachwear co-ordinates that have shorts teamed with matching sport shirts.

There's Foreign Intrigue' On Raincoat Scene

To satisfy the ever growing demand of American men for raincoats, more manufacturers are turning to foreign countries for design ideas as well as new sources of supply.

As a result, there is a greater variety in design. American producers also are offering new models in colored and patterned fabrics, giving these utility garments new importance.

Raincoats probably will gain favor again this spring at the expense of topcoats. One reason being that the rainwear weighs less than other coats. The range of colors, fabrics, and styling is such that many of the new raincoats can double as dressy garments in any weather. The repellent coats include muted plaids and India madras effects.

Science boosts the appeal of today's rainwear to make it extra special for a man's busy life. New finishes such as "Scotchgard" repel water, oil and a wide variety of stains from fabrics.

Wash and wear qualities, topcoat styling, removable linings and more color are all rainwear dividends this season.

Toppers Look New In Lengths, Styles

New fashion significance this season goes to the topper. Always a basic in most spring wardrobes, now the short topper is making news, too.

First of all, it's shorter — hip length or above. Along with the new length goes new styling, which carries out such spring themes as the no collar cardigan neckline, shortened sleeves and color a-plenty.

Refreshing Gloves

Stretch gloves look fresh for spring in attractive dotted swiss and pique finishes.

EXCITING NEW spring creation for all occasions is this combination of velvet and Bali straw by Sonni. In sandstone and black, it features a high crown and contoured profile. Available at R and M, San Rafael and Mill Valley.

Wedding Fashions Follow Tradition In Opulent Ways

Current bridal collections offer an enticing selection for the spring bride.

Traditional elegance is retained, along with the air of new fashion. Fabrics are luxurious—lace, organza, taffeta chiffon, tulle, peau de soie and silks of all kinds—and styling is dramatic.

Sheaths and gowns with bouffant or bell-shaped skirts take sweeping trains, some of which are removable. In fact the convertible aspect of wedding dresses is notable, making many suitable for a grand ball as well as a wedding.

A lace train, for instance, is removable to become a cape. A beaded bolero comes off to show a beaded bodice.

Fashion notes include the detachable tunic. Back interest for another gown is developed through a fashionable cowl neckline, highlighted by a silk organza cabbage rose.

A separate lace redingote covers a floor-length organza gown, while still another silk organza gown has vertical pleating to form cap sleeves bodice and apron effect.

Pleated Skirts

Pleated skirts have taken on new fashion interest with panel stripes of tiny calico flowers, abstract cubes, stylized flowers, geometric shapes and other motifs. Always a spring favorite, the pleated skirt in its new version comes with a matching top for coordinated wear.

Gay Belts Encircle Fashionable Waists

Smart leather belts circle most tailored waists this spring with neat, colorful "clasps." Although fewer contour belts are in evidence than last year, widths vary all the way from spaghetti hoops of suede leather to five to six-inch bands of supple, smooth and slightly grained leathers.

Norrower belts are being worn with fuller skirted dress in daytime and late-day ensembles.

In mood and color, new belts are matched to handbags and shoes. Chalked colors and pale pastels at the waist carry through the softer leather look of accessories from hand to toe.

Costumes Important For Spring

The expression—"a costume season" can be sweet music to the ears of fashion conscious women. So, it's good news today—as costumes and ensembles step out with real swing for the new season.

Worth talking about are the two-and-three part fashions — usually starting with a handsomely-shaped sheath that can "go it alone" anywhere and everywhere in smart style.

Add to this a bright coat dramatized by a matched-to-the-dress lining, a demi-fit jacket, a bolero or a sweater and the dress becomes doubly important in any setting.

Smart basic dresses, interesting and exciting by themselves are often enhanced this season by capes, and jackets with a cape-effect. At smart late-day and evening gatherings these ensembles are destined to make a grand entrance.

Two-piece ensembles of overblouse and skirt are often topped with casual cardigan jackets, lined and unlined. Many of these take printed tops that coordinate with the solid colors of jacket and skirt.

For dramatic date time settings, scooped neckline sheaths show off when barely-there jackets, capelets or brief boleros are removed.

Such double life ensembles as the dress with ⅞'s coat, or a fitted tunic jacket are ideal for glamour settings too.

Dress and sweater duos — from the most simply stated classic for the office, for the vacation trip or Sunday excursion—look to their more dressy and sophisticated sisters in bejeweled cashmeres over silks, silk linens and other simple but elegant fabrics.

The ensembles are exceptionally exciting this year because this fashion group provides endless opportunity for color mating, mixing, coordinating or color bating!

Tops and terrific for any fashion agenda are the countless inviting combinations of color and parts to spell out the c-o-s-t-u-m-e.

'FAIRMOUNT'—A luncheon suit of imported silk paesante by Don Loper features a small shawl collar, scalloped detail on front and sleeve. All shades, sizes 8 to 18. Available at Modern Eve, San Rafael and Novato.

LANZ uses a print as capricious as cupid—heart flowers sprigged on a fine all cotton for a stalk-slim sheath dress. A sparkling line of white ric-rac to frame the shell neckline and wee sleeves. Beige, green, or black print on white background. Sizes 5 to 15. Available at The Ross Valley Shop, Kentfield.

Svelte Styles Call For Some Smooth Figuring

Foundations are most feminine and pretty for Spring! There's an increasing trend to coordination . . . girdles and bras are often matched in color, embroidery or trim, often followed through with matching lingerie.

Flower motifs and color play an important part in the ultra-feminine look. And there are more colors than ever before to complement the classic whites and blacks. Colors are often combined or tone-on-toned for new interest.

This pretty look also gives rise to an imported or custom-made look, which is achieved by attention to details, such as ribbon-beaded lace shoulder straps, lace panels trimmed with marquisette, nylon sheer and lavish sections of lace.

Many foundations are deigned with an eye to specific fashions, such as bras to wear with knitted dresses, bias-control girdles for slim or bias-cut fashions. Bras dive in back, plunge in front, are strapless for decollete styles, have wide-placed straps for bateau necklines.

New are the longline and torso backless bras that offer complete support with extreme decolletage. Panty girdles have been designed to meet control requirements for a wide variety of pants, from wide-cut hostess types to skin tights, and go to all lengths, even beyond the knee. Corselets or long-legged panty girdles achieve the natural bodyline silhouette for Spring.

Foundations using "spandex" have new beauty, control and lightness. It is sheer and delicate, yet wears beautifully, directs curves, rather than constricts.

Full figure foundations are equally feminine with pretty styling, fashion shaping and a lightness achieved with dainty sheers, embroidery and laces.

Miss Fashion Flaunts Silhouette Extremes

There's a wonderful feeling of youth in the styles for spring, for Easter and the summer ahead.

This season's fashions are particularly interesting because there is no one outstanding silhouette theme — but rather a composite effect. A look of youthful slenderness is the end result achieved by low set waistlines, unbelted princess lines, and by gently shaped and elongated bodies.

Waistlines have simple definitions marked by sashes and leather belts.

SHORTER HEMLINES

Shorter then ever — that's the word for hemlines. Popular length is — ONE INCH BELOW THE KNEE, but not higher.

Controlled full skirts shape themselves into narrowed hemlines with pouf effects, flounces and godets.

Intricate folds, pleats and panels create an easy look of grace by falling naturally into place for fullness or slender shaping.

For the first time in many years, designers are pointing up the importance of the bias cut which fluidly molds diagonal folds, shapes up flattering cowls and gives freedom of movement without clinging to slender skirt shapes.

Every woman will want at least one costume in her spring wardrobe. A composition of several well-integrated parts, the costume takes its companions in solid colors and prints to match dresses to coat linings, blouses to suits, etc.

There's surface interest, texture and luster to the new fabrics. Wools have never been more sheer, cottons more colorful or silks more diversified.

Bold abstract art prints, stripes, checks and florals coordinate with clear, sparkling solid tones.

The spotlight is on pink, but every color of the rainbow comes in for its full share of attention as long as it is clear, bright and lustrous.

Black as a solo color steps into the wings; black gets the spotlight however, when accented with a bright color or white.

Yes, the look for the new season is a young one — so let age be no barrier to your selection of a colorful flattering and wonderful-to-be-seen-in wardrobe for the many sunny days ahead.

Short Skirts Call For Well Groomed Legs

These days a gal hasn't a leg to stand on, from a fashion-plate standpoint, unless her gams are scrupulously groomed! Sheer hosiery, dainty shoe styles and shorter skirts focus attention on legs.

So, here are some quick-tips from the Lady Remington Beauty Institute; Once a week give yourself a pedicure—from toes to knee-cap. Use all the trimmings: fragrant bath oil, pumice stone, nail polish and skin cream. And, be sure to de-fuzz legs. Use an electric shaver, of your own, to eliminate nicks and scrapes that can mar the good looks of marble-smooth legs.

Take advantage, too, of new spring hosiery shades to flatter your limbs. Rosy shades, warm beiges and tan tones will round out the shape of a thin leg visually. Darker tones will tend to minimize plumper limbs.

Lastly, keep shoes in shipshape condition to complete that bandbox appearance — from foot to head.

Variety Is Spice Of Fashions Afoot

Fresh styling and bright colors combine in little girls' spring shoes for school, dress and play. Construction is kept seasonally light, with newly developed leathers supplying flexibility and gentle support, notes Shoe Fashion Service of Leather Industries of America.

Rounded toe silhouette is giving way to slim, tapered shape. Slender shell pumps resemble mother's "needle" toe footwear. Little girls' shoes are full-fashioned until after their toes are accommodated — then the toe is tapered.

Styles include slip-ons, pumps, swivel-strap shoes, sabot straps. Mary Janes and eyelet ties. Shaped heels add to variety and interest.

Black patent leather — in Mary Janes, shell pumps or T-strap shoes — shines brightly. Deep colors are popular and practical for early Easter.

Light, high colors in brushed and smooth leathers brighten the spring season, and there are smooth and grained leather shoes in white and a range of bone tones.

Lustre leather and patent leather are equally favored for party and dress-up occasions.

Bolder Shapes Theme Jewelry

Collarless, open necklines and simple, supple silhouettes in fashion lead to many opportunities for using costume jewerly dramatically, and spring designs in necklaces, bracelets, earrings and pins are ready to to provide important accents.

Bolder and more colorful is the theme. Bead necklaces, long and many-stranded, make use of larger beads, in such colors as lilac, pink, lime and yellow. Big wooden beads appear in their natural form or brightly enameled, alone or in combination with glass beads.

Tassels drip from long necklaces, and there are pendant effects on both necklaces and bracelets. Interesting interpretation of this is the necklace with large, matching pin which can either be attached as a pendant or used separately.

To accent back decolletage, some necklaces are adjustable to shift their length from the front to the back.

Shapes are not only large but unusual. Coral twigs, shells and fish reflect the nautical influence on jewelry, while enameled buds, fruits and insects take inspiration from the garden. Delicate butterflies and long-stemmed roses are translated into pins.

The size of some necklaces is such that they could more appropriately be called collars. One such is royal-looking in pearl loops with sprays of rhinestone and turquoise.

Costumes Important For Spring

The expression—"a costume season" can be sweet music to the ears of fashion conscious women. So, it's good news today—as costumes and ensembles step out with real swing for the new season.

Worth talking about are the two-and-three part fashions — usually starting with a handsomely-shaped sheath that can "go it alone" anywhere and everywhere in smart style.

Add to this a bright coat dramatized by a matched-to-the-dress lining, a demi-fit jacket, a bolero or a sweater and the dress becomes doubly important in any setting.

Smart basic dresses, interesting and exciting by themselves are often enhanced this season by capes, and jackets with a cape-effect. At smart late-day and evening gatherings these ensembles are destined to make a grand entrance.

Two-piece ensembles of overblouse and skirt are often topped with casual cardigan jackets, lined and unlined. Many of these take printed tops that coordinate with the solid colors of jacket and skirt.

For dramatic date time settings, scooped neckline sheaths show off when barely-there jackets, capelets or brief boleros are removed.

Such double life ensembles as the dress with ⅞'s coat, or a fitted tunic jacket are ideal for glamour settings too.

Dress and sweater duos — from the most simply stated classic for the office, for the vacation trip or Sunday excursion—look to their more dressy and sophisticated sisters in bejeweled cashmeres over silks, silk linens and other simple but elegant fabrics.

The ensembles are exceptionally exciting this year because this fashion group provides endless opportunity for color mating, mixing, coordinating or color bating!

Tops and terrific for any fashion agenda are the countless inviting combinations of color and parts to spell out the c-o-s-t-u-m-e.

'FAIRMOUNT'—A luncheon suit of imported silk paesante by Don Loper features a small shawl collar, scalloped detail on front and sleeve. All shades, sizes 8 to 18. Available at Modern Eve, San Rafael and Novato.

LANZ uses a print as capricious as cupid—heart flowers sprigged on a fine all cotton for a stalk-slim sheath dress. A sparkling line of white ric-rac to frame the shell neckline and wee sleeves. Beige, green, or black print on white background. Sizes 5 to 15. Available at The Ross Valley Shop, Kentfield.

Svelte Styles Call For Some Smooth Figuring

Foundations are most feminine and pretty for Spring! There's an increasing trend to coordination . . . girdles and bras are often matched in color, embroidery or trim, often followed through with matching lingerie.

Flower motifs and color play an important part in the ultra-feminine look. And there are more colors than ever before to complement the classic whites and blacks. Colors are often combined or tone-on-toned for new interest.

This pretty look also gives rise to an imported or custom-made look, which is achieved by attention to details, such as ribbon-beaded lace shoulder straps, lace panels trimmed with marquisette, nylon sheer and lavish sections of lace.

Many foundations are deigned with an eye to specific fashions, such as bras to wear with knitted dresses, bias-control girdles for slim or bias-cut fashions. Bras dive in back, plunge in front, are strapless for decollete styles, have wide-placed straps for bateau necklines.

New are the longline and torso backless bras that offer complete support with extreme decolletage. Panty girdles have been designed to meet control requirements for a wide variety of pants, from wide-cut hostess types to skin tights, and go to all lengths, even beyond the knee. Corselets or long-legged panty girdles achieve the natural bodyline silhouette for Spring.

Foundations using "spandex" have new beauty, control and lightness. It is sheer and delicate, yet wears beautifully, directs curves, rather than constricts.

Full figure foundations are equally feminine with pretty styling, fashion shaping and a lightness achieved with dainty sheers, embroidery and laces.

Miss Fashion Flaunts Silhouette Extremes

There's a wonderful feeling of youth in the styles for spring, for Easter and the summer ahead.

This season's fashions are particularly interesting because there is no one outstanding silhouette theme — but rather a composite effect. A look of youthful slenderness is the end result achieved by low set waistlines, unbelted princess lines, and by gently shaped and elongated bodies.

Waistlines have simple definitions marked by sashes and leather belts.

SHORTER HEMLINES

Shorter then ever — that's the word for hemlines. Popular length is — ONE INCH BELOW THE KNEE, but not higher.

Controlled full skirts shape themselves into narrowed hemlines with pouf effects, flounces and godets.

Intricate folds, pleats and panels create an easy look of grace by falling naturally into place for fullness or slender shaping.

For the first time in many years, designers are pointing up the importance of the bias cut which fluidly molds diagonal folds, shapes up flattering cowls and gives freedom of movement without clinging to slender skirt shapes.

Every woman will want at least one costume in her spring wardrobe. A composition of several well-integrated parts, the costume takes its companions in solid colors and prints to match dresses to coat linings, blouses to suits, etc.

There's surface interest, texture and luster to the new fabrics. Wools have never been more sheer, cottons more colorful or silks more diversified.

Bold abstract art prints, stripes, checks and florals coordinate with clear, sparkling solid tones.

The spotlight is on pink, but every color of the rainbow comes in for its full share of attention as long as it is clear, bright and lustrous.

Black as a solo color steps into the wings; black gets the spotlight however, when accented with a bright color or white.

Yes, the look for the new season is a young one — so let age be no barrier to your selection of a colorful flattering and wonderful-to-be-seen-in wardrobe for the many sunny days ahead.

Short Skirts Call For Well Groomed Legs

These days a gal hasn't a leg to stand on, from a fashion-plate standpoint, unless her gams are scrupulously groomed! Sheer hosiery, dainty shoe styles and shorter skirts focus attention on legs.

So, here are some quick-tips from the Lady Remington Beauty Institute; Once a week give yourself a pedicure—from toes to knee-cap. Use all the trimmings: fragrant bath oil, pumice stone, nail polish and skin cream. And, be sure to de-fuzz legs. Use an electric shaver, of your own, to eliminate nicks and scrapes that can mar the good looks of marble-smooth legs.

Take advantage, too, of new spring hosiery shades to flatter your limbs. Rosy shades, warm beiges and tan tones will round out the shape of a thin leg visually. Darker tones will tend to minimize plumper limbs.

Lastly, keep shoes in shipshape condition to complete that bandbox appearance — from foot to head.

Bolder Shapes Theme Jewelry

Collarless, open necklines and simple, supple silhouettes in fashion lead to many opportunities for using costume jewelry dramatically, and spring designs in necklaces, bracelets, earrings and pins are ready to to provide important accents.

Bolder and more colorful is the theme. Bead necklaces, long and many-stranded, make use of larger beads, in such colors as lilac, pink, lime and yellow. Big wooden beads appear in their natural form or brightly enameled, alone or in combination with glass beads.

Tassels drip from long necklaces, and there are pendant effects on both necklaces and bracelets. Interesting interpretation of this is the necklace with large, matching pin which can either be attached as a pendant or used separately.

To accent back decolletage, some necklaces are adjustable to shift their length from the front to the back.

Shapes are not only large but unusual. Coral twigs, shells and fish reflect the nautical influence on jewelry, while enameled buds, fruits and insects take inspiration from the garden. Delicate butterflies and long-stemmed roses are translated into pins.

The size of some necklaces is such that they could more appropriately be called collars. One such is royal-looking in pearl loops with sprays of rhinestone and turquoise.

Variety Is Spice Of Fashions Afoot

Fresh styling and bright colors combine in little girls' spring shoes for school, dress and play. Construction is kept seasonally light, with newly developed leathers supplying flexibility and gentle support, notes Shoe Fashion Service of Leather Industries of America.

Rounded toe silhouette is giving way to slim, tapered shape. Slender shell pumps resemble mother's "needle" toe footwear. Little girls' shoes are full-fashioned until after their toes are accommodated — then the toe is tapered.

Styles include slip-ons, pumps, swivel-strap shoes, sabot straps. Mary Janes and eyelet ties. Shaped heels add to variety and interest.

Black patent leather — in Mary Janes, shell pumps or T-strap shoes — shines brightly. Deep colors are popular and practical for early Easter.

Light, high colors in brushed and smooth leathers brighten the spring season, and there are smooth and grained leather shoes in white and a range of bone tones.

Lustre leather and patent leather are equally favored for party and dress-up occasions.

There's Flattery For Gals In High-Riding Hat Styles

Hats, as we said, will still be high, but this season the real interest moves to the side. In the manner of the Twenties and Thirties, the brim will be flipped up on the side, or pulled down close to one cheek with a touch of eye-stopping trim at that point.

The little hats take to the side too, but moving to the tilt just ever-so slightly from the top of the head. These are truly "little hats," not even large enough to cover the crown.

In between in size are the new semi-bowl styles, the cloches, turbans, bretons, sailors and toques. Also prominent are small-crown hats with enormous brims.

Every color (many very unusual) will be seen in spring millinery, with lilac and off-white slated for a big appearance. Trims are most often color-contrasted and grosgrain has bloomed along with flowers, veiling and other ribbons for the season.

Textured straw is something very different in new millinery, due to the treatment hat designers have given it. In many styles it creates a decided three-dimensional effect. Felt, velvet and veil pouffs are all excitingly used too.

As hats have grown high . . . handbags have grown long. The most forward looking shape is the envelope, which has been streamlined to zoom up to 20 inches. Some styles have handles, but most are meant to be carried under the arm.

Other handbags will be soft in silhouette, similar to previous seasons. Newness comes from fabrics and trim. Burlap, homespun, friezes and tapestries . . . grained and mottled leathers . . . these are the keys to an up-to-the-minute look.

Spring's new fashions call for belts that do a "trim-up" job. The self-belt look is seldom seen. And new belts answer the call to colors (and decorative touches). Chains, dangles, bows, drapes . . . stripes, prints, tone-on-tones . . . colors from the entire spectrum — this, and more, is what belts offer.

Gloves are made for the season . . . young, airy, fresh and color-bright. Whether cropped or midarm, they are just what the bare arm fashions must have. There's a short glove now that's cropped to below the wrist (a real bracelet-lover!).

Scarves are ready for happy talk when brisk spring breezes blow . . . most are frankly conversation pieces, featuring stylized motifs, electrifying colors and sometimes reproductions of artistic masterpieces.

Not to forget beach and resort accessories, they may be summed up as: inventive, whimsical and sometimes most extravagant!

Great Divide Puts Culottes Way Our Front

From out of the active sports scene and out of the high fashion couture salons where culottes first appeared in either functional or ultra-sophisticated styles, culottes are following many new directions for the new season.

The divided skirt—or culotte — takes on new importance as a suit "skirt." Often the new suit for spring offers both culottes and conventional skirt to complete the ensemble.

The scissors-pleated skirt shown in many junior styles looks very much like culottes —but without the "great divide."

Suits with culottes take such toppings as three-quarter length capes, hip-length jackets with cropped sleeves or cropped jackets. Overblouses, matched-to-lining blousettes and wool jersey tops are often complementary dividends for the spring culotte costume.

Undercover Silks

Women who love the luxurious feel of silk against their skin, will be delighted with the many ways in which these elegant fabrics are being used in foundations this Spring. Bras, girdles and corselets are featuring it in many guises ranging from silk-covered elastics to lush silk crepe de chine.

ABSOLUTELY THE newest way to look this spring — the fluid, gentle bias-cut dress. Clean, collarless neckline, kimona sleeves, eased bodice—the skirt flowing and feminine. All in a muted plaid of beige, black and white in a cotton and rayon fabric. From the Mr. Mort spring collection. Available at the Mayfair Shop, San Rafael.

New For Springtime

Muumus are here to stay, because of their wonderful versatility and comfortableness! They serve as a duster, housedress or patio lounger, all-in-one. Spring versions of the muumuu are again brilliant with exotic Hawaiian flower prints and often are carbon-copied in a smaller size for daughter.

In line with the ensemble look for Spring, two classic outfits are offered in two new collections . . . a silk surah print dress, topped by a slim wool coat, lined to match its dress . . . and a three-piece silk costume, jacket and skirt in solid color with print overblouse. Both are firm foundations on which to build a spring wardrobe.

Jewelry Keyed To Color Story Of New Fashions Bold Look

Not in many seasons has there been quite so much news in the jewelry story. The importance designers have placed on jewelry for spring appears to stem from a renewed, real interest in jewelry by women all over the country.

Take necklaces first, as they seem to be the great-love at the moment. Beads are bigger, brighter and more lavish than ever. Some of the beads are as large as the old-fashioned "jaw breakers." Most feature three or more strands. Jeweled collars (an airy variation on beads) will not be quite so popular as the beads, but they are lovely and offer change-about possibilities for the many collarless fashions.

Wooden beads are perhaps the newest. These appear in color or natural. They're carved smoothly or in abstract shapes. Crystal, already taking the country by storm, will be more popular than ever. Jet has been revived with greater interest, and is often seen mixed with crystal.

Lilac, beige, lime, yellow and lobster-pink are the favorite bead colors. Many times these are combined with shadings of the same color, sometimes with contrasting colors. And, sometimes the contrast or shading comes through a mottled effect on each bead.

Most necklaces this spring have exquisite, over-sized clasps which are meant to be worn front or back. When seen at the back, they will be dropped, with the beads embracing the throat. Some necklaces, rather than having the decorative clasps, have detachable pendants which also serve as pins.

While we're at the point of pins . . . they are tremendous this season, in both size and beauty. Part of the excitement is in the way they will be worn. With two or three that are all alike in the jewel box, they serve as "instant" buttons to dress up a jacket or costume. Or, one may be attached to the belt and another to the handbag. A pin in a vibrant color, worn on a costume of a quite different but vivid hue, creates a striking focal point. Actually, the possibilities are limited only to the imagination.

Bracelets pick up the design of necklaces . . . they're large, wide, and sport contrasting decorative clasps. Dangles, both beads and classic charms, are favored here too — especially for more casual wear.

Costume watches have become a part of the bracelet picture and offer a great many style variations this year. One idea is a watch face that comes with colorful bands that make for a change each day in the week.

Earrings, too, follow the style-steps of necklaces . . . but where they detour is in the shaping. Though buttons and small dangles are still "always good," the newness is in earrings that follow the curve of the ear or appear as shapes of flowers or leaves or abstracts. An ornament in the hair will become as necessary as earrings, for both day and night. There are combs, chopsticks, tiaras, clips and hairpins . . . all elaborately designed and bejeweled.

FASHION IS IN THE PINK

Remember that old phrase that still crops up—"strike me pink"? Well—wherever you look on the fashion scene —dresses, coats, sportswear, in fact all wearables are struck, smitten and lovingly smothered with the glowing flush of PINK!

From the hottest hot of vivid pink to the real cool pink-into-violet tones, the boldness of spring '61 pink is everywhere.

Startling and vibrant, these pinks animate every beautiful fabric and fashion theme of the season.

You'll be in the pink from sun-up to long after sunset as these bold rosy hues animate sleepwear and loungewear, play togs and dinner dresses, sportswear and at-home seperates.

One-Piece Styling In 'Jump Suit'

Guys who are six, 16 or "pushing" '60 and enjoy the active life will go for the new crop of sportswear for out doors.

Ideal for "roughing it" during the long, leisurely summer months is the "jump suit"—with distinctive one-piece styling. At a beach party, out sailing or tinkering in the garage, the jump suit provides comfort without omitting style. Features include a handsome sport shirt collar, belted fly front and man-sized pockets.

Cardigan jackets, weather-all jackets and other jaunty items are available for the days when midsummer weather starts playing tricks. Tyrolean walking shorts, featuring double pockets with flaps, pre-made cuffs and a rugged authenticity, will add to the pleasure of hiking, hunting and summer sports.

Tapered Toes Point Way For Teens New Shoes

Teens walk the fashion path this spring in sharply tapered leather shoes. Cool co-eds have shed their round-toe shoes in favor of double and even triple point footwear, reports Shoe Fashion Service of Leather Industries of America.

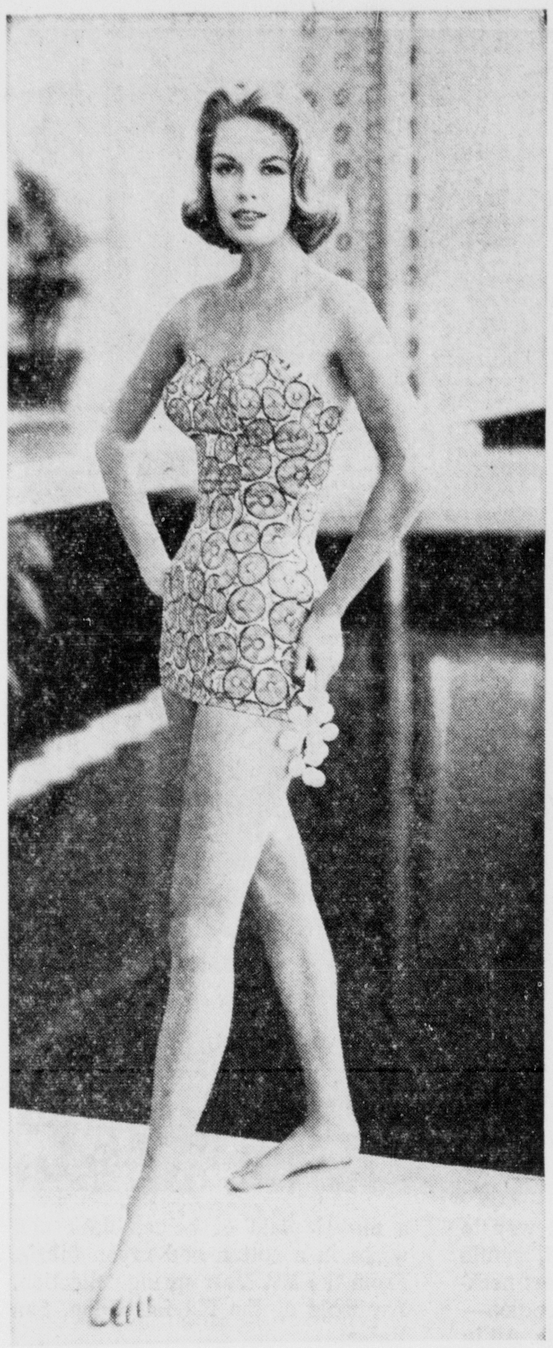
With characteristic enthusiasm, high school girls have taken to the pencil-slim silhouette in a wide range of styles, colors and leather textures. While dress and party pumps tend to be most pointed, casual flats and school footwear are moderately tapered.

High fronts are a dominant trend in tailored styles. Spectator effects are also seen on tailored pumps. For casual and leisure wear, the lower-cut shell is favored—in either a flat or a low stacked heel.

The color wheel spins wildly this spring—and stops almost anywhere. Teen shoes are popular in neutrals, pastels and bright carnivals. Bone and white are seen most often in smooth and lustre leather, while cool greens, hot oranges and golds are worn in brushed, smooth and grained leather shoes.

Black patent leather pumps are fashion leaders, with black almost as popular in smooth and grained leather. There is widespread use of two and three leathers and colors in overlays, patchwork or stripping effects.

Though bows have bowed out this season, cut-outs and novelty patterns alternate with straps for detail interest. "Fun" shoes and styles with interchangeable monograms and ornaments are particularly favored by the school crowd—but chiefly for class and casual flats.



GET INTO THE swim this summer in a bright and sleek lastex swimsheath from Marina del Mar that pampers every curve, then adds color to the scene with a brilliant print. Available at Luana's Fashions, San Rafael.

COMFORT SEEN IN NEW FURS

Furs in a variety of pelts, silhouettes and lengths are more than just the dictates of fashion for spring. They are designed with an eye to wearing comfort as well as elegance.

Dramatic, or small and versatile, are scarves, ascots, mile long boas and stoles, but the newest trend is for short fur pieces in capes, boleros and jackets, for day or evening wear.

Little formal jackets and ideal for slim or full skirts. capes or "hug-me" smaller stoles with capelet backs are ideal for slim or full skirts. Jackets are seen in different lengths because many designers firmly believe that each woman should be able to select a jacket in the best suited length to fit her own particular way of life.

Furs in color—natural or newly dyed — offer a wider selection of peltry than ever before. In the natural furs, of course, there are mink, ermine, chinchilla, sable and fox.

Natural Alaska fur seal now is sheared to achieve a pastel amber color with lustre. Of the dyed furs, black or mocha dyed Southwest African Persian lamb and white or beige American broadtail are among the newest looking.

Generally speaking, the fur collections stress furs for utmost luxury and lasting charm, furs so durable in their design that they will not be limited to a single season, but will go on throughout the year, looking always pretty, flattering and surely cherished by the wearer.

UNRIVALLED IN elegance and news is this truly beautiful swimsuit "La Reina" by Rose Marie Reid. Incredibly lightweight! Choose your crown jewel of the sea at Sarrae's, San Rafael.

Choose Jacket Dress With Care

With the growing importance of jacket dresses on the fashion scene, the shopper should remember that the ensemble is a sure-fire hit in a woman's wardrobe only when the total of the parts of the costume look and fit well.

Make sure the jacket is as flattering as the dress itself—and vice versa. If the costume is in two colors, make sure that each of the hues is complementary to the whole, and to you.

Apron Design

New apron design for ladies-in-waiting features big off-center pockets, adjustable Empire waistline tie, comes in bright red and yellow calico reverse print. Best of all, it can be worn after the baby arrives, too

Spring Sportswear Meets Apparel Needs

Reflecting current fashion and the American way of life, spring sportswear "go-togethers" meet apparel needs for any hour or occasion, and appeal to both the imagination and the budget. The roles that sportswear and separates play are many — from them, a woman can assemble an up-to-date suit look, a glamorous evening costume, an outfit for active sports, all at modest cost.

Zooming interest in travel accents the need for coordinates, knits, jackets, blouses and sweaters. Pants, and now culottes, grow in importance and variety.

The popularity of bowling and boating calls for comfortable, appropriate clothing, and designers have concentrated on meeting the need attractively.

Wherever these busy go-togethers go, they go fashionably. The spring outlook is for easy, graceful silhouettes that glow with color, and sportswear and separates interpret the trend excitingly.

Supple, colorful knits; flower-printed sweaters and longer, looser, blousier sweaters; cape collared knitted coats; long and easy overblouses; culottes for street or sports, knee pants and long, lean pants — these are some of the many things that fashion offers the woman who is shopping for spring sportswear.

Coordinates, while definitely made for each other, trend away from precise matching to more imaginative combinations — print with solid color, smooth fabric with textured fabric. Three colors often unite in one well-planned outfit.

Adaptable both to the eased silhouette and to travel, knits attract even more than the usual attention this season. They appear in new colors — greens from grass through mint, warm pinks, luscious bananas, to name just a few — and show such fashion influences as side closings and back-draped cowl necklines.

The story is not just a matter of one- and two-piece knitted suits — knits are used for everything fashionable, including tunics, overblouses, culottes.

'Loomed-In' Stretch Fibers In New Fabrics

In the months to come, stretch fabrics take on brand-new significance and make their appearance in just about every fashion from at-home clothes to sportswear and a variety of accessories.

In the new era of the sixties, the lasting ease of the wondrous Helenca stretch fabrics is destined to play a part in every woman's wardrobe.

A comparatively new fiber, which originally started off in its fashion life in line-taming girdles and later in gloves — now gains new dimensions and new horizons as some of the nation's leading mills conceive new uses, handlings and designs for this stretch fiber.

For example, Einiger Mills, long famous for its cashmere and other fine suitings and coatings adds more fit, comfort and fashion with fabric stretchability. From off the looms comes beautiful Dupionis, spun rayon shantungs, spun rayon tweeds and satins, cotton ribs and even cotton denims with wonderful built in elasticity.

Terry Cloth Takes To Terrific Color

Cotton terry cloth steps out from its humble shower room beginnings into the glamour field of fashions. This season the most fashionable gals will want to cover-up with new terry cloth creations. Outfits readymade for the beach crowd includes: jackets, beach dresses, dry-off pants and full skirts in luscious shades of grape, lemon, lime, apricot, vivid blue . . . and for the more demanding chic-dresser, there is bright red, or gaily striped combinations as well as the brightest whites.

This year when you want the best in beachwear . . . a towel will do! Here's some simple hints for your own creations; a plain white towel with fringed ends will make a poncho-style cover-up, just cut hole in the center of the towel for the head and stitch it down the sides leaving space enough for the arms, and with fringed ends merrily hanging round the thighs.

Rain 'Dears'

Spring showers are fun when you're wearing a smart new raincoat that takes to water like a duck! Many of the new spring styles are also designed for fair-weather wear, thereby doing double duty.

Specially treated cotton tapestries are popular in three-quarter length styles, while the traditional yellow "slicker" in rubberized fabric is featuring cape-sleeves for a new look. The trench coat, with its air of foreign intrigue, is now a classic in specially treated combed cotton poplin.

Pretty Printed And Shaped —That's Spring Lingerie Story

Color, prints and softer shapes make the news in lingerie and loungewear for spring.

Pleated, flared and bias cut skirts in outerwear set the slip free to follow more flowing lines, and there are enough bouffants around to stimulate a demand for petticoats.

The latter are soft, rather than stiff, and especially pretty in prints — bolder prints than are usually employed for lingerie.

Culottes call for their own special under-coverage. There are two principal schools of thought on this. One favors slim pettipants, while the other copies the culotte, in divided underskirts with more fullness than pettipants. Still a third choice is in the form of blousy bloomers.

Brief and bouncy petticoats are planned to go under knee-tickler skirts.

Fashions for sleeping follow the trends of outerwear. Sportswear look is important, in well-tailored pajama shirts that double for loungewear. Gay calico prints and patchwork effects add to the sportsy look.

Another approach to slumbertime is fresh, dainty and feminine. Miracle batistes, tricots and easy-care cotton blends appear in sleep shifts, gowns and baby dolls. Generous helpings of cotton eyelet provide fashion refreshment.

White organdy is used for peignoirs.

Casual Bags 'Spread Out'

Whether traveling to town or cross-country, the newest handbags are oversize and organized. The bigger they are, the more important.

Coupled with emphasis on size and shape is an increased interest in materials. Fabrics are different and expensive-looking and leather, richly mellow.

The horizontal line appears in sleek and trim shapings with room for everything. These are usually well "handled" with double or fairly-wide straps for easy carrying.

Richly pointed tapestries and other novelty patterns are used over and over again in spring handbags and however elegant, their interiors are roomy and often exceptionally capacious.

Plaids, Checks

Checks in spring fashion are expanded, colorful. Plaids are glens, or large and open.

Flowers Bloom Profusely On Intimate Spring Wear

Flowers bloom profusely on spring's intimate apparel with a bold effect and lots of color! Blazing, oversize floral patterns combine tropical reds, pinks, oranges and golds, bloom in hot tangerine.

Delicately pretty pastels are still very popular in sleep and loungewear—some with color-accented lace trims, some in gingham checks. Light florals cover everything from old-fashioned roses to petit points and spring bouquets. Lace trims are also on the flowery side and frosty eyelets are pretty trims.

Candy-striped muu muus are designed for sleeping, as is the Italian choir boy robe, made into a shift . . . many of the new spring styles have a strong Italian sportswear flavor about them.

In pajamas, blue and white ticking is a new fabric interest . . . main-tailored styles come in cotton plisse and broadcloth.

Loungewear is culotte-happy with both slim styles that look like eased britches (these come in sturdy cotton or more luxuriously in pink silk with matching jacket) and loose divider-skirt styles in checks, or tail-fashion is a bright plaid silk organza overskirt worn with slim culottes. Other lounging designs range from linen-like wrap dresses to long, elegant hostess gowns.

Blue denim appears in a smart tunic to wear over striped pants, in duster styles and gondolier-shirt sleepwear. Nylon organdy also figures prominently in loungewear, in both florals and bright stripes.

Something new has been added to the popular baby doll . . . dainty panties and bra are topped with a short gown in baby doll style, and voila! the bra-doll.

Slips designed for decollete fashions are strapless and achieve their precise contour fit and stay up with stretch tops. Slips and panties continue to look their prettiest when matched with foundations. As in sleepwear, laces on slips are flowery garlands outlining bodices and hems. Petti-pants with lace edgings and appilques are equally adorable by day or by night.

A La India

A strong Eastern influence has invaded spring collections, resulting in some unusual and exotic fashions. The authentic sari styling of India has been adapted to a dinner-cocktail sheath with modified scoop neckline and bold-banded short sleeves. This striking version of the sari can be worn with or without a separate floor-length skirt which has been split at the sides.

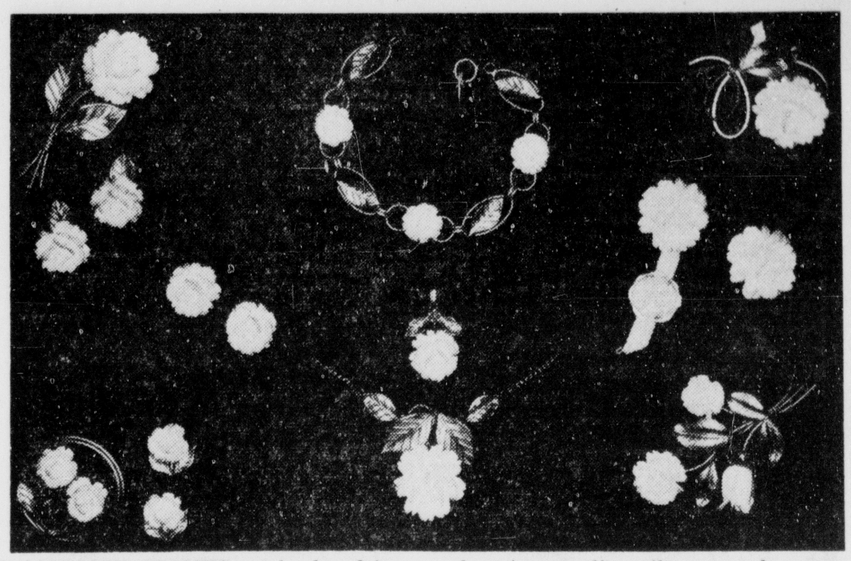
Color has never been more dramatic in its range of bold, crisp, misty or variegated hues and tints. So, check your calendar of gala events, check your favorite shops and prepare yourself for the heady excitement of the social butterfly beauties.

Civil War Hats Revival Forecast

In recognition of, and to coincide with the Civil War Centennial, the National Cap and Cloth Hat Institute reports a revival in interest in Civil War type headgear — Confederate gray rebel caps and Union blue Yankee caps with authentic insignias will be seen ahead in young masculine circles.

They're Off Center

Asymmetrical effects are noted in new-for-spring styles. To create these effects, off-center buttoning or trims, surplice necklines and diagonal stripes are used.



EXQUISITE STONES set by hand in the old-world manner of genuine ivory with rich gold-filled metal or gleaming sterling silver may be seen at Michael A. Gorb, Credit Jeweler, San Rafael. Designed by an artist and created by skilled hands.

THE FASHION OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT WITH POLKA DOTS AND FLANNELS

Eased jackets marking off the rib cage, the waist or the hipbone, take on a suit look with matching skirts, and the look is free-falling. Collarless, scarf-tied or with deep-dish scoops, the accent is on neckline variety. Sleeves are shorter, often curvier.

Knits, especially of the honeycombed interlock variety, are favored in navy, red and gold. Wool jerseys are runners-up. Surprise is in "classic" fabrics: pin-checked wools; silk-like polka dots and gray and navy flannels.

Rain separates, the brightest idea (literally) on the spring scene. Colors are dashing, guarantee high visibility on good days, cannot be ignored on others. Made of water-proof or water-repellent poplins and damasks—jacket tops, ponchos, pull-overs, shirt affairs, can be matched in culottes, pants, straight skirts, even a dress.

In a season of contrasts, you can easily concoct a "do-it-yourself" suit. Choose a slim line or pleated skirt from the many versatile, colorful separates groups—add a back-buttoned jacket, a jacket with a hidden zipper or a new "way-out" poncho and lo, your suit is made.

Well-Dressed Look Of Handsome Hats

Heading into spring to give young men that finishing touch when dressing for a special occasion and the wearer a sense of pride—is a brand-new group of smart hats.

New this spring are fabric hats in madras or batik prints matching jackets of same fabric. Also seen are solid fabric hats with printed bands and brim welting. Smaller shapes with narrower brims are predominant.

Three popular new styles in brushed wool are the tapered front pork pie, the soft pinch front model, and the center crease. While these have a definite sporty air, they are equally appropriate for boy's dress-up occasions.

Simple Lines, Bold Color Stirs Exciting News In Spring Frocks

The many variations on dress themes for the new season point up a case for extremes. On one side—the svelte, lithe-lined sheath silhouette; on the other — are the full-blown beauties.

Lending shape and style credence to these important silhouettes (and the subtle variations in the center) are exciting new fabrics with texture, lightness of weight, color, print and pattern all equally important.

Linens, silk linens and pesante are fabrics important for texture. Smoothies such as silk, shined-up cottons, jersies, and many, many synthetics in solo or in harmonious blend with natural fibers are part of the picture.

Menswear fabrics and tweeds; raw silks, surrahs, tie-silks, light-as-a-tissue woolens and crepes—are tantalizing texture interests.

Airy chiffons, sheerest of cottons and a host of new man-made fibers and blends are the fabrics that further drape and shape spring - into - summer dresses and ensembles.

The color news is expressed in all the bold pastels of the season plus hot colors that are "real cool." In dresses, black and white in all possible harlequin and domino contrasts express compatible chic. And, don't forget it's going to be an "iced coffee" summer as browns step out in linens and lace, cottons and chiffons in all degrees of creamy goodness, from cafe au lait to espresso brown.

All shades of grey are stand outs; paisley prints are especially good in black and brown; cheers for the red,white and blue, too — and a big welcome to off beat combo's such as purples with turquoise, hot pinks with shells and trios of acid green, citron and blue.

You'll love the subtle blendings of stained-glass prints, new-hued glen plaids and bold floral splashes.

Waistlines are in evidence, easily defined, relaxed in look. Necklines are absolutely unlimited in their many varations from cardigan to deep V-plunges. Included are such themes as jewel and slit necklines, scoops, bateaus, cowls, diagonals, mandarin, sabrinas and pie cuts.

Skirts have their day in modified sheath styling; pleats in countless varations; trumpet, pouf, breezeway and bias cuts. Many dresses have lots of mid-riff interest, or at the lowered waistline — others make the neckline a focal point while many after-five styles put the spotlight on hemlines with harem draperies and accents.

Important in dresses too, are the many little extras of matching jackets or other tops, to make the dress much more elegant, much more versatile.

Weights, Colors Lighter In Men's Spring Topcoats

Shorter lengths, lighter-weight fabrics and colors a shade or two lighter than have been popular in the recent past mark the new topcoats.

Ivy wearers still prefer the single-breasted, fly-front chesterfields with a slightly accented waist-line. The modified Continental models are made in button-through fronts and, for the most part, are made in the split-raglan construction that appears to be a set-in sleeve at front and a raglan sleeve at back.

This season there's a place in the sun for raincoats. Fashion-wise styling and new fabric finishes have taken the raincoat out from under the umbrella and into an everyday role — on days when there is not a cloud in the sky.

In rainwear, the Ivy lads go for the British balmacaan model with its full raglan sleeve and military collar. Best colors in this model are the naturals, putty shades and tans.

Also typical of the new crop of all-weather coats is the Continental. A new shorter length, belted back, side vents as well as set in sleeves and custom-like buckle tabs tailor it to a life of fashionable ease for those spring showers.

The styled-up rainwear for this spring comes in a wide range of patterns including glen plaids, checks and madras-type plaids.

Easy Styles Define Boys' New Slacks

Slacks for spring offer boys 6 to 16 more new style, fabric and pattern interests. As in past seasons, slacks still are slim and trim. Frontier or western type pockets have been replaced with more pleasing quarter-top treatment.

Colors this season are lighter. Putty and bone tones . . . pewter (reflecting lighter green trend) . . . blues, alone and in combinations with olive, which this season is still an important color. Solid colors, too, also checks (small and medium) plaids, mostly glen, madrases and batiks.

Fabrics, particularly for late spring into summer, offer seersucker, cotton gabardines, denims, twills, poplins and new variety of corduroy. Many new man-made synthetics and synthetic blends for long smart wear and easy care.

Shades of old and good-time living . . . look for knickers to appear again.

Color Line Tamers

A wider-than-ever range of colors in foundations are contributing to the pretty look of Spring and suiting the many moods of feminine wearers. This year will see, in the privacy of the boudoir, all these beautiful colors: turquoise, peach, aquamarine, lavender, violet, hot pink, pale pink, yellow, deep and vibrant blue, flaming red, champagne, beige and of course, the classic white and black.

Stronger Patterns Seen In Men's Ties

Stronger patterns, more brilliant colors and a return to popularity of the underknot designs mark the new neckwear for spring.

There will be more native prints, such as batiks, and there will be more light silvery grounds accented by patterns of deeper hue. Stripes will be woven on twill, satin and madras fabrics, as well as the familiar reps.

They Stretch

New developments in stretch fabrics are reflected in maternity wear, where the tendency is to replace cut-outs in skirts and pants with expandable fabrics.

CATALINA SPORTSWEAR'S Mix and Match in a batik pattern for spring retains appearance with a minimum of care. Colorfast, they are machine washable and may be dried in an automatic dryer. 100% cotton. Available at Sybell's on The Boardwalk, Belvedere.

Simply Elegant After-5 Styles

If the success of your social life is based on a sensational dress for a gala evening, then this should be one of the most exciting, fun - filled seasons ever.

After-five, ball and date-time gowns have never been so gorgeous. Fashion puts emphasis on fabric in airiest chiffons, soft whispering silks, handsomely-luxurious cottons and a wide variety of elegant-look blends.

"Jewels," embroideries and dramatic accents are used to trim the bodice, the hems, the drapes and bouffant dress themes for a look of sparkle to rival a queen's gems.

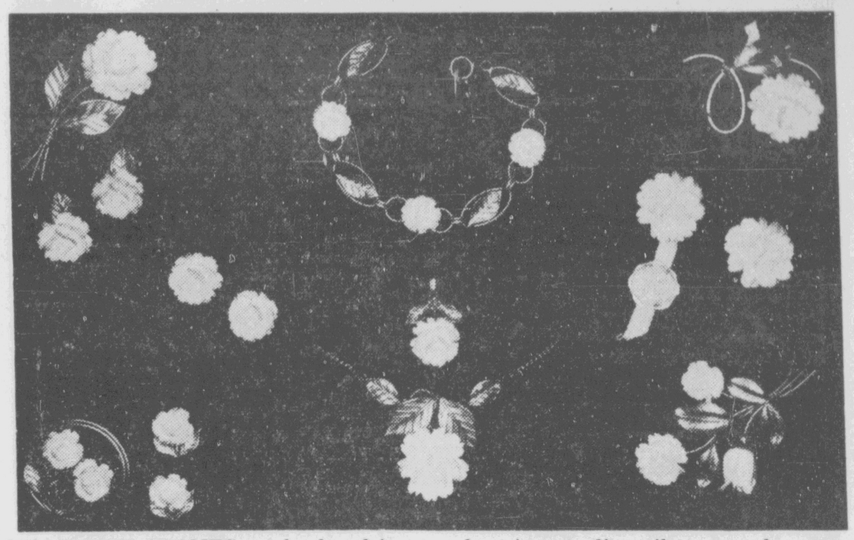
Color has never been more dramatic in its range of bold, crisp, misty or variegated hues and tints. So, check your calendar of gala events, check your favorite shops and prepare yourself for the heady excitement of the social butterfly beauties.

Civil War Hats Revival Forecast

In recognition of, and to coincide with the Civil War Centennial, the National Cap and Cloth Hat Institute reports a revival in interest in Civil War type headgear — Confederate gray rebel caps and Union blue Yankee caps with authentic insignias will be seen ahead in young masculine circles.

They're Off Center

Asymmetrical effects are noted in new-for-spring styles. To create these effects, off-center buttoning or trims, surplice necklines and diagonal stripes are used.



EXQUISITE STONES set by hand in the old-world manner of genuine ivory with rich gold-filled metal or gleaming sterling silver may be seen at Michael A. Gorb, Credit Jeweler, San Rafael. Designed by an artist and created by skilled hands.

THE FASHION OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT WITH POLKA DOTS AND FLANNELS

Eased jackets marking off the rib cage, the waist or the hipbone, take on a suit look with matching skirts, and the look is free-falling. Collarless, scarf-tied or with deep-dish scoops, the accent is on neckline variety. Sleeves are shorter, often curvier.

Knits, especially of the honeycombed interlock variety, are favored in navy, red and gold. Wool jerseys are runners-up. Surprise is in "classic" fabrics: pin-checked wools; silk-like polka dots and gray and navy flannels.

Rain separates, the brightest idea (literally) on the spring scene. Colors are dashing, guarantee high visibility on good days, cannot be ignored on others. Made of waterproof or water-repellent poplins and damasks—jacket tops, ponchos, pull-overs, shirt affairs, can be matched in culottes, pants, straight skirts, even a dress.

In a season of contrasts, you can easily concoct a "do-it-yourself" suit. Choose a slim line or pleated skirt from the many versatile, colorful separates groups—add a back-buttoned jacket, a jacket with a hidden zipper or a new "way-out" poncho and lo, your suit is made.

Well-Dressed Look Of Handsome Hats

Heading into spring to give young men that finishing touch when dressing for a special occasion and the wearer a sense of pride—is a brand-new group of smart hats.

New this spring are fabric hats in madras or batik prints matching jackets of same fabric. Also seen are solid fabric hats with printed bands and brim welting. Smaller shapes with narrower brims are predominant.

Three popular new styles in brushed wool are the tapered front pork pie, the soft pinch front model, and the center crease. While these have a definite sporty air, they are equally appropriate for boy's dress-up occasions.

Simple Lines, Bold Color Stirs Exciting News In Spring Frocks

The many variations on dress themes for the new season point up a case for extremes. On one side—the svelte, lithe-lined sheath silhouette; on the other — are the full-blown beauties.

Lending shape and style credence to these important silhouettes (and the subtle variations in the center) are exciting new fabrics with texture, lightness of weight, color, print and pattern all equally important.

Linens, silk linens and pesante are fabrics important for texture. Smoothies such as silk, shined-up cottons, jersies, and many, many synthetics in solo or in harmonious blend with natural fibers are part of the picture.

Menswear fabrics and tweeds; raw silks, surrahs, tie-silks, light-as-a-tissue woolens and crepes—are tantalizing texture interests.

FEATURED IN spring fashions at Mayer's Ltd. in Mill Valley is this Ivan Fredericks Glen Plaid in grey and beige. It is 47% acetate, 45% rayon and 8% silk. Sizes 10 to 16.

Light, Airy Fabrics; Relaxed, Easy Lines

Spring and Easter officially arrive for many fashion-conscious women when there's a brand-new suit in their wardrobe.

What a wonderfully exciting suit season lies ahead! For travel, for town, for any dress-up occasion, suit fashions are eminently suitable to the occasion.

Necklines create a focal point — especially in cardigans and the stand-offish wedding ring collars.

Buttons that look like jewels, like marble or bits of sculpture give a new interest and appeal to the jacket. Sleeves are chopped off at the elbow, or go slightly below or gently wander down to bracelet length from their dropped shoulders for a subtle look of width.

The skin-tight sheath suit skirt is pushed from the scene by softly, eased lines that create a smart dressmaker look or give a whirlaway fullness with a flurry of all around pleats.

DEMI-JACKET

Topping these gentle skirts are cropped demi-jackets, Eton lengths and others that usually end a hairline below the natural waistline with an unconfined look and easy-going freedom.

Fitted suits — with longer jackets — are nipped-in but not hugging; use bias bands, pockets and other detailing to heighten the fitted illusion.

The walking costume with its 32" and 40" coat takes on new directions for early spring over skirt or skirt and coordinated overblouse.

In fabrics — the standout is the comfortable, very smart and smooth looking double knit in tone and tone patterns, tweedy, jacquard and surface textured treatments.

Smooth silks and neat worsteds are elegant and so-very right for more dress-up occasions while tweeds, looped mohairs, muted and textured Tweeds, as well as a wonderful line-up of hard finish worsted are smartly right for daytime wear.

Suit colors, too, are absolutely uninhibited in color. You'll find the whole rainbow just crowded into the suit racks. Like picking posies out of a spring garden — you'll want to make up a suit bouquet in strawberries and azaleas, violets and periwinkles, purple pansies and jonquils, goldenrod and morning glories, apricots and buttercups and so on and on — in sparkling brilliance.

STARK BLACKS

Crisp, stark blacks lead in the Easter parade, but thanks to crisp touches or sheer, airy fabrics they shed warm sun rays and continue smartly and cooly clear through the summer for everywhere wear.

A clearer, brighter navy, most often white accented, finds smooth sailing in spring suits for '61. Goldened neutrals such as straw, saffron, caramel and flax are the newest of the new in suiting neutrals.

So whether you are about to suit yourself smartly for the Easter season, for a week-end trip or a world cruise — a suit for the office, a special-occasion suit — or a suit for suit's sake — remember the newest are destined for round the calendar, round the world, round town and for going round in the smartest fashion circles — with ease, grace and elegance.

Solid Color

Some millions of neckties will be purchased for Easter this year, and no matter who's doing the buying, there's going to be a wide variety to choose from. This season's lines cater to every man's taste from simple underknot designs to conversation-inspiring allover patterns. Very strong in patterned ties is a definite neatness that suggests a "solid color" feeling.

WHETHER YOU'RE parading or not, Easter is the perfect time to launch your spring wardrobe. The Hart Schaffner & Marx collection for spring is outstanding. Newsy Knits Get Nod Of Approval

In casual and sportswear collections cotton knit takes on an important role in stripes, polka dots and solids like daffodil, tangerine, turquoise, lilac. Bolder stripes combining white, yellow, orange and hot pink are a striking addition. The beach shift with front zipper teams with tank top, play suits, some of them in two-color combinations.

Top of knee, Capri, walker and short shorts lengths in pants, slim and full skirts, bloused and sashed or straight falling overblouses complete group.

For town, smart wool knits remain favorites with busy women who enjoy their wrinkle-shedding characteristics.

New styling and fabulous new colors add additional appeal to the wonderful "on the go" qualities of a handsome wool knit or blended knit costume.

For dress-up wear other than sports, knits boast exciting scarf or cowl necklines, soft gathers at the waist, contrast stitching or show off in the fairly new jacquard knit.

Stretch Gloves

Colorful stretch gloves are accompanied into Spring of '61 by matching clutch handbags. Two favorite duos: red-and-white polka-dotted nylon shortie gloves with clutch bag.

New Look—'61 Is One Of Subtle Ease

Watch for a profound change in women's clothing fashions as the "New Look" is subtle enough to be accepted without any hesitation.

The sum of lithe slenderness, mobile cut, easy shaping, elongated bodice, bared throat, bared arms, and a "small" but decorative head with individualized hair styling and forward hats — will comprise the "No. 1 Silhouette" in spring fashions.

Men's Raincoats

Foriegn "intrigue" in raincoats! Yes, Great Britian long ago became chief exporter of men's raincoats to the United States. Later, Italy came into the picture with many novelty garments. Switzerland and other countries joined the procession.

More recently, raincoats are being imported from Israel, Spain and Japan. England again is intensifying its efforts, and American manufacturers also have taken up the challenge.

Decided British Accent Flavors New Season In Masculine Wear

If sportswear for Spring 1960 could speak, reports the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, it would have a decided British accent. From coats and slacks to shirts and walk shorts, the word is British—but with an obvious American flavor.

Sport jackets, for instance, include a modified British hacking style—waistlines, a bit accented, shoulders natural, with a slight flare-out at the base and vents at the side or in the center. Stronger patterns and bolder colors are to be found in Ivy type sport coats, while the Continentals have edged closer than ever to the more conservative Trans-American Design.

Slacks continue in the slim silhouette so familiar in recent seasons, with convenient self-supporting waistband in greater evidence than ever.

Seersucker, a definite British favorite, will have wider acceptance in casual suits, sport jackets as well as in slacks, walk shorts and sport shirts—many are blessed with wash-wear properties.

Knitted sport shirts are among the leaders for spring-wear this season, while in cut-and sewn types for sportswear, pullovers will reach great popularity. Returning to favor are the so-called jacket shirts which, in many cases, are designed for wear with walk shorts, slacks and swimming trunks in the country or at the beach. A new note in knitted shirts has been introduced with such touches as sweater-designs, and fresh detailing around collars and shoulders.

Speaking of sweaters, they now come in summerweights in a profusion of styles, including cardigans and pullovers. Virtually all the casual wear and leisure wear for spring-summer 1961, point up stripes in a tremendous variety. New interpretations of the batik pattern, the selection of beach-wear styles and ideas may possibly be the biggest ever. There's also a new emphasis on seersucker as a sportswear fashion fabric.

Carefree, relaxed and British-accented, these sum up the spring and summer sportswear picture for 1961.

This Spring 'Eyes Have It'

The woman who receives lavish attention is the woman whose eyes are bewitchingly beautiful because she subtly enhances them with eye make-up, and lovely eyes are focal points for spring.

There are four steps, say Coty cosmetologists, that will dramatize a woman's eyes.

First, select a subtle eye shadow color that blends with the color of your gown. Stroke the shadow in with a wide swath just above the lashes, then blend with fingertips, upward and outward — but not beyond the edge of the brow. For a more exotic effect, use iridescent eye shadow in conjunction with eye shadow chosen, and lightly blend in for a luminous effect.

The second step is to line the eyes with liquid liner. Hold your mirror below your face so that eyes are half-closed. Starting at the inner corner, draw a fine line along the base of the upper lashes. Finish with a short, fine, up-tilted stroke at the corners to give them a longer look.

The third step — darken brows to beautifully accent the eyes. Apply pencil in feather strokes to the hairs of the brows, touching the skin only to fill in sparse places or to reshape or arch the brows. Then, gently blend in with the little finger or brush.

The fourth step, which gives a deep, romantic luster to eyes, is to sweep over the lashes from base to tip using a wand-type mascara applicator.

THERE'S SURE-TO-PLEASE SPICE IN BOYS' SPORTSWEAR VARIETY

It wasn't long ago that a pair of faded blue jeans and a ravelled sweater made up the complete wardrobe for the young man about the town or campus.

But times styles are changed, as evidenced by this spring's vivid array of slacks and sports jackets, styled specifically for the younger generation. The emphasis is on 'natural' styling and a look that's slim, tapered and tasteful, which is precisely what the youngsters themselves said they wanted in a recent survey of high school and college sportswear preferences.

The Gilbert study, in which 3,081 youngsters were interviewed by this major youth survey organization, pinpointed the styles, fabrics and colors favored by the younger generation. It also made clear that today's young men are determined to be well dressed—at school or on their own time.

The project was commissioned by the H. I. S. Sportswear Company, which used it as a guide in creating its spring line.

Most of the young men say they want pencil-slim tapered leg slacks with no cuffs—about 50% want no belts, the others will settle for side tabs and/or extension waist bands.

Favored fabrics are twill, cord and tropi-cloth; favored patterns range from solids to district checks; and most wanted colors include charcoal, olive and loden.

As young men grow older, reported the statisticians who conducted the study, they become increasingly conservative in taste. For those who want youthful styling with a more traditional flavor, there are slacks that feature subtly tapered legs, pleatless styling, pre-sewn cuffs and blind-stitched belt loops.

Nearly everyone of the more than 3,000 young men whose opinions helped determine spring styles, agreed on one factor—they want to look well all spring and summer. Thanks to an abundant variety of fabrics, colors and styles, they will get their wish.

IDEAL FOR TRAVEL, this 9-ounce midweight Springweave suit by the Palm Beach Company can be worn 10 months of the year. This blended fabric has all the good looks of the most expensive imports, plus wrinkle resistance and crease retention from its kid mohair and Dacron contents. See it at Cazassa's Men's Shop in San Rafael.

'HALF WINDSOR'

Men's Knotty Tie Problems Take On Some New Twists

For some it's a knotty problem, but it needn't be if men select the proper tie knot to suit their facial proportions as well as their collar style. Most men, however, knot their ties in the same manner all the time because they are unaware of the several different variations afforded them.

A tie is the focal point of a man's dress and often is the only way he can express any individuality. Using a different knot can add a new look to his appearance.

At a recent meeting the Men's Tie Foundation, an organization made up of tie designers and manufacturers, reintroduced a new tie knot, the "half Windsor." Specifically designed to coordinate with the new British look in shirts which feature medium spread shorter collar points, it is also good for the man who prefers the less full look of the regular Windsor knot.

Aside from the bow tie and new "half Windsor," two other knots are now popular. The traditional four-in-hand is the thinnest in dimension and is a must if the man prefers Ivy inspired button-down oxford shirts with the tab or pin tab varieties, both of which have a very narrow spread between the collar points. It is flattering to the man with a full face and short neck as the thin knot helps his facial appearance.

For those who favor the continental or widespread collar models, the Windsor knot is ideal. Its triangular shape adequately fills in the space between the collar points. This knot is suitable for the man with the very lean face.

For a tie to look its best whatever the knot, it should always have a slight indentation called a "dimple" in the center immediately under the knot. This is easily done by creasing the tie with the forefinger just before securing the knot in place.

Tie patterns and colors this season provides a man with a wide variety of possible choices to suit his individual tastes. Most popular will be colorfully striped repps followed closely by solid color surface interest creations, tone-on-tone designs, and subtle under the knot pattern effects. The most important color treatment include olive and gold, with silk the most desired fabric.

Small Shapes Pace Men's Hat Styles

Small shapes continue to set the style pace in men's hats for spring. Look for more medium shades as opposed to the dark colors that have dominated felt styling for the past several years.

Lightweight, crushable bodies will be more popular than ever. These will be used in dressy models as well as in the casual shapes.

New colors will be in the olive family — gray-olives and brown-olives. Soft mixture blends will mark the new grays, browns and bronze shades. Deep-dish brims with decided downturns in front and upturns in back are another fashion-worthy note.

Take Texture

Textured fabrics contribute to the important look of spring handbags. Softly rounded or tall and slim bags are shaped from burlap, homespun and tapestries with raised stitching.

Coordinates Go Into Handbags

Accessories for the handbag develop a new range of color and beauty this spring. Coordinated wallets, eyeglass cases and cigarette cases match or complement the handbag.

To use with a black handbag, there are accessories of printed miniature tapestry or brocade as well as authentic needlepoint and embroidered silk.

For the tailored or sports bag, copies of favorite spectator shoe trims are shown. These include pinked edges with perforations, tiny lacing and bow effects, and combinations of colors and textures.

Pastel leathers in new purse accessories have special trims that pick up the detail of a special handbag, such as flowers or stitching.

Coat Duets

Coats try new color and fabric combinations for spring. They may be half solid, half checked, or with boucle tops and smooth wool skirts.

Decided British Accent Flavors New Season In Masculine Wear

If sportswear for Spring 1960 could speak, reports the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, it would have a decided British accent. From coats and slacks to shirts and walk shorts, the word is British—but with an obvious American flavor.

Sport jackets, for instance, include a modified British hacking style—waistlines, a bit accented, shoulders natural, with a slight flare-out at the base and vents at the side or in the center. Stronger patterns and bolder colors are to be found in Ivy type sport coats, while the Continentals have edged closer than ever to the more conservative Trans-American Design.

Slacks continue in the slim silhouette so familiar in recent seasons, with convenient self-supporting waistband in greater evidence than ever.

Seersucker, a definite British favorite, will have wider acceptance in casual suits, sport jackets as well as in slacks, walk shorts and sport shirts—many are blessed with wash-wear properties.

Knitted sport shirts are among the leaders for spring-wear this season, while in cut-and sewn types for sportswear, pullovers will reach great popularity. Returning to favor are the so-called jacket shirts which, in many cases, are designed for wear with walk shorts, slacks and swimming trunks in the country or at the beach. A new note in knitted shirts has been introduced with such touches as sweater-designs, and fresh detailing around collars and shoulders.

Speaking of sweaters, they now come in summerweights in a profusion of styles, including cardigans and pullovers. Virtually all the casual wear and leisure wear for spring-summer 1961, point up stripes in a tremendous variety. New interpretations of the batik pattern, the selection of beach-wear styles and ideas may possibly be the biggest ever. There's also a new emphasis on seersucker as a sportswear fashion fabric.

Carefree, relaxed and British-accented, these sum up the spring and summer sportswear picture for 1961.

This Spring 'Eyes Have It'

The woman who receives lavish attention is the woman whose eyes are bewitchingly beautiful because she subtly enhances them with eye make-up, and lovely eyes are focal points for spring.

There are four steps, say Coty cosmetologists, that will dramatize a woman's eyes.

First, select a subtle eye shadow color that blends with the color of your gown. Stroke the shadow in with a wide swath just above the lashes, then blend with fingertips, upward and outward — but not beyond the edge of the brow. For a more exotic effect, use iridescent eye shadow in conjunction with eye shadow chosen, and lightly blend in for a luminous effect.

The second step is to line the eyes with liquid liner. Hold your mirror below your face so that eyes are half-closed. Starting at the inner corner, draw a fine line along the base of the upper lashes. Finish with a short, fine, up-tilted stroke at the corners to give them a longer look.

The third step — darken brows to beautifully accent the eyes. Apply pencil in feather strokes to the hairs of the brows, touching the skin only to fill in sparse places or to reshape or arch the brows. Then, gently blend in with the little finger or brush.

The fourth step, which gives a deep, romantic luster to eyes, is to sweep over the lashes from base to tip using a wand-type mascara applicator.

THERE'S SURE-TO-PLEASE SPICE IN BOYS' SPORTSWEAR VARIETY

It wasn't long ago that a pair of faded blue jeans and a ravelled sweater made up the complete wardrobe for the young man about the town or campus.

But times styles are changed, as evidenced by this spring's vivid array of slacks and sports jackets, styled specifically for the younger generation. The emphasis is on 'natural' styling and a look that's slim, tapered and tasteful, which is precisely what the youngsters themselves said they wanted in a recent survey of high school and college sportswear preferences.

The Gilbert study, in which 3,081 youngsters were interviewed by this major youth survey organization, pinpointed the styles, fabrics and colors favored by the younger generation. It also made clear that today's young men are determined to be well dressed—at school or on their own time.

The project was commissioned by the H. I. S. Sportswear Company, which used it as a guide in creating its spring line.

Most of the young men say they want pencil-slim tapered leg slacks with no cuffs—about 50% want no belts, the others will settle for side tabs and/or extension waist bands.

Favored fabrics are twill, cord and tropi-cloth; favored patterns range from solids to district checks; and most wanted colors include charcoal, olive and loden.

As young men grow older, reported the statisticians who conducted the study, they become increasingly conservative in taste. For those who want youthful styling with a more traditional flavor, there are slacks that feature subtly tapered legs, pleatless styling, pre-sewn cuffs and blind-stitched belt loops.

Nearly everyone of the more than 3,000 young men whose opinions helped determine spring styles, agreed on one factor—they want to look well all spring and summer. Thanks to an abundant variety of fabrics, colors and styles, they will get their wish.

New Bags Are Good Travel Mates

For gals on the go this spring, new soft lightweight leather luggage is as fashion-minded as handbags and shoes. New shapes and sizes in pullman cases, overnight bags, weekend bags, train cases, fitted make-up cases and attache cases are crafted in soft lightweight leathers with a minimum of framework.

Spring pastels—gray, blue, tan, olive, coral and others — are increasingly popular in leather luggage for women. A matched set of three or four pieces can be keyed to the color continually favored in the wardrobe.

A modern woman's luggage is in airline weight leather, even if she travels by train, bus, or automobile. Luggage sides are soft to eliminate the weight of stiff backing materials, leather is extra durable and scuff resistant.

Hardware is streamlined in brass, steel or hard aluminum. Leather forms a complete surface on some bags while in others, neat seam and edge stitching in white or the same color as the bag is used.

Interiors tend to plush quilted linings and large mirrors set in satin draping in train cases and overnight bags. In the 20", 24" and 27" sizes, various soft lining materials that are kind to your clothing are used. In many of the new pastel bags, the linings are in colors that match the leather exteriors.

Bright colors cavort uninhibitedly through ready to wear and take bold color bag partners. Bright fabric pouches can be teamed with the slew of bright colored coats and suits in complementary or contrasting fashion or to introduce a dynamic third color.

The casual bag, bigger, softer and trimmer than in past seasons appears in greater numbers this spring.

Brightly-colored burlap, friezes, pale sampler type fabrics, homespuns, tapestries and grosspoints, more often than not are teamed with leather.

Tall zipper totes, vagabonds with narrow flaps and slimmer handles, large silhouettes with outside zipper pockets and soft pillow bags are some of the headliners.

'American Transcontinental' New Influence In Men's Businesswear

No man should have any trouble finding businesswear to flatter him this Spring, says the American Institute of Men's and Boys' wear. There is a model of every taste and every age. The newest — combining many world-wide influences—is the "American International."

Previewed last year at the International Association of Clothing Designers Convention in Rome, this style enhances a man's appearance in virtually any and all settings, anywhere in the world. The shoulders and lapels are slightly wider than in other top fashion styles right now. The coats ar a bit more fitted at the waist, but the slim silhouette—so familiar in many other models these days—is magically kept. Predictions are that this model will quickly become a real favorite.

The most widely accepted suit model is the more conservative "American Natural", with a slimmed-down look inspired by the American Continental. "Continentals" have moved away from extremes. With many handsome modifications, they continue to give a slim-trim profile. The "Trans-American" model is a continental, cut to the American taste.

The "American Ambassador," originated by California designers, incorporates easy slimming lines with jackets a bit shorter than a year ago. Ivy styling is on the scene perhaps bigger than ever — but look for this model to be less "gimmicky" than before. Fewer Ivy business suits have back-strapped trousers and lap seams which the more mature man will find to his liking.

To complement these dressier suits, new touches have been added to dress shirts too. These include patterned fabrics, British type stripes, mainiature overplaids and checks. Traditional white as well as ivory and olive go especially well with Ivy styling. Grays, tans, and blues are also high on the list.

Suits now come in three basic weights—winter, midweight for inbetween days and featherweights for the hot days of summer. Shirts, too, have now been introduced in a variety of fabric weights suitable for different weather conditions, including the super lightweights with millions of tiny "air vents" for hot weather comfort. Short sleeve styles in dress and casual shirts make for utmost comfort and ease of wear during the hottest days of summer.

Dominating new notes in topcoats and raincoats are shorter lengths and the lighter weights. Colors in topcoats are lighter and brighter than in the past seasons, while raincoats are coming in for greater styling and a wider range of patterning.

Men's hats continue to accent the smaller shapes—but fewer are shown in the familiar dark shades which are now giving way to mediums and lights. For spring and summer, lots of new lightweight crushables will be a-head for men.

A brief look at the new neckwear shows that the fashion emphasis is on brighter colors and stronger patterns. Staging a comeback are smart ties with the designs under the knot.

No Runs—A Hit

Women who seek fashion in hosiery as well as comfort, will be happy to learn of a new sheer, seamless support nylon stocking now on store counters. They are guaranteed against runs for 30 days, regardless of cause. The stockings are knit of specially processed stretch nylon yarns, treated with an exclusive finishing process for higher snag resistance.

New Fabric Ideas

Bowling Styles Score Points In High Fashion

Baseball had better watch out, because there's a sport that's rapidly rising toward the number one spot of America's favorite sports. It's bowling! About 26 million people in the United States flocked to the lanes last year, and new fans are made every day.

One of the biggest reasons for this increase is the change in the character of Bowling Centers. Not too many years ago these were called Bowling Alleys, and the change of name is not the only change.

Bowling centers today are becoming lavish entertainment headquarters, complete with cocktail lounges, bowling boutiques, restaurants, art galleries and baby care nurseries.

Bowling, being a sport the entire family can enjoy, has attracted many women . . . and when women take up a sport, they must have the proper (smart) clothing. Traditionally, bowling outfits take their style clue from the need for freedom of actiton. But, tradition has been broken!

What's new in fashions for bowling? Culottes get big play with abstainers reasoning that they are awkward, but the abstainers are few. Tunics over tights or slim jims are also popular as they are both attractive and comfortable. For those who refuse to appear in slacks, skirts with matching tops take on a new look with gores that are definite, rather than having the look that they are trying to conceal themselves! One example is a skirt with multi-colored insets that show when the skirt flares out.

SCARVES UNFURL BOLD LOOK

Unfurled and rising high on new spring costumes are silk scarfs in the boldest and most colorful emblem patterns.

Designs are revamped for modern wear but reflect the revival of interest in King Arthur's court.

Knock-out colors are combined in bold, irregular stripe, dot or flowerlike heraldics.

Collarless jackets, and dresses emphasize the need for a scarf accent. Cowl circlets, boy scout ties, triangles, and sashes are touches for a bare neckline.

High on the list is a melange of colors boldly brushed on for spring. Lime, royal blue, powder blue and teal are combined for a real color splash.

Dots and dots in colored beads on white ground are fashioned on silk scarfs. Polka dots, a spring favorite, are given a lift by irregular shape and placement and come in the traditional small dots to larger coin sizes.

So show your colors smartly with exciting scarf accents.

Washing Tip

Knit shirts of durene mercerized cotton are home machine washable. Bleach and blueing are not recommended for colored shirts. A good idea is to follow the washing instructions found inside the shirt.

SHARP, SPICY

Spring Gloves Rise High To Meet Cropped Sleeves

Spring costumes, with shorter-length sleeves go hand-in-hand with glove fashions—especially in soft, handsome leathers.

Smart yet practical, leather gloves are seen this season in muted, misty colors that match suits and dresses—or in sharp, spicy tones to give flavor to an ensemble. One favorite cool color is a pale yellow shade that may become this year's newest neutral. Other leather glove hues include delicate bone, light green, and an understated coral. Strong tones lean to bright fuchsia, deep brown and a strong red in smooth and sueded leathers. As always, white leather gloves are basics for the feminine wardrobe.

Keyed to the softer, fluid look of spring dresses, daytime gloves are decorated in a variety of ways—eyelet embroidery, diamond-shaped cutouts, self-leather bows and covered buttons. Tiny pearl buttons adorn shorties as well as four and six-button gloves.

Leather shorties show off with scalloped cuffs, while longer gloves sometimes have horizontal shirring up the back. Decorations on formal gloves are more elaborate—some of the 18-button lengths boasting swirls of beadwork or floral embroidery.

Tailored gloves harmonize with the understated look of spring suits and coats in a wide range of leathers—including kid, lambskin, pigskin and doeskin. Tailored and casual gloves favor saddle-stitch effects and corded seam cuffs—usually in contrasting colors and often in combinations of smooth and suede.

A new pair of leather gloves can smartly accent a classic costume and help one good suit cover many daytime occasions. LaunderLeather gloves wash easily in soap and water, leaving the gloves soft, pliable, free of wrinkles and colorfast.

Color In Blocks

Bold blocks of contrasting colors in one garment look new. This is favorite spring treatment for navy and white, black and white.

One example is a skirt with multi-colored insets that show when the skirt flares out.

SCARVES UNFURL BOLD LOOK

Unfurled and rising high on new spring costumes are silk scarfs in the boldest and most colorful emblem patterns.

Designs are revamped for modern wear but reflect the revival of interest in King Arthur's court.

Knock-out colors are combined in bold, irregular stripe, dot or flowerlike heraldics.

Collarless jackets, and dresses emphasize the need for a scarf accent. Cowl circlets, boy scout ties, triangles, and sashes are touches for a bare neckline.

High on the list is a melange of colors boldly brushed on for spring. Lime, royal blue, powder blue and teal are combined for a real color splash.

Dots and dots in colored beads on white ground are fashioned on silk scarfs. Polka dots, a spring favorite, are given a lift by irregular shape and placement and come in the traditional small dots to larger coin sizes.

So show your colors smartly with exciting scarf accents.

Washing Tip

Knit shirts of durene mercerized cotton are home machine washable. Bleach and blueing are not recommended for colored shirts. A good idea is to follow the washing instructions found inside the shirt.

SHARP, SPICY

Spring Gloves Rise High To Meet Cropped Sleeves

Spring costumes, with shorter-length sleeves go hand-in-hand with glove fashions—especially in soft, handsome leathers.

Smart yet practical, leather gloves are seen this season in muted, misty colors that match suits and dresses—or in sharp, spicy tones to give flavor to an ensemble. One favorite cool color is a pale yellow shade that may become this year's newest neutral. Other leather glove hues include delicate bone, light green, and an understated coral. Strong tones lean to bright fuchsia, deep brown and a strong red in smooth and sueded leathers. As always, white leather gloves are basics for the feminine wardrobe.

Keyed to the softer, fluid look of spring dresses, daytime gloves are decorated in a variety of ways—eyelet embroidery, diamond-shaped cutouts, self-leather bows and covered buttons. Tiny pearl buttons adorn shorties as well as four and six-button gloves.

Leather shorties show off with scalloped cuffs, while longer gloves sometimes have horizontal shirring up the back. Decorations on formal gloves are more elaborate—some of the 18-button lengths boasting swirls of beadwork or floral embroidery.

Tailored gloves harmonize with the understated look of spring suits and coats in a wide range of leathers—including kid, lambskin, pigskin and doeskin. Tailored and casual gloves favor saddle-stitch effects and corded seam cuffs—usually in contrasting colors and often in combinations of smooth and suede.

A new pair of leather gloves can smartly accent a classic costume and help one good suit cover many daytime occasions. LaunderLeather gloves wash easily in soap and water, leaving the gloves soft, pliable, free of wrinkles and colorfast.

Color In Blocks

Pointed Toe Leathers In Spotlight

Fashion steps into the bright sunlight this Spring in an array of new pointed toe leather shoes. New ideas start from the ground up in a handsome collection of soft delicate leather textures in both pale, neutral tones and bright light colors. Black and white, in patent leather, calf and kid, are given interesting detail treatments.

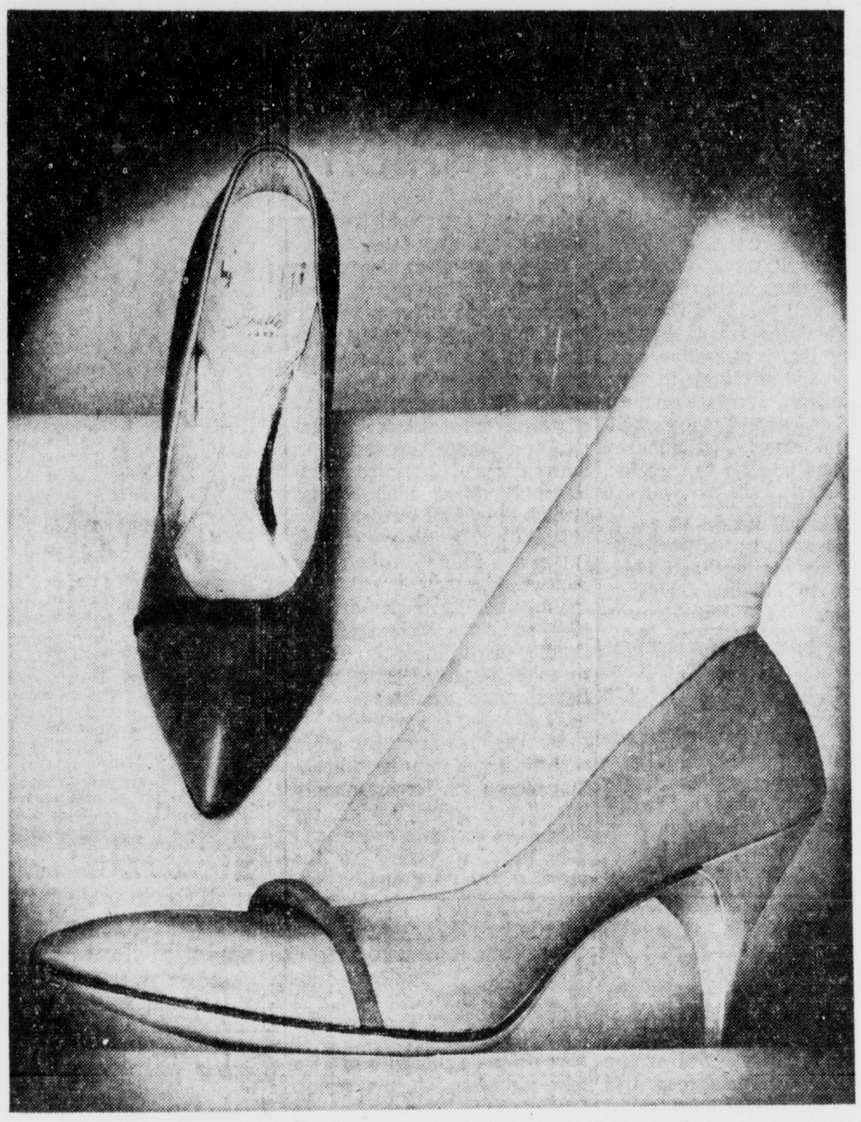
When shoes set the pace for a costume, they create a happy fashion mood. Soft, nappy suede pumps speak of head-to-toe femininity. Gaily colored, smooth and grained calf shoes reflect the sun's sparkle; fine kid pumps in bone or lustre leathers in pale blue or green grape give the "on the town" stamp to cocktail dresses or suits.

For after-five—kid and reptile leathers combined in a novel pump with harlequin cutouts and stacked leather heels are new, as are slim, luster leather pumps with three inch high stiletto heels and glittering toes set with tiny jewels.

Light leather pumps with darker embroidered stitching around the shoe throatline, and a petal embroidered silhouette on the tapered toe will perk up suits or dresses. A trim leather sole "frames" the lovely tapered look of these narrow-toed shoes.

Two colors—particularly in contrasting hues — suggest a sporty casual costume. For example, flat casuals with a light taffy-toned smooth leather vamp are matched to a darker briar brown lightly grained leather.

Two-tone boot shoes with high rising vamps and light-toned, trimly-tapered toes and a pixie-ish thong tie, conjure up a gamin-like air to literally put a spring in your step!



HIGH HEEL DRESS pump by Mijji will be a perfect complement to your spring ensemble. The rolled leather band over the vamp accents the design. In geranium leaf, black patent, coffee cream lustre. Available at Netboy Shoe Salon, San Rafael. (Photo by Ken Molino)

Shirt Male Call

Dress shirt male call—This spring, the big news is short sleeved business shirts in more colors than ever, but favoring pale shades like ivory, gold and chamois. The bandless convertible collar and the traditional button-down style remains, but the new tab styles are gaining fast.

Natural Look For Sport Coats, Suits

For men, the young men, and young-spirited, who like a vigorous dash of imagination in their sportswear wardrobe, there are coats in madras, random check and other fanciful patterns to choose from.

Sports coats feature the "natural look" in lightweight fabrics, dramatic patterns and such popular colors as olive, black and loden.

Style highlights of these vivid, versatile sport coats include narrow lapels, natural shoulders and a slightly cutaway three-button front. Fabrics, including seersucker, babycord and eye-catching batik, are feather light, and they can be popped into the washer at night for wear the next morning.

Summer suits get the same "natural look" treatment and many feature automatic wash and wear construction. Jackets are narrow and flattering. The pants are slim and tapered. And all have a common ingredient—lightness—calculated to appeal to the many young men who want the lightest possible fabrics.

Cropped Toppers

Toppers for spring stop at new shorter length — just below the waist. This is reflected both in fabric and fur.

Attractive Coats Prepare For Rain

Silhouettes and colors in fashionable variety appear in attractive coats prepared to weather spring rains. Pyramid and cape shapes, slim and demi-fitted styles join the perennial trench and other man-tailored coats.

Refreshing approach to showers is made via the reversible coat, which may be plain on one side, print on the other, with both sides water repellant. Textured fabrics look new.

Men's Apparel Unites In One World Of Fashion

The "International Look" is the newest style entry for spring 1961 and gives a universal look to the men's fashion scene. This new trend incorporates ideas from the wide, wide world into one basic look and gives the man away from home that "at home look" wherever he may roam.

This silhouette starts with a well defined waistline, a generous chest expression and an "honest" representation of the man's shoulder without being square or unduly sloped. The jacket front is well rounded, and has a shaped waist, both front and back to enhance the masculine look with soft body lines.

Lapels are decidedly wider than any shown during the past seasons. Sleeves are well tapered and in keeping with the shorter lengths of most jackets. Trousers, are single pleated with regular side pockets, tapered but not narrow-legged. Two or three button single breasted coat carries the button at the natural waistline. The "International" comes with a matching vest or without, depending on the individual's taste.

The new hot colors show up in multi-color stripes, vertical stripes, horizontal stripes, boater stripes, ticking stripes and candy stripes. Stripes patterns go handsomely with the paisley and batik prints that are prominent in lightweight sport coats this season.

Polished cotton shirts too, are a smart contrast to the cool soft shades of new season sport coats. Pullovers sports shirts, the kind most popular, feature deep plackets with three or four buttons. On some shirts the placket practically reaches the belt line of the slacks.

Also noteworthy are high-V necks, boatnecks, cross-over necks—fancy colorful designs give sport shorts a sportier, more American connotation — away from the trim, conservative styling. Sleeves, have lots of fashion interest pointing up a less conventional three-quarter sleeve. Knit shirt stylists have embellished sleeves with vents, slits and two buttoncuff treatments.

Fluid Look Leads Way In Dresses

Fashion is flexible about its approach to spring dresses. The story starts with pliable fabrics and pliant styles, and the sleeveless, collarless dress with relaxed lines expresses the mood of the season.

The fluid look is achieved in many ways — with draping, gores, pleats, bias cuts, flounce hemlines. Two piece dresses impress with long and easy overblouses above slim skirts that float on the bias.

String-tie belts, stoles and scarf-ties may accompany the collarless dress. Sometimes a dress that seems collarless in front dips to a graceful cowl collar in back. For a refreshing change of pace, ripping cape collars appear on sheath dresses.

PAIR WITH COATS

The easy little dresses often take cover under their own coats, as the coat-dress ensemble gains renewed interest this spring. Impressive buttons, no-collar or band-collar necklines and shortened sleeves characterize many of the coats.

For dress costumes, there are jackets with no collars, with ring collars, and sometimes, cape collars. Frequently, a sleeveless one-piece dress appears beneath. When the dress is two-piece, its overblouse is likely to be in a bold abstract or floral print.

SKIRTS DIVIDE

New entries for spring include the dress with divided, or culotte, skirt—still a small influence, but a growing one—and fresh versions of the coat dress. The latter is a dress that, in style and fabric, can be literally either a coat or a dress.

Since styles call for drapable fabrics, silks and facsimiles of silk are well represented. Cotton and miracle sheers are notable, especially for late day.

Woolens and worsteds achieve their own miracles of feather weight, in new weaves that are translucently sheer.

As for colors, the whole color wheel appears in dresses, as elsewhere in fashion.

COOL SUITS with freshness that stays—the Plateau by Timely Clothes at Louis George, Corte Madera Shopping Center. The suits are wrinkle-resistant and hold a crease.

Sophisticated Or Demure Gowns For Bride-To-Be

Spring brides have so many beautiful fabrics and silhouettes to choose from in wedding gowns that this season should be blooming with the prettiest brides ever to walk down the aisle. Among the season's most exquisite creations are demure bouffant gowns of embroidered Swiss organdy, dividing into panels over a cotton organdy skirt. Sleeves are tiny and the neckline is scooped.

Outstandingly elegant gowns from spring collections introduce a Parisian silhouette . . . its silk taffeta sheath is elaborately embroidered with Alencon lace motifs and is gracefully filled out with a sweeping back skirt.

These lovely gowns are representative of distinctively different moods spring brides are wearing — a sweet, demure look or the look of sophistication.

Coats, Two Ways

Coat fashion follows two predominant lines. One is slim, influenced by the side-slashed caftan; the other is sweeping, influenced by the cape.

Vibrant Colors

Family of pinks takes the lead in the spring fashion excitement over color. Many other lively shades share the news.

Many New Fashions Are Cued By Themes From Styles Of 30's

There's a fiesta of color in the fashion showings for spring and Easter that's coupled with a mood suggestive of the past revisited.

Contemporary versions of silhouettes from the Thirties are newly and excitingly expressed for '61 in long-waisted, overblouse dresses — in provincial themes (remember the dirndl rage?) — culottes for at-home and everywhere — and in the "vamp" look! There's also a special focus in this season's fashions on "back interest" themes.

Much more important and twice as stimulating for the coming season is fashion's dramatic, new concern with color.

Picture an entire spectrum of bold, exciting color! Electrify the rainbow with shock after shock of high voltage hues — then, only then, can this veritable kaleidoscope come into focus.

There are intense pinks and posh purples—polished oranges and ripe peaches — hot pimiento and cool shrimp — sunny lemons and golden apricots — terrific turquoise hues and sparkling periwinkles — cool limes and grass-bright greens — this is the glamor gamut of Spring's fashion palette.

It was in the 30's when shocking pink first caught fashion's fancy for its startling value. Since then "shock" colors have come and gone, but this season marshals an entire shock brigade into a fabulous parade.

There's a big salute too for the nautically-nice tricolor — red, white and blue. And, the staccato notes of black and white, or white with black creates a spring tone poem of their own.

The jigsaw puzzle pieces of the fashion picture fall into place smoothly—held together with a frame of fabulous fabric.

Look at this wondrous line up: softer - than - a -whisper woolen mixtures that weigh a wispy 4 ounces — dramatic drapables such as chiffon, crepe and matte jersey—elegantly-ribbed ottomans, failles, gabardines and new-looking twills and piques — light but textured nubby tweeds and spankin' new basket weaves.

A lacy look enlivens all fabrics, and linen is important, too. Silk, however, is the real news, in authentic weaves and in miracle blends that "outsilk" the real thing.

Borrowed from the avant garde artists of the Thirties are flights of fancy rendered in impressionist and abstract prints.

Blazer stripes are eminently important . . . there's a quaint but not necessarily "cute" charm to provincial prints, and — a discreet elegance to restrained geometrics of silk-look fabrics.

Easter Bonnet

Her Easter bonnet this year is probably a turban, a sailor or a cloche style. These three hat looks promise to be the season's most important, with the turban appearing in strawcloths that look like knits or woven fabrics and in chiffon . . . the cloche featuring new depth, new brim movement.

Novelty Prints Get Fanciful Handling

Batiks—show up everywhere . . . in shirts, shorts, sports coats and otherwise. There are native varieties—domestic cottons with easy-to-identify prints and easy care synthetic blends with zany patterning. Expect a new kind of Madras, that combines the look of this fabric with batik. Results are plaid with batik type discharge printing. There are circle or diamond shaped all-overs, vertical and horizontal stripes formed by abstract motifs and light and dark grounds, with dark preferable showing up in sport coats. Most important of all . . . they all look new and add a note of bold spirit to sportswear for spring of 1961.

Travel Makes Own Demand On Fashion

Travel, rapidly becoming the number one American hobby, vacation and recreation, makes its own demand on fashion. Going to all points of the compass, feminine travelers want clothing that is attractive, comfortable and adaptable to varying climates. It must also meet train, bus, car and plane schedules in smart, wrinkle-free shape and be easy to care for.

The yardstick that all other fashion-travel needs have to measure up to is: the wardrobe should be compact and lightweight, to eliminate luggage burdens.

In the interests of a compact but complete wardrobe, current fashions and the fabrics they're made of fit admirably into travel plans. Spring trends stress the "any season, all season" aspect of fashion, with multi-part costumes that switch about to meet the occasion and the temperature, and fabrics that make new advances in lightweight warmth, waterproofing and easy care.

Knits were never more popular and, whether cotton, wool or man-made fibers, they're ideal for travel, reducing wrinkle worries and looking smart in any clime or time.

Separates, another mainstay of the feminine traveler, expanl their scope this spring, in new color and fabric combinations. Sweaters and blouses stretch the travel wardrobe.

Dress and jacket-or-coat costumes and suits with their own blouses offer many possibilities for adaptability to day or evening occasions. The trend to fluidity or fullness in skirts, through pleats, bias cuts or flares, means comfort as well as fashion for the traveler.

Scarves, jewelry, and other accessories go into the suitcase in perhaps the largest quantities of any travel fashion, for they take up little space and give pleasing variety to the basics of the wardrobe.

Coats Stage A Comeback In Blaze Of Color Glory

There's a wonderful excuse to buy a new spring coat this year! No matter how smart your old coat may be — dollars to donuts, it's not in one of the exciting bold pastels that are the hallmarks of the new season coats.

The spring coat is back! And, coat collections reflect an entirely new aspect of color, fabric and design.

Shoulders are widened with a rounded motion — semi-fitted coats often reveal dramatic cape-effects in the back — elbow skimming sleeves offer a new freedom of movement. Coats with full five-yard sweep are almost full circles and are kissin' cousins to capes in their detailing.

Slim coats with rounder backs and broader backs step forth in double breasted models.

Full-looking coats with straight backs are here to give milady a brilliant, elegant look.

The collarless, cardigan styled coat — a la Chanel is the newsmaker fashion. The wedding ring collar, halo collar and scarf stole are all flattering and feminine looking for almost every woman.

And — there's never been such delectable color variety in the gayest Easter egg collections as there is in coats.

Picture hot pink and lovely lilac, strawberry, orange, apricot, azalea . . . look for pistachio, citron, yellows, a gamut of clear reds and a galaxy of vivid blues.

White is the purest white ever, and blacks sparkle in new weaves that look like they have been waxed and polished.

These yummy colors run from palest but sparkling neutrals to the brightest of the bright — to make the color story in coats a veritable kaleidoscope of exciting mood hues.

Plumage Touch To Men's Hats

Spring '61 accents in male plumage points up acceptance of feathers and ornaments to spark new hats. New adventures in trimming takes the conventional bow, unchanged for a century and replaces it on casual hats with swirls of rope or braided bands, with pin or feather as a finishing touch.

Rings and belt buckles are used to join the band ends. More feather bands are shown. And the trims are not confined just to casual hats. Plumage of ramie and raffia now dress up the straws. Sport caps have symbolic embroidered ornaments, too!

Every male who desires just a flash of color this spring will get the color flash with lots of dash.

Colors Brighten

Hot orange, gold, green, carnation pink, air-force blue, all in vivid hues, make news in lustrous highly polished tones for sport shirts. A process called mercerization makes fine cotton fabrics more acceptable to the new bright dyes.

Colors Afoot

In color, men's shoes are making big strides in burnished and bronzed browns, olive and ivy browns and black —chiefly in smooth and lightly grained leathers.

MUTED PLAID and fine soft blending of colors is captured in the handwoven magic of Indian Madras tailored for the crisp bold look. The jacket is a natural with clean lines that fit as if they were made just for you. Available at Marcus Shop for Men & Boys, San Rafael.

Color Flatters The Beauty Of Spring Hosiery

This season hosiery takes its color cues from shoe leathers with a pale, pale feeling and a bright, hot colored group of leathers. Stockings will be darker than usual for spring when worn with pale leathers and bright and sunny for the vivid vermeil and red/orange color families.

Deeper neutrals and wheat or custard colored yellowy tones in resort and spring hosiery will replace the chalky bone shades which were best sellers last year, according to hosiery stylists.

Color ranges include the very important chamois tones for chamois leathers and carry-over bone shades.

These are new pale mauves and lilacs, clear, light greens, and pale pinks. Pink is sometimes deepened for the rose to magenta range and extends to the pinky red family.

Reds in pink, orange and lacquered tones and golden buttery, suntan shades comprise the bright range of colors in shoes and ready-to-wear, for which hosiery shades will be golden, rich suntan tones.

New in the bright range is the whole gamut of green and to gold vermeils. Vermeil is the French word for gilding silver which gives a green/gold effect.

Gray receives some new cloudy treatments for wear with black patent, and blue is brightened in spring coloring.

Shoes for spring are doing more to show off hosiery. Basic silhouettes receive opened up treatments that make coordinated stocking tones more important than ever.

The key to the color picture in hosiery is lightness without the washed-out look, and brightness without shocking tones.

Textures and lacy effects will return in many lines, although the trend will be toward flattering simplicity in hosiery for spring.

Proper coordination between shoes and stockings will be especially important this season . . . and will be simple to achieve with so many exquisite colors shown.

Fluid Look Leads Way In Dresses

Fashion is flexible about its approach to spring dresses. The story starts with pliable fabrics and pliant styles, and the sleeveless, collarless dress with relaxed lines expresses the mood of the season.

The fluid look is achieved in many ways — with draping, gores, pleats, bias cuts, flounce hemlines. Two piece dresses impress with long and easy overblouses above slim skirts that float on the bias.

String-tie belts, stoles and scarf-ties may accompany the collarless dress. Sometimes a dress that seems collarless in front dips to a graceful cowl collar in back. For a refreshing change of pace, ripping cape collars appear on sheath dresses.

PAIR WITH COATS

The easy little dresses often take cover under their own coats, as the coat-dress ensemble gains renewed interest this spring. Impressive buttons, no-collar or band-collar necklines and shortened sleeves characterize many of the coats.

For dress costumes, there are jackets with no collars, with ring collars, and sometimes, cape collars. Frequently, a sleeveless one-piece dress appears beneath. When the dress is two-piece, its overblouse is likely to be in a bold abstract or floral print.

SKIRTS DIVIDE

New entries for spring include the dress with divided, or culotte, skirt—still a small influence, but a growing one—and fresh versions of the coat dress. The latter is a dress that, in style and fabric, can be literally either a coat or a dress.

Since styles call for drapable fabrics, silks and facsimiles of silk are well represented. Cotton and miracle sheers are notable, especially for late day.

Woolens and worsteds achieve their own miracles of feather weight, in new weaves that are translucently sheer.

As for colors, the whole color wheel appears in dresses, as elsewhere in fashion.

COOL SUITS with freshness that stays—the Plateau by Timely Clothes at Louis George, Corte Madera Shopping Center. The suits are wrinkle-resistant and hold a crease.

Sophisticated Or Demure Gowns For Bride-To-Be

Spring brides have so many beautiful fabrics and silhouettes to choose from in wedding gowns that this season should be blooming with the prettiest brides ever to walk down the aisle. Among the season's most exquisite creations are demure bouffant gowns of embroidered Swiss organdy, dividing into panels over a cotton organdy skirt. Sleeves are tiny and the neckline is scooped.

Outstandingly elegant gowns from spring collections introduce a Parisian silhouette . . . its silk taffeta sheath is elaborately embroidered with Alencon lace motifs and is gracefully filled out with a sweeping back skirt.

These lovely gowns are representative of distinctively different moods spring brides are wearing — a sweet, demure look or the look of sophistication.

Coats, Two Ways

Coat fashion follows two predominant lines. One is slim, influenced by the side-slashed caftan; the other is sweeping, influenced by the cape.

Vibrant Colors

Family of pinks takes the lead in the spring fashion excitement over color. Many other lively shades share the news.

Many New Fashions Are Cued By Themes From Styles Of 30's

There's a fiesta of color in the fashion showings for spring and Easter that's coupled with a mood suggestive of the past revisited.

Contemporary versions of silhouettes from the Thirties are newly and excitingly expressed for '61 in long-waisted, overblouse dresses — in provincial themes (remember the dirndl rage?) — culottes for at-home and everywhere — and in the "vamp" look! There's also a special focus in this season's fashions on "back interest" themes.

Much more important and twice as stimulating for the coming season is fashion's dramatic, new concern with color.

Picture an entire spectrum of bold, exciting color! Electrify the rainbow with shock after shock of high voltage hues — then, only then, can this veritable kaleidoscope come into focus.

There are intense pinks and posh purples—polished oranges and ripe peaches — hot pimiento and cool shrimp — sunny lemons and golden apricots — terrific turquoise hues and sparkling periwinkles — cool limes and grass-bright greens — this is the glamor gamut of Spring's fashion palette.

It was in the 30's when shocking pink first caught fashion's fancy for its startling value. Since then "shock" colors have come and gone, but this season marshals an entire shock brigade into a fabulous parade.

There's a big salute too for the nautically-nice tricolor — red, white and blue. And, the staccato notes of black and white, or white with black creates a spring tone poem of their own.

The jigsaw puzzle pieces of the fashion picture fall into place smoothly—held together with a frame of fabulous fabric.

Look at this wondrous line up: softer - than - a -whisper woolen mixtures that weigh a wispy 4 ounces — dramatic drapables such as chiffon, crepe and matte jersey—elegantly-ribbed ottomans, failles, gabardines and new-looking twills and piques — light but textured nubby tweeds and spankin' new basket weaves.

A lacy look enlivens all fabrics, and linen is important, too. Silk, however, is the real news, in authentic weaves and in miracle blends that "outsilk" the real thing.

Borrowed from the avant garde artists of the Thirties are flights of fancy rendered in impressionist and abstract prints.

Blazer stripes are eminently important . . . there's a quaint but not necessarily "cute" charm to provincial prints, and — a discreet elegance to restrained geometrics of silk-look fabrics.

Easter Bonnet

Her Easter bonnet this year is probably a turban, a sailor or a cloche style. These three hat looks promise to be the season's most important, with the turban appearing in strawcloths that look like knits or woven fabrics and in chiffon . . . the cloche featuring new depth, new brim movement.

Novelty Prints Get Fanciful Handling

Batiks—show up everywhere . . . in shirts, shorts, sports coats and otherwise. There are native varieties—domestic cottons with easy-to-identify prints and easy care synthetic blends with zany patterning. Expect a new kind of Madras, that combines the look of this fabric with batik. Results are plaid with batik type discharge printing. There are circle or diamond shaped all-overs, vertical and horizontal stripes formed by abstract motifs and light and dark grounds, with dark preferable showing up in sport coats. Most important of all . . . they all look new and add a note of bold spirit to sportswear for spring of 1961.

Plumage Touch To Men's Hats

Spring '61 accents in male plumage points up acceptance of feathers and ornaments to spark new hats. New adventures in trimming takes the conventional bow, unchanged for a century and replaces it on casual hats with swirls of rope or braided bands, with pin or feather as a finishing touch.

Rings and belt buckles are used to join the band ends. More feather bands are shown. And the trims are not confined just to casual hats. Plumage of ramie and raffia now dress up the straws. Sport caps have symbolic embroidered ornaments, too!

Every male who desires just a flash of color this spring will get the color flash with lots of dash.

Colors Brighten

Hot orange, gold, green, carnation pink, air-force blue, all in vivid hues, make news in lustrous highly polished tones for sport shirts. A process called mercerization makes fine cotton fabrics more acceptable to the new bright dyes.

Colors Afoot

In color, men's shoes are making big strides in burnished and bronzed browns, olive and ivy browns and black —chiefly in smooth and lightly grained leathers.

Travel Makes Own Demand On Fashion

Travel, rapidly becoming the number one American hobby, vacation and recreation, makes its own demand on fashion. Going to all points of the compass, feminine travelers want clothing that is attractive, comfortable and adaptable to varying climates. It must also meet train, bus, car and plane schedules in smart, wrinkle-free shape and be easy to care for.

The yardstick that all other fashion-travel needs have to measure up to is: the wardrobe should be compact and lightweight, to eliminate luggage burdens.

In the interests of a compact but complete wardrobe, current fashions and the fabrics they're made of fit admirably into travel plans. Spring trends stress the "any season, all season" aspect of fashion, with multi-part costumes that switch about to meet the occasion and the temperature, and fabrics that make new advances in lightweight warmth, waterproofing and easy care.

Knits were never more popular and, whether cotton, wool or man-made fibers, they're ideal for travel, reducing wrinkle worries and looking smart in any clime or time.

Separates, another mainstay of the feminine traveler, expanl their scope this spring, in new color and fabric combinations. Sweaters and blouses stretch the travel wardrobe.

Dress and jacket-or-coat costumes and suits with their own blouses offer many possibilities for adaptability to day or evening occasions. The trend to fluidity or fullness in skirts, through pleats, bias cuts or flares, means comfort as well as fashion for the traveler.

Scarves, jewelry, and other accessories go into the suitcase in perhaps the largest quantities of any travel fashion, for they take up little space and give pleasing variety to the basics of the wardrobe.

Coats Stage A Comeback In Blaze Of Color Glory

There's a wonderful excuse to buy a new spring coat this year! No matter how smart your old coat may be — dollars to donuts, it's not in one of the exciting bold pastels that are the hallmarks of the new season coats.

The spring coat is back! And, coat collections reflect an entirely new aspect of color, fabric and design.

Shoulders are widened with a rounded motion — semi-fitted coats often reveal dramatic cape-effects in the back — elbow skimming sleeves offer a new freedom of movement. Coats with full five-yard sweep are almost full circles and are kissin' cousins to capes in their detailing.

Slim coats with rounder backs and broader backs step forth in double breasted models.

Full-looking coats with straight backs are here to give milady a brilliant, elegant look.

The collarless, cardigan styled coat — a la Chanel is the newsmaker fashion. The wedding ring collar, halo collar and scarf stole are all flattering and feminine looking for almost every woman.

Heavenly fleeces, spongy looped mohairs, suiting-weight knits, ottomans, crisp, dry monotones and checked, plaid and color-with-color tweeds are the fabric wonders of the new season.

And — there's never been such delectable color variety in the gayest Easter egg collections as there is in coats.

Picture hot pink and lovely lilac, strawberry, orange, apricot, azalea . . . look for pistachio, citron, yellows, a gamut of clear reds and a galaxy of vivid blues.

White is the purest white ever, and blacks sparkle in new weaves that look like they have been waxed and polished.

These yummy colors run from palest but sparkling neutrals to the brightest of the bright — to make the color story in coats a veritable kaleidoscope of exciting mood hues.

MUTED PLAID and fine soft blending of colors is captured in the handwoven magic of Indian Madras tailored for the crisp bold look. The jacket is a natural with clean lines that fit as if they were made just for you. Available at Marcus Shop for Men & Boys, San Rafael.

Color Flatters The Beauty Of Spring Hosiery

This season hosiery takes its color cues from shoe leathers with a pale, pale feeling and a bright, hot colored group of leathers. Stockings will be darker than usual for spring when worn with pale leathers and bright and sunny for the vivid vermeil and red/orange color families.

Deeper neutrals and wheat or custard colored yellowy tones in resort and spring hosiery will replace the chalky bone shades which were best sellers last year, according to hosiery stylists.

Color ranges include the very important chamois tones for chamois leathers and carry-over bone shades.

These are new pale mauves and lilacs, clear, light greens, and pale pinks. Pink is sometimes deepened for the rose to magenta range and extends to the pinky red family.

Reds in pink, orange and lacquered tones and golden buttery, suntan shades comprise the bright range of colors in shoes and ready-to-wear, for which hosiery shades will be golden, rich suntan tones.

New in the bright range is the whole gamut of green and to gold vermeils. Vermeil is the French word for gilding silver which gives a green/gold effect.

Gray receives some new cloudy treatments for wear with black patent, and blue is brightened in spring coloring.

Shoes for spring are doing more to show off hosiery. Basic silhouettes receive opened up treatments that make coordinated stocking tones more important than ever.

The key to the color picture in hosiery is lightness without the washed-out look, and brightness without shocking tones.

Textures and lacy effects will return in many lines, although the trend will be toward flattering simplicity in hosiery for spring.

Proper coordination between shoes and stockings will be especially important this season . . . and will be simple to achieve with so many exquisite colors shown.

Half Sleeved Dress Shirts Favorites

Dress shirts with an eye to the new season have two things in view; comfort and good looks. The fancy half sleeve shirt which continues to gain popularity now has added top interest—the British grip-tab collar.

Besides the British look collar; pink-tab length (pointed and rounded)—tabless tabs and round collars—shorter button downs—plus tab length collar with moderate spread will set the spring-into-summer dress shirt collar trend.

On the cuff, it's a totally different story as cuffs will be fancier than ever with angled tabs, slit plackets, buttoned versions and others.

As for fabrics, all are keyed in spring-into-summer weights. Colors are British influenced in crisp stripings, checks (medium and batiste weights); ivory, muted gold, pewter, denim blue, pink, geometric white on whites, sleek satiny accents on lenos and stripes. All look neater and have an opaque quality.

For the Rain

Man-tailored effects show up in spring weather.

Moppets And Missies Get 'Swingin' Styles

An early Easter sets the pace for spring for young misses with a fashion parade of pretty pastels, lead by the season's favorite, lilac. Other new pastels on the scene this spring have more tang and more intensity than their conventional counterparts. The warm undertones in pastels such as orange ice, lettuce green, banana, strawberry pink and aqua mist add new dimensions to spring's annual rainbow display of pale shades.

Whether our miss is six or twice six, her dresses are as femininely bouffant as ever with many of them now accompanied by jackets, a reflection of the current trend in women's fashions. Pastel ensembles, gay checked or neat gray suits are also making a strong bid for fashion attention.

Coats with matching bags and hats will be seen in the Easter parade of new spring styles. Again, lilac is very popular for coats, and fabrics range from colorful, breezy wools through most of the many blends.

To accessorize her new spring outfit, her Easter bonnet in straws especially, feature the wide brimmed look, neat roller styling and of course, the always - popular head - hugging styles.

'MARSHMALLOW'

New in little girls' bags is "marshmallow," a soft foam-backed plastic. Straw bags are gaily decorated with flowers, fruits and ribbons, while black and white patents continue as spring accessory favorites.

Of particular interest is the cleverly detailed, young-mood smock look of animated dress, coat and sportswear fashions for the tiny little miss.

New Easter pins, pendants and charm bracelets feature cute little bunnies, chicks and other animals.

Little sister pairs up with little brother in matching outfits for spring "togetherness" . . . and she's also copy-catting older sister with butcher boy and crop-topped long pants and pedal pushers. The French smock look has carried over into her playwear, with cobbler-topped long pants. Pique continues as the tried-and-true fabric leader for tiny fashions.

JUST FOR FUN

The playwear world of girls up to subteens is bright with "mad, mad, mad" prints and hotter-than-hot colors in new leisure-wear fashions and culottes (these are seen in both dress and skirt styles), plus standard playtime wear.

Textured and patterned knits, woven plaids and other cottons are all making a big splash in bathing suits and all have a very feminine look about them, with ruffles and pleats, trimmings of laces and eyelets. Single piece suits are seen most, with baby bikinis and three-quarter styles available for the more "daring" of the young fun set.

MRS. NANCY LEVY models her "Coat of the Year." Laminated, warmth without weight, water repellent in red, black, bone, or tangerine. Perfect for spring and summer. Available at Nancy's Carriage House in San Rafael.

BRISK COLOR, TEXTURE ADD TO THE FASHIONS IN LEATHER

Brisk color and interesting texture give style and individuality to soft, lightweight leather costumes which follow fashion's simple, fluid silhouette.

Bright warm coral, deep royal blue, vivid pink, cool cucumber green and real red appear in both smooth and suede leather for day, casual and sports wear. Softer shades of mauve, violet and lilac are seen in dressy evening coats.

Middy influence shows up in sporty pull-on cabretta blouses for wear with bandstand skirts, culottes or clam-diggers in smooth or suede leathers. Deep V necklines and wide sailor collars give the nautical flavor.

"Add-ons" — leather separates such as vests, short flared skirts, culottes, shorts and weskits — become wardrobe builders, to be worn with many different costumes and color schemes.

Knit-and-leather suits join the spring fashion parade in such combinations as royal blue trimmed in white, two tones of pink or two tones of lilac.

Full-length travel coat appears in smooth bone or wheat colored leather, with huge slash pockets that affect the "patch pocket" look.

Car coats, light in weight and bright in color, display self buttons and belts, roomy pockets and knit-and-leather mixtures.

Bolero jackets are casual or dressy, such as black suede paired with matching slim lounging pants or smooth leather with lavish jeweling for evening wear.

Leather evening wear is luxurious in such items as a long, supple ranch hide coat with all-over jeweled applique or a full-skirted ensemble in gleaming silver kid with matching mess jacket.

Girls Share In Mothers' Fashions

The "older" set may yearn to be young in the spring, but little girls sigh for that seemingly-distant day when they'll be grown up.

This season, fashion has good news for both. The youthful, easy styles that are pleasing the grown-ups adapt readily to a grade-schooler's wardrobe.

To flatter a little girl and her wishes are such adult fashion copies as. sleeveless, collarless dresses with "spaghetti" tie belts and bows; eulottes, for suits, dresses, sportswear; suits with newsy, side-closing jackets and pleated skirts; capes for coats, collars and costume jackets; and lots of the popular tweeds, checks and knits.

Exciting colors and brilliant whites sweep through the whole range of fashion, and the girls get their full share. Among the notables are orange, the purple family, bright pink and intense strawberry. Peaches, mint flavor girls' dresses.

A favorite color combination shows gray with yellow or lavendar. Splashy prints are abundant. Contrast trim on solid color appeals to the girls.

Suits lean to knits, for practicality with or without a coat. Cardigan necklines show off blouses with stand-up "bandmaster" collars.

For the girls whose tastes are classic, fabrics, colors and details provide the spring excitement. Simple single or double-breasted coats have impact in white, sometimes bound in color, or adorned with jumbo buttons, brass buttons, velveteen.

Party styles in dresses stress the beauty of embroidery on sheers. Other dress news to note includes: two-piece tailored types, in white or colors; flounced hemlines, eddying with ruffles, eyelet, gingham checks; pinafore, jumper and tunic toppings; and plenty of rickrack, tucks and lace.

Whether she chooses pants or culottes for her playtime, a girl is likely to want knit shirts. They look new in sweatshirt style, sometimes with hoods.

Separate jackets from sportswear collections are planned to run through the wardrobe, pairing up with dress, school or play clothes.

The nautical influence sails in, as it seems to every spring, but the style approach is particularly fresh this season.

Suit Skirts, Jacket Lines Are Varied

New generous coat shapes make room for suits beneath, and so increase the importance of a new suit for the spring wardrobe. Suit styles, and especially the many colors, meet the demand beautifully.

Silhouettes show news and variety. Jackets are fashionable in every length from bolero to tunic. Shorter ones are interesting because they reveal the gathered waistlines of newly eased skirts. Gores, pleats, bias cuts assist in the trend to more skirt fullness.

JACKETS VARY

Jacket shapes offer a choice ranging from relaxed cardigan and boxy styles to tightly fitted, with black blousing. Necklines follow the little - or - no collar trend. Draped or scarf necklines and away-from-the-neck collars also are notable.

The longer, easier jackets are often belted in leather or loosely sashed in self fabric.

The varied suit styles all emphasize figure flattery and wearability. The big accent is on color, with vivid strawberry pink leading the way. Designers see these bright suits as especially effective under light or dark coats.

FABRICS ARE AIRY

Boldly patterned tweeds, big checks and plaids appear.

As for fabrics, they have been selected with a view to making suits comfortable for wear either under coats or in warmer weather. There are many silks, and woolens tend to airy, meshy textures and light weights.

THE Classics

Soft shoulder expressions take to these new muted CLAYTONES like Damon to Pythias. Available in Dacron and Worsted blends, cut to the look of the natural man.

BRISK COLOR, TEXTURE ADD TO THE FASHIONS IN LEATHER

Brisk color and interesting texture give style and individuality to soft, lightweight leather costumes which follow fashion's simple, fluid silhouette.

Bright warm coral, deep royal blue, vivid pink, cool cucumber green and real red appear in both smooth and suede leather for day, casual and sports wear. Softer shades of mauve, violet and lilac are seen in dressy evening coats.

Middy influence shows up in sporty pull-on cabretta blouses for wear with bandstand skirts, culottes or clam-diggers in smooth or suede leathers. Deep V necklines and wide sailor collars give the nautical flavor.

"Add-ons" — leather separates such as vests, short flared skirts, culottes, shorts and weskits — become wardrobe builders, to be worn with many different costumes and color schemes.

Knit-and-leather suits join the spring fashion parade in such combinations as royal blue trimmed in white, two tones of pink or two tones of lilac.

Full-length travel coat appears in smooth bone or wheat colored leather, with huge slash pockets that affect the "patch pocket" look.

Car coats, light in weight and bright in color, display self buttons and belts, roomy pockets and knit-and-leather mixtures.

Bolero jackets are casual or dressy, such as black suede paired with matching slim lounging pants or smooth leather with lavish jeweling for evening wear.

Leather evening wear is luxurious in such items as a long, supple ranch hide coat with all-over jeweled applique or a full-skirted ensemble in gleaming silver kid with matching mess jacket.

Girls Share In Mothers' Fashions

The "older" set may yearn to be young in the spring, but little girls sigh for that seemingly-distant day when they'll be grown up.

This season, fashion has good news for both. The youthful, easy styles that are pleasing the grown-ups adapt readily to a grade-schooler's wardrobe.

Exciting colors and brilliant whites sweep through the whole range of fashion, and the girls get their full share. Among the notables are orange, the purple family, bright pink and intense strawberry. Peaches, mint flavor girls' dresses.

A favorite color combination shows gray with yellow or lavendar. Splashy prints are abundant. Contrast trim on solid color appeals to the girls.

Suits lean to knits, for practicality with or without a coat. Cardigan necklines show off blouses with stand-up "bandmaster" collars.

For the girls whose tastes are classic, fabrics, colors and details provide the spring excitement. Simple single or double-breasted coats have impact in white, sometimes bound in color, or adorned with jumbo buttons, brass buttons, velveteen.

Party styles in dresses stress the beauty of embroidery on sheers. Other dress news to note includes: two-piece tailored types, in white or colors; flounced hemlines, eddying with ruffles, eyelet, gingham checks; pinafore, jumper and tunic toppings; and plenty of rickrack, tucks and lace.

Whether she chooses pants or culottes for her playtime, a girl is likely to want knit shirts. They look new in sweatshirt style, sometimes with hoods.

Separate jackets from sportswear collections are planned to run through the wardrobe, pairing up with dress, school or play clothes.

The nautical influence sails in, as it seems to every spring, but the style approach is particularly fresh this season.

Suit Skirts, Jacket Lines Are Varied

A Bon-Bon Look To Girls' New Footwear

Young girls playing "let's pretend" — can step into Mother's shoes the easy way—in Lilliputian adaptations of grown-up shoe styles, reports Shoe Fashion Service of Leather Industries of America.

The smart new all leather little girls' shoes fit as comfortably as Cinderella's slipper, and are subtle youthful copies of the latest adult fashions. These tasteful adaptations of grownup footwear fashions include the widespread use of bone, white and black patent leather — and in combinations of grain and smooth leather — or brushed and smooth leather.

Young girls' shoes achieve the pointed fashion look through clever vamp styling, and imaginative detailing that gives an illusion of length. Slim, flexible leather soles emphasize the longer look, even as they provide comforting, healthful support for tender feet. Heels too—of course, very tiny heels—reflect the adult look through saucy slanting and shaping.

Gleaming black real patent leather shoes are being favored for year 'round fashions. New processing makes real patent leather more durable and easier to clean and takes to many exciting style variations.

Even if the young teen girl has yet to use her first lipstick, she'll love the lift she gets from spring footwear that takes its color cue from the soft, glowing colors from the new season cosmetics.

For formal wear, with spring gowns in understated colors, there are smooth leather pumps in powder peach and lipstick pink. Lustre leather footwear picks up silvery undertones from lip and eye cosmetics.

Soft flexible flats remain popular 'round-the-clock shoe on campus or sweet shop. Versatile casual leather flats, price pegged to the modest budget of the teenager, are the chief reason for their top position on the shoe hit parade. For class or Saturday shopping a simple brushed leather one-eyelet can be worn. Under a full-cut topper or under a shaggy sweater and pants combination a soft, supple grained leather fringed top boot-shoe is most fetching.

Basket-Weave

Basket-weave silks are popular materials for Spring dresses, jackets and two-piece costumes. Resembling old-fashioned crash, they are featured in pinks, shrimp shades, deep emeralds, rich reds and purples, as well as natural and black.

Taking To Pants

Ladies are taking to pants for Spring in all lengths . . . ankle to calf to knee to jamaica . . . and topping them off with ponchos, tunics, pullovers and novelty shirts. Especially noteworthy are knicker pants that gather just below the knee for a charming little-boy look.

DRESSED FOR the Easter parade from Montgomery Ward's spring collection at the Corte Madera Shopping Center is Carol Krauss. White gloves, jewelry and hat accent the coat and dress.

Shoes Show Sunny Color, Smart Detail

Spritely shoes in sunbright colors accent simple, airy costumes this spring. Feminine footwear is slimmer in shape, more whittled at toe and back, and seen in a variety of smooth, grained, suede and patent leathers.

Not since the pointed toe stepped on the feminine scene several seasons ago has there been such an interest in shoe detailing, says Shoe Fashion Service of Leather Industries of America.

While leather shapes the honed-down needle toe into flatteringly trim lines, the body of the shoe takes on greater fashion styling. Scallop, scroll and swirl add grace and femininity to supple leathers.

Tailored styles incorporate overlays and underlays of contrasting leathers and hues to give fresh effects. New tip and mudguard effects, refined stitching and perforations on vamps and sides and gay ornamentation give color to walking shoes.

Daytime shoes show dressmaker detailing. Contrasting brushed and smooth leathers, grained and lustre leathers, patent and calf leathers are draped, tucked and pleated for dressy effect.

Evening wear goes dressy too, as luxurious kid and suede leathers show embroidered and jeweled treatment. Where daytime footwear boasts more small cutouts this year, after-five shoes show more closed toes. Patent leather, chiefly lustrous black, stays out after five in jeweled and ornamented styles.

Among the important bright shoe colors this season are oranges and violets. Yellow, apricot, pink, lavender, honey and fuchsia are seen on daytime spectators and cocktail pumps, and evening sandals and pumps.

Bone and white share the neutral picture, with many other colors in paled hues.

Black patent leather shoes shimmer in new, brighter, more flexible tannages.

Men's Footwear Steps Out In Neatly-Defined Styles

Men's clothing for Spring has inspired an abundance of new casual footwear in light airy leathers and bright spring colors.

Lightness of weight and appearance characterize the casual and dress shoe types. Light porous leathers soles are preferred, even in playshoes. The uppers are made of new spring-weight leathers for that "walking in the clouds" feeling.

New casual shoes are dubbed "carefree" by shoe designers because they're made for carefree living and because the leathers, such as washable white and scuff-resistant smooth and grained leathers, are easy to care for.

White, in a distinctive pebble grain, is used on casual tie styles and slip-ons — the latter sometimes decorated with a golf-shoe kiltie on the tongue. White is also combined with brown or black or both casual and dress shoes to complement light slacks and sport coats.

Brown leather colors are new this spring in hawthorn — a darkish brown shade usually in grain leather; dark oak — a blackened brown with a subtle bronze undertone; maverick — a medium brown with a slight greenish undertone; gaucho — a cool tan tobacco tone, especially popular combined with white and American burgundy — a deep cordovan color that goes with almost any color suit or slacks. Burnished olive and ivy — both with a hint of green — join loden green leather shoes to make up a new, smart color family.

Polished, waxy-finish fine grain and shrunken-grain leathers are seen on casual slip-ons. These have moc toes with raised stitching on the vamp or traveling on back to heel. Some have straps across the tongue, either loose or fastened down with stitching, brass rings or fancy cut leather loops. Leather linings offer "backing" to shoes and comfort to feet.

Town slip-ons are seen with plain toes or in moc toes styles in which the stitching forms a flat reverse seam-played down effect that goes well with the restrained styles in business and casual apparel. A whole new type of slip-on is the wing-tip, which offers the convenience of the slip-on but looks like the business man's elegant wing blucher.

Dress shoes honors are divided between moc-fronts and wing-tips, and in both styles the emphasis is on lightness. Three or four eyelets styles are favored but even the traditional six-eyelet shoes are lightened by use of trimmer leather soles and have fewer perforations.

A wealth of gores — hidden or open elastic bands that improve the fit of slip-ons — has spilled over from casual to dress styles. Collegians and young executives alike are seen in handsome, high-rising slip-ons with side gores or "boxer" tops.

Imaginative Details In Sports Apparel

Boys' jackets for spring will really be most notable. There's an introduction of fairly new styling in the nautical theme. All the basic classical jackets are taking on the 'yachting' look with new dashing interest, sure ot please every boy.

These up-dated classics feature both good looks and function. Fresh interest includes underarm insets for freer movement of arms; fancy rope tie closings that replace the zipper; reversible jackets that turn about with gay new season fabric linings; new two-way collars and light outer fabrics with warm linings or no linings at all.

For the boys who are sailors at heart, and those who just want to look nautically nice, this is the season with their right fashions.

Cloches Lead

Cloches, leading the Easter parade of hats, are fashioned of rough straw and braided straw, in both deep and high-crowned fashion. Diagonal designs and satin bindings highlight the rough textures of these new straw hats.

B. H. WRAGGE creates a streak of a dress in smooth, wrinkle resistant Arnel sharkskin with nothing—not even sleeves to distract from the pure and simple sizzle of white that flatters a suntan unabashedly.

There's A Swimsuit To Suit Any And All Aqua-Maniacs

Are you a snorkeler? A surf-dunker? A deep sea diver? A good old-fashioned stir-up-the-foam swimmer? Or just a pool-side tippler?

Whatever your preferred aquatic recreation is, you can certainly find the swimsuit to suit you this spring.

Experts who pit their speed against a stop-watch or fly with the grace of a gull from the high-board, will go for the new trimfitting brief knits — now made in lengths ranging from bikinis to surf-riders, as well as some very new boxer-style knits.

Some of the briefs are cut with "square legs" and some reach the mid-thigh. The knits appear in solid colors, compound colors, stripes, bold geometric designs and fancy ribbed effects. They also are made with belts or a choice of fancy knitted waistbands. Many are teamed-up with knitted short shirts and pullovers.

The cut-and-sewn woven fabric trunks are full of new fashion ideas, too. Among these are many versions of the smart "buckle-front boxer." These have a small non-elastic section at the front with a partial self-belt.

Many of the fly-front boxers have been updated with trimmer, sometimes longer legs.

In patterns — anything goes! New scarf prints, deep-tone "documentary prints" and bright geometric designs on white or light grounds are in the swim along with British-inspired glen plaids and district checks.

Terry cloth is a featured fabric in beach wear, Bermuda shorts, deck pants, cabana coats and after-swim warm-up pullovers. Many of the new terrys are printed with patterns or woven with stripes or plaids.

Good sea-going denim cloths find a welcome place in the swim shirt and swim coat group, too. Some are plain, others striped or patterned in a variety of ways.

Well-coordinated cabana sets of matching trunks with lined or unlined jackets, shirts and pullovers come in matched as well as mix-match outfits. Look for the salty motifs that range from blue-prints of ships to charts and other nautical designs; as well as batiks, madras and free-form modern prints.

Another happy feature of the beachwear jackets and shirts is a more liberal use of big handy pockets.

NAUTICAL TOGS FOR SAILORS

A walking and sailing nautical alphabet is one of the exciting innovations of the sports fashion world.

America's estimated 40-million boating enthusiasts can now purchase light, weatherproof sea-going jackets in any letter of the sailor's alphabet from a new nautical group introduced by the Mighty Mac Division of the Cape Ann Manufacturing Company.

Now 26 jackets based on the 26 letters of the International Code Flags, in every color under the sailing sun, duplicate the pattern of codes in the International sailing lexicon.

Because boating is a family sport, Mighty Mac offers these jackets in sizes for every member of the family.

Update Costumes

Three-piece dress costumes are updated for spring with chiffon blouses. Chiffon appears, too, in dresses and separates for any hour of the day or night.

Styles To Flatter In New Collections

There's so much that's new and different in the news for spring, that Fashion seems to offer at least sixty-one variations on style and color themes for Sixty-One.

There is literally something for everyone this season—with every figure type considered in the new designs and silhouettes.

The tall figues can choose dramatic clothes that look important and give elegance to height.

The petite figure can have her pick of flattery as both full-blown and sheathed silhouettes help her gain stature.

And there's a provocative light-hearted excitement in the diversity of styles for the junior sized miss or missus.

Cotton Goes In For A Swim

Cotton bathing suits and beach wear for the resort season, 1961 are the "be all and end all" solution for everyone, reports the National Cotton Council. Take your pick, the variety is infinite.

The bikini is still most definitely wth us, ruffled, striped or printed — and appears with its matching cover-up of jacket, overblouse or shirt.

Star of the season, however, is the one piece maillot in cotton knit, generously bared at the back or sides, often suggesting a two-piece suit.

The one-piece "dressmaker" suit appears with draped or pleated skirts. Little boy shorts and short culottes are a vital part of the beach scene.

The cover-up story makes news with long cotton knit and terry sweaters that reveal only a tiny portion of the bathing suit; button front skirts that stop just above the kneecap; loose pullovers and softly belted jackets and tunics and capes that convert to skirts.

Debuting on the resort scene is the beachdress, which seems to be setting a trend. They've sprung up everywhere and nothing so gay and fresh has been seen in a long, long time. Sleeveless, and in vivid striped and printed cottons, they generally stop just above the knee in a petticoat or shift silhouette.

'SLIMAKER'—New Avisco rayon and acetate "Look of Lace" fully lined and in beautiful colors is being featured in the spring collection at the Marin Smart Shop in San Rafael. Sizes 12½ to 26½ and 14 to 20.

Junior Will Be Neater This Spring

Youngsters will like their new spring outfits because of the styling which gives them that grown-up look, and their parents will like the new clothes because of their built-in easy-care features and their durability-plus characteristics.

Does Junior want an olive tone, a gray, or a blue suit like Dad's or big brother's? This spring he can have one that virtually reproduces the big sizes in color, pattern and model. Even the adult versions of bold plaids and bright checks have been scaled-down to boy-sized patterns in suits and sports jackets.

There will be even more man-made fibers used in boys' wear than in men's garments this spring. As a result, Junior will be a neater lad because those fibers add durability to the garments. Another pleasing aspect of the science fibers is their ability to make fabrics with a luxury look and "hand" washable.

Wash-wear fabrics are now available in boys' sports jackets, suits, slacks, shorts, sports shirts, robes, pajamas and neckties. Many of these are of the "automatic wash-wear" types that can be machine washed and dryed — taken directly from the dryer and ready to wear again.

As far as models go, the young men of the house can have their pick of all the senior styles. There are classic natural-shoulder models, Trans-Americans with a modified Continental accent, and even a few interpretations of the new jackets with a British accent. Some have reversible matching vests.

Oxford button-down collar shirts like Big Brother's, broadcloths with modified spread collars like Dad's, long-sleeve and half-sleeve dress shirts, knit and cut-and-sewn sports shirts — all taking their fashion cue from grown-up versions are ready for the boys now.

Look for brighter and lighter colors in the sports shirts and more pull-over models.

Boys' spring outerwear includes a wide variety of blouse-type, finger-tip and knee-length coats. Many of these are wash-wears and all include new colors and new fashion features. Patterns in madras-like plaids, district checks, small checks and glen plaids are new this season.

For dress-up wear there are scaled-down topcoats in set-in sleeve, raglan and split-raglan styles that can be had in tweedy or smooth finished fabrics.

Boys' raincoats also follow the men's fashions in a wide array of models, fabrics and colors.

Milady's Leather Fashions Gain More Sophistication

Feminine elegance in silhouette, design and detailing dominates the newest in leather apparel this spring.

Lightweight leathers for milady mold into fashion's newest fluid lines for warm weather wear. Loose-fitting comfortable costumes which take advantage of leather's natural ability to "breathe" lend air conditioning to sports and evening wear. Leather separates such as jerkins, vests, bandstand skirts, culottes and clamdiggers — in both smooth and suede leathers have been added to this season's sport and casual costumes.

Neutral tones and clear colors make these new spring '61 "add-on" leathers fashion-right wardrobe builders because they blend with many different costumes and costume colors. The middy look jacket appears in several variations; some with sailor collars, while others are collarless with deep V-necklines.

Bolero jackets are casual and dressy costume dividends. Casual versions show bolero jackets teamed with matching suede pants or richly-jeweled smooth leather for evening wear with dresses. Loose fitting blouson tops with tie-string waists also win favor.

For daytime wear, twin trends in leather coats appear on the fashion scene. One—a long, smooth leather "foreign correspondent" coat has a tuxedo front and shawl collar with self-leather belt. Variations of this line are seen in pocket placement, stitch detailing and cuffs.

For women who favor a less-tailored look, there are wrap coats in varying lengths—many in nappy suedes that change tone as you brush them. Newest wrap coats boast trim—either in contrasting leather or fur.

Leather coats become more elaborate for evening with more fur evident on cuffs and collar. Lustre leathers are equally popular with the theater and dining-out crowds.

Leather colors go extreme from pales to brights. The chalk tones show off in beiges, off-whites, powdery lavenders, misty greens and mellow tans. Bright leathers on the town this spring are seen in vivid blue, bright yellows and mauves.

Offer Style

There's style choice in cotton knit shirts for little boys—pullovers, V and crew necks, fashioned collars and the poncho look, with a V front and back.

Take New Slant

Sleeveless tops for juniors take a new slant, with pennants in red, violet, blue embroidered on the diagonal.

Resort Showers? Cotton Flowers!

Naturally, any self-respecting resort Chamber of Commerce would shudder at the thought of a rain drop—but it could happen, reports the National Cotton Council.

Luckily, for all fashion conscious ladies, cotton rushes to the rescue. Never before has rainwear been such fun.

Gone, or at least relegated to a much lesser role is the good old reliable tan raincoat.

In 1961, cotton for the rain is sparkling, spanking new — incorporating the latest silhouettes . . . very pretty and very practical.

Ponchos, capes and cape tunics in marvelous colors and gay prints and plaids match up and coordinate with skirts, pants and hats for the last word in slightly damp haute couture.

An, incidentally, the three piece ensemble which is fashion's current darling for 1961 may be found in vivid poplin trenchcoats, complete with matching skirt and contrasting overblouse.

Seersucker Gaining

Seersucker will achieve far greater acceptance this spring and summer in sports jackets, casual suits, slacks, walk shorts and sports shirts. Many of these cool, crinkly fabrics are made in wash-wear construction.

Supple Silhouette

Relaxed, easy lines continue from recent seasons, look new in color, fabric, detail.

Embroidery, Openwork Here Adorn Gloves Of All Lengths

Arm-baring tendencies of spring fashions give gloves a chance to star in all lengths. Both the short shorties and the glove that reaches to mid-arm attain new importance.

Pretty, feminine look is provided by airy open-work for gloves in leather, cotton, nylon. Lace inserts, eyelet embroidery, fagoting and perforations beckon to the refreshing spring air. Shirring, stitching, pleating and scallops add decorative notes. Sometimes the detailing is asymmetrically placed.

Tiny pearls and rhinestones sparkle on dressy gloves, while little bows adorn gloves that go with suits. Floral appliques accent other gloves, and pearl and covered buttons are also on hand.

Two-color combinations emphasize that this is a fashion season of many and lovely hues. New approach to black and white finds white cotton shorties piped with black patent leather, and two-tone linen cuffs on gloves are another fresh idea.

Gloves can elect to copy a costume color, or they can stay neutral, in white, black, navy or beige. There's plenty of color or variety, in lively brights or tempting pastels.

Choices offered include orange, pink, rose, green, violet and blue. sunny yellows.

Spring Sweaters Well-Knit Group

The trend in sweaters is in the direction of light-weight porous knits.

New spring-summer knit outerwear includes mesh-like knits of wool, wool blended with test-tube fibers, or of 100 per cent man-made fibers in designs that have less of the bulky look and yet are far from flat.

Of course, there are exceptions, such as the classic crew-neck shetland pull-overs preferred by college men and alumni who go all-out for the traditional natural-shoulder look. But, even some of those fellows can't resist the mohair knits in their sleeveless pullover and vest styles.

Cardigan models now button higher. Two-, three-and four-holers have given way to those with five and six buttons which, of course, may be worn buttoned as high or as low as your whim of the moment dictates.

Cotton Goes In For A Swim

Cotton bathing suits and beach wear for the resort season, 1961 are the "be all and end all" solution for everyone, reports the National Cotton Council. Take your pick, the variety is infinite.

The bikini is still most definitely wth us, ruffled, striped or printed — and appears with its matching cover-up of jacket, overblouse or shirt.

Star of the season, however, is the one piece maillot in cotton knit, generously bared at the back or sides, often suggesting a two-piece suit.

The one-piece "dressmaker" suit appears with draped or pleated skirts. Little boy shorts and short culottes are a vital part of the beach scene.

The cover-up story makes news with long cotton knit and terry sweaters that reveal only a tiny portion of the bathing suit; button front skirts that stop just above the kneecap; loose pullovers and softly belted jackets and tunics and capes that convert to skirts.

Debuting on the resort scene is the beachdress, which seems to be setting a trend. They've sprung up everywhere and nothing so gay and fresh has been seen in a long, long time. Sleeveless, and in vivid striped and printed cottons, they generally stop just above the knee in a petticoat or shift silhouette.

'SLIMAKER'—New Avisco rayon and acetate "Look of Lace" fully lined and in beautiful colors is being featured in the spring collection at the Marin Smart Shop in San Rafael. Sizes 12½ to 26½ and 14 to 20.

Junior Will Be Neater This Spring

Youngsters will like their new spring outfits because of the styling which gives them that grown-up look, and their parents will like the new clothes because of their built-in easy-care features and their durability-plus characteristics.

Does Junior want an olive tone, a gray, or a blue suit like Dad's or big brother's? This spring he can have one that virtually reproduces the big sizes in color, pattern and model. Even the adult versions of bold plaids and bright checks have been scaled-down to boy-sized patterns in suits and sports jackets.

There will be even more man-made fibers used in boys' wear than in men's garments this spring. As a result, Junior will be a neater lad because those fibers add durability to the garments. Another pleasing aspect of the science fibers is their ability to make fabrics with a luxury look and "hand" washable.

Wash-wear fabrics are now available in boys' sports jackets, suits, slacks, shorts, sports shirts, robes, pajamas and neckties. Many of these are of the "automatic wash-wear" types that can be machine washed and dryed — taken directly from the dryer and ready to wear again.

As far as models go, the young men of the house can have their pick of all the senior styles. There are classic natural-shoulder models, Trans-Americans with a modified Continental accent, and even a few interpretations of the new jackets with a British accent. Some have reversible matching vests.

Oxford button-down collar shirts like Big Brother's, broadcloths with modified spread collars like Dad's, long-sleeve and half-sleeve dress shirts, knit and cut-and-sewn sports shirts — all taking their fashion cue from grown-up versions are ready for the boys now.

Look for brighter and lighter colors in the sports shirts and more pull-over models.

Boys' spring outerwear includes a wide variety of blouse-type, finger-tip and knee-length coats. Many of these are wash-wears and all include new colors and new fashion features. Patterns in madras-like plaids, district checks, small checks and glen plaids are new this season.

For dress-up wear there are scaled-down topcoats in set-in sleeve, raglan and split-raglan styles that can be had in tweedy or smooth finished fabrics.

Boys' raincoats also follow the men's fashions in a wide array of models, fabrics and colors.

Milady's Leather Fashions Gain More Sophistication

Feminine elegance in silhouette, design and detailing dominates the newest in leather apparel this spring.

Lightweight leathers for milady mold into fashion's newest fluid lines for warm weather wear. Loose-fitting comfortable costumes which take advantage of leather's natural ability to "breathe" lend air conditioning to sports and evening wear. Leather separates such as jerkins, vests, bandstand skirts, culottes and clamdiggers — in both smooth and suede leathers have been added to this season's sport and casual costumes.

Neutral tones and clear colors make these new spring '61 "add-on" leathers fashion-right wardrobe builders because they blend with many different costumes and costume colors. The middy look jacket appears in several variations; some with sailor collars, while others are collarless with deep V-necklines.

Bolero jackets are casual and dressy costume dividends. Casual versions show bolero jackets teamed with matching suede pants or richly-jeweled smooth leather for evening wear with dresses. Loose fitting blouson tops with tie-string waists also win favor.

For daytime wear, twin trends in leather coats appear on the fashion scene. One—a long, smooth leather "foreign correspondent" coat has a tuxedo front and shawl collar with self-leather belt. Variations of this line are seen in pocket placement, stitch detailing and cuffs.

For women who favor a less-tailored look, there are wrap coats in varying lengths—many in nappy suedes that change tone as you brush them. Newest wrap coats boast trim—either in contrasting leather or fur.

Leather coats become more elaborate for evening with more fur evident on cuffs and collar. Lustre leathers are equally popular with the theater and dining-out crowds.

Leather colors go extreme from pales to brights. The chalk tones show off in beiges, off-whites, powdery lavenders, misty greens and mellow tans. Bright leathers on the town this spring are seen in vivid blue, bright yellows and mauves.

Offer Style

There's style choice in cotton knit shirts for little boys—pullovers, V and crew necks, fashioned collars and the poncho look, with a V front and back.

Take New Slant

Sleeveless tops for juniors take a new slant, with pennants in red, violet, blue embroidered on the diagonal.

Resort Showers? Cotton Flowers!

Naturally, any self-respecting resort Chamber of Commerce would shudder at the thought of a rain drop—but it could happen, reports the National Cotton Council.

Luckily, for all fashion conscious ladies, cotton rushes to the rescue. Never before has rainwear been such fun.

Gone, or at least relegated to a much lesser role is the good old reliable tan raincoat.

In 1961, cotton for the rain is sparkling, spanking new — incorporating the latest silhouettes . . . very pretty and very practical.

Something Different

To "something old, something new," add "something different" for the bride who chooses her wedding gown in an unusual fabric such as linen, and in a style that reflects the latest trends.

Sweater Variety

Summer sweaters in pullover and cardigan styles are winning more new friends and the assortment of spring outerwear styles staggers the imagination. They range from golf jackets to car coats.

Variety Of Suits

Suits are outstanding for their variety, offering jackets in every length from bolero to tunic, and skirts slim, pleated or softly gathered. Fit is usually easy and graceful.

Spring Showers Bring Variety Of Rainwear

Spring showers will foster a great big variety of new rainwear along with the customary display of floral splendor. Darks and lights, patterns and plains, casual and dressy styles —all will be called on for service during the sprinkly weeks ahead.

You simply can't call one raincoat style the most popular this year. The fellow wearing a pale putty shade probably has a black or a dark patterned coat — maybe both — in his closet at home or at the office.

Light and dark iridescents, medium tones, classic tans, glen plaids, checks, and, newest of all, madras-like plaids are all a part of the spring '61 rainwear fashion picture. The new madras-type plaids utilize the relatively large size designs in their more muted effects to render a completely different look in outercoats.

Model choices are aqually varied. The traditional raglan shoulder balmacaan is, of course, still the national favorite.

However, split-raglans that appear to have set-in sleeves at the front and raglan shoulders at the back, are also extremely popular.

A few dressier rainwear styles with set-in sleeves are being worn, too. Styles that take their cue from the Continent feature knee-lengths, fancy shoulder ideas, yoked fronts and backs, belts and fancy pocket treatments. Some of these are also trimmed with leather-like piping at the seams.

There is an inside style story to rainwear, also, in foulard-type prints in neat figures and stripes, and linings that are half of one shade and half of another.

Wash-wear constructions are increasing in acceptance with each passing season. Properly worked, the wash-wears lose none of their water resistance in the washing and, of course, require no pressing after they are dry. A word to the wise in handling wash-wears: make sure that all of the soap is rinsed out of the coat after washing. A soapy residue in the garment will act as a conductor to rain and impair the hydrophobic qualities of the cloth.

If you are one of the few men who still has not gotten himself an enveloped plastic coat to carry in the glove compartment of your car or business bag, you are missing a good bet. As you know, spring showers often come without warning.

Rough Or Smooth, Men Like Spring Sportcoats

Some like 'em rough and some like 'em smooth, some like 'em fancy and some like 'em plain. But, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, men like the new sports jackets and have really gone on a sportcoat binge.

Even for the experts, it is almost impossible to pin point the leading styles in sports jackets this spring. Take patterns, for instance. Big, bold and brassy — each has a large coterie of fans. Many men also go for the classic solid colors and subtle blends of colors, too.

Among the brightest and boldest are the multi-hued batik prints. These are made in featherweight wool challis and cottons. Some are even printed on wash-wear fabrics.

There are glen plaids, district checks, shepherd checks, houndstooth checks, giant checks and miniature checks. The colorings of those patterns are equally as varied.

Olive tones, earth tones, mustardy hues, grays and a brand new shade of blue are but some of the hot shades.

The new blue — "swabby blue" — is a derivative of a classic seafaring shade usually associated with faded blue denims. The new blue is woven in cottons, lightweight wools and blends.

Supplementing all the other current favorite models — including the classic natural-shoulder types, the modified Continentals, the California styles and the conservative cuts — is a new style stemming from the British. Just a trifle wider than the classic soft shoulder jacket, it still has natural lines with a bit of suppression at the waist and a little flair at the bottom of the back of the jacket. The English-type jacket carries deep side vents or a center vent.

Blazers this spring come in three basic types. First, of course, are the solid colored flannels, including navy blue, black, gray, olive, maroon and the beiges. Next come the hopsack and herringbone weaves, some solid but others in mixtures of two, three or more colors. Finally, there are the strongly defined striped blazers and the solids with blending or contrasting edgings.

All in all, there is a virtually endless variety of sports jackets and their frequent use calls for a good assortment in every wardrobe.

PATTERNED FABRICS WIN FAVOR IN MEN'S NEW SPRING SHIRTS

Patterned fabrics will make a real comeback in business shirts for spring 1961. British-type stripes, spaced stripes, small overplaids and checks will all make the grade in soft as well as strong tones of blue, gray, tan and red. Ivory and olive tones will please the wearers of Ivy-type clothes.

Short-sleeve shirts in all the popular collar styles will give added comfort to the businessman in the warm weather, especially those made of the ventilated fabrics.

Sports shirts in both cut-and-sewn and knit styles will be seen more frequently in the pullover models. Engineered designs with special cuffs get new treatments. Scarf prints, batiks, madras effects and stripes will be among the other patterns. Look for more deep solid shades for wear with boldly patterned jackets and slacks.

Pull-over sports shirts feature deep front plackets with three and four buttons. On some shirts, the placket practically reaches the belt-line of the slacks.

There's news, too, in neck styling. High V-necks, boat-necks, cross-over necks, and many with fancy colorful designs, give sports shirts a sportier, more American connotation.

Sport shirt sleeves have lots of fashion interest. Whereas the short sleeve was outstanding in seasons past, for this spring and summer the less conventional three-quarter sleeve is the favored length. Stylists of knit shirts have embellished sleeves with vents, slits and two-button cuff treatments.

Pockets, too, are not what they used to be. Now they are oversized and noted for detailing. They appear at the bottom of the shirt and on the sleeve as well as in conventional places.

Horizontal Silhouette Sets Handbag Style

Fashion arithmetic dictates that the height of the hemline will set the width of the handbag this spring. And as fashion's hemlines are widely varied, leather handbag shapes are more varied than they have been for many years—say fashion authoritites.

Harmonizing with knee-length hems are broader "horizontal" bags in smooth, grained, antiqued and suede leathers. These new "wide" bags depend on the soft sheen of their leathers to dramatize their simple lines. For dresses, skirts and coats which drop below the knee, the fashion-wise will carry long vertical envelopes of firm, antiqued calf or an oversized pouchy satchel of suede leather.

New-looking is a spacious half-circle of grained leather that's at its handsomest when teamed with tailored fashions. Supple leather bags with a 1961 look take on detail interest with belting, shirred effects and horseshoe-shaped padded handles.

Calf, kid and suede leather in bone, taupe, green and amber merge with spring's softly understated fashions. Alligator and reptile in vivid colors—turquoise and shocking pink—contrast with pastel plaids and grey menswear flannels.

In spectator bags, white is an important color this season. Large shapes in white are interpreted in ostrich, calf and cabretta leathers.

For evening, fashion cues a tiny clutch of suede leather or a little envelop bag in lustered or pearlized leather. Jeweled locks and gold chains adorn many evening bags, particularly on white leathers.

For day as well as evening, handbag hues range from whites to chalked pastels, hot pastels to deep, warm hues as well as intense blacks.

In spectator bags, white is an important color this season. Large shapes in white are interpreted in ostrich, calf and cabretta leathers.

For evening, fashion cues a tiny clutch of suede leather or a little envelop bag in lustered or pearlized leather. Jeweled locks and gold chains adorn many evening bags, particularly on white leathers.

For day as well as evening, handbag hues range from whites to chalked pastels, hot pastels to deep, warm hues as well as intense blacks.
